CHILDREN OF STUDIOS TO BE HONORED

Special Promotion Exercises Will be Observed for Tots Employed in Pictures

More than fifty school children employed in the motion-picture industry during the last year, and approximately more from the various welfare centers about the city, will be honored this morning at 9 o'clock by special promotion exercises to be staged at the Fairfax Time High School, Sixteenth and Hill streets, under the auspices of the welfare department of the Board of Education.

These children, according to Raymond B. Dunlap, director of the welfare department, attained special recognition during the year in their scholastic work and despite additional work, yet worked under more handicaps that the ordinary school child.

Honoring of these film children also marks a significant epoch in the motion-picture industry, according to Fred H. Beetson, executive secretary of the Associated Motion-Picture Producers, and personal representative of Will Hays. Beetson, with Dunlap, at the start of the last school year evolved the plan whereby school children under 18 years of age working in the pictures could be taught on the lots of the various studios in conjunction with their film activity.

"This June we witnessed the fruition of our plan," Beetson said yesterday. "Out of 647 boys and girls engaged in motion-picture work during the year only twenty-seven of them failed to keep up with their studies and of this number nine did not have permits to work in pictures."

Beetson said that plans for the next school year call for teachers at practically every studio of importance where children are used frequently and many of the studios will have special schools.

ALICE JOYCE ARRIVES TO START NEW FILM

Alice Joyce arrived from New York yesterday to start work upon her role of Helen Morrison in Henry King's "Stella Dallas" for Samuel Goldwyn productions. Miss Joyce expressed pleasure at the prospect of again working here, declaring the heat unbearable in the East. She will join the Henry King unit immediately upon her return from location at Del Monte. Others in the cast of "Stella Dallas" are Ronald Colman, Belle Bennett, Lois Moran, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Jean Hersholt and Vera Lewis.

VAIN SELF-DENIAL

A bishop was eating dinner with his host before the afternoon service at which he was to speak. He ate little or nothing, explaining that it was not good for a preacher to eat heavily before a sermon. The housewife could not attend the service, as she had to stay at home and prepare supper. When her husband came home, she said, "Well, how was he?" The husband, drawing a sigh, replied, "he might as well of 'et."—[Christian Evangelist.

Caillaux Submits Fiscal Reform Projects to Parliament

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, June 27.—The Chamber of Deputies adopted the financial proposals of Finance Minister Caillaux this morning. It passed Article Two, increasing the paper circulation by six billion francs by a vote of 328 to 119.

BY HENRY WALES

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, June 26.—France took the first step toward returning to a gold basis this afternoon when Finance Minister Caillaux submitted his fiscal reform projects to Parliament.

The scheme provides for additional inflation of paper currency by $270,000,000 carrying a total of $2,296,000,000, secured by $700,000,000 in the treasury.

The plan provides for renewing the expiring national defense bonds, which have depreciated to about half the face value, by a gold loan based on the franc's dollar value when they were issued, carrying 4 per cent interest.

Adoption of the proposal is expected to result in the entire flotation of nearly $9,000,000,000 in short term national defense bonds eventually being retired and substituted by new gold bonds at par value of less than $2,250,000,000 also affording enormous savings in interest which the government is now forced to pay out.

TO OVERCOME DEPRESSION

Thus, with the internal debt consolidated, M. Caillaux hopes to have his hands free to tackle the foreign debt to the United States and Great Britain, at the same time pressing France's credit here, Italy, the little entente, and other small countries for reimbursement.

The additional $270,000,000 fiduciary flotation coming on top of the April increase of $150,000,000, it is feared, will cause a further weakening of the franc, but the finance minister hoped to overcome the depression by timing the publication of the scheme until after the bourse had closed until Monday morning.

The government intends to force the issue to a crisis by demanding a vote in the Chamber of Deputies and Senate, even if it is Sunday and a night session is required to complete the debate before the

FARMERS IN OREGON PRAISED BY JARDINE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

EUGENE (Or.) June 26. — Lane county received congratulations from Secretary of Agriculture Jardine this morning for having the greatest number of successful farmers' co-operative enterprises in Oregon. He spoke at a one-hour session with leading farmers and business men of Eugene.

"Keep up the good work," the Secretary said. "Co-operative marketing is the only way the farmer can put his business on a profitable basis and hold it. I've been making a study of co-operative work in California and have found the reason they are successful there is because they've used business methods. I don't know of any big business today that is being conducted any more successfully than that of California agriculture.

Terrifying Tale of Flaming Lava and Earthquake Near Calexico Traced to Beer Hall Talk

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CALEXICO, June 26.—Calexico residents were first startled and later amused when a flood of inquiries began pouring in over telephone and telegraph lines this afternoon, asking for detailed information regarding a mysterious volcanic eruption and earthquake reported to have occured somewhere on the Lower California Peninsula south of Mexicali.

Traced to its source, it was learned that the report was first given publicity in this mornings issue of Hispano Americano, a Spanish daily published at San Diego. This newspaper carried a terrifying story of devastation caused by a flood of molten lava that was reported to be pouring from a crater in the Los Pintos range and threatening the lives and property of thousands of ranchers in this vicinity.

A Calexico newspaper correspondent, seeking the source of the story, learned that it originated in a Mexicali beer hall where two truck drivers, operating between this city and the port of Labomba on the Gulf of California, were overheard describing a peculiar shaped cloud that appeared on the horizon during their last trip to the gulf on Wednesday. The drivers admitted later that they were not certain whether it was a cloud or smoke from a prospector's fire that they had seen. In any case it had disappeared a few hours later when they passed the same spot. Through what source the incident became transformed into a thrilling volcano eruption is not known, but considerable credence must have been given the story, judging from the long-distance inquiries received here this afternoon.

One variation of the story as it was published to the outside world was that an earthquake had taken place. The Calexico office of the Southern Sierras Power Company received a long-distance call from the main office at Riverside asking if any damage had been done to the local lines. They were assured that Calexico was enjoying a normal summer afternoon with the thermometer at 106 deg. in the shade and with neither volcano nor earthquake to disturb the tranquility.

Tokio Workers Mutiny Against Alien Foremen

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TOKIO, June 26. — While the details have been suppressed, it is reported that a workers' revolt took place at the Nippon Open Works in a Tokio suburb against American supervision. Recently two American efficiency experts were installed at the plant to arrange new methods. The men mutinied against foreign overseership, threatening personal injuries and a strike. A report is current in Japanese circles that agitation has been launched to demand the return to America of all American engineers, foremen and superintendents now employed in Japanese shops and enterprises.

Logger Burns to Death When He Returns to Fire Area in Hunt for Refugees

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) June 26.—Trapped by a forest fire when inadvertently left ashore by the captain of a ship carrying refugees from the fire zone, Oliver G. Clark, logging camp foreman of Prince Rupert, was burned to death there this afternoon.

Clark gave his life for the refugees. When the fire which he had been fighting menaced the camp, he supervised the flight of the endangered folks. After all had boarded the ship he returned to the camp to see that everyone had been warned.

The ship sped off and Clark's absence was not noted for some time. When the vessel put back to the shore his charred body was found.

FIRE DRAFT MINUS PAY IS UPHELD

Atty.-Gen. Webb Rules Men Must Serve With or Without Wage

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, June 26. — Atty.-Gen. Webb, in an opinion received here today, ruled that the State has a right under the law to summon all able-bodied male residents with or without pay to assist the authorities in suppressing forest fires, as well as in the protection of life, should the emergency require.

In other words, every able-bodied male within the boundaries of the State is a potential fire fighter and subject to draft should occasion demand.

While it is the policy of the State to pay for such services when funds are available, the lack of funds, the opinion explains, would not militate against the right of the proper authorities to summon able-bodied males.

DEBT MOVE IS BALKED

Coolidge Attacks Foreign Scheme

President Squelches Plan to Lower Tariff So Europe Can Pay

British Finance Leader's Proposal is Given Cool Reception

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SWAMPSCOTT (Mass.) June 26. Efforts on the part of debtor governments to force the United States either to cancel its war debt or indirectly to pay Germany's reparation payments by lowering the tariff wall and curtailing production in the United States were emphatically squelched by President Coolidge today.

His principal attack was directed toward statements made last Monday in Brussels by Sir Joshua Stamp, British financial authority and one of the English members of the Dawes Reparations Commission. Sir Joshua in his speech declared that, unless Germany could sell her products she could not comply with the Dawes plan and in consequence, the foreign debtors of the United States would be unable to pay that country. As a remedy he proposed that the United States lower the tariff and thus curtail production so that Germany could sell her products in this country.

PRESIDENT'S OPINION

It is President Coolidge's opinion, gained from a reading of press reports and editorials, that this suggestion of Sir Joshua's is simply another effort on the part of Europeans to provide some method by which the reparations which Germany is required to pay to the Allies, might be collected from the people of the United States.

According to the official spokesman, the President does not believe that the American people would take kindly to any plan which would force them to pay the reparations, even if it were done indirectly. The President feels, the spokesman said, that there has been too many left-handed methods advanced in Europe, all of which have as their main object the forcing of the United States to pay the reparations by some means or other or to cancel her war debts.

The spokesman pointed out that President Coolidge realizes that condition which the world is in at present, and fully understands that the United States must bear its share of the general suffering and inconvenience growing out of the war. At the same time it was said the President feels that any plan which would make us pay the reparations or cancel the war debts would be certainly opposed by the citizens of the country.

In connection with the proposal to revise the tariff downward, the President is represented as being very proud of the great gains in American commerce since the war and it is known that he has been recently advised that the most recent figures in this connection show that importations to this country are 50 per cent greater than they were before the war.

VISITED BY DAWES

President Coolidge's present attitude on reparations developed at White Court almost immediately in advance of a flying visit made by Vice-President Dawes, who dropped off for a half-hour's chat while motoring from Kennebunk, Me., to Boston, where he spent the evening with Owen D. Young, his associate on the reparations commission.

The President and Vice-President after exchanging greetings in the White Court reception room strolled about the first floor of the twenty-six-room mansion and then wandered out to the garden, where the President proudly pointed out the various objects of beauty and assured the Vice-President that the Executive is thoroughly happy in the summer White House.

Mexico's Archeological Discoveries Are Rifled by Curio Dealers, Says Report

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, June 26.—The government has ordered a rigid investigation into the report by the Carnegie Institute that a great part of Mexico's archeological treasures either have been stolen or destroyed by vandals and unscrupulous curio seekers.

In its report, the institute charged that the monument of antiquity throughout Mexico have have been allowed to deteriorate after their discovery and that these monuments, often invaluable as sources of scientific and archeological research, have been rifled and entire sections stolen and sold by curio venders.

Many of the discoveries, the report charged, have been left exposed without guards and have been destroyed by the weather.

Virtually all of Mexico's archeological discoveries have been made by foreigners, the Mexicans themselves not showing any interest in this work. The investigation into the charges by the institute will be made by the Ministry of Education.

The institute is carrying on archeological explorations on a large scale among the Chichen Itza ruins of the Malay civilization in Yucatan, having uncovered some invaluable remains of the old civilization.

Mexico's President Sees Hope of Redeeming Lower Classes in Schools

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, June 26.—Upon the eve of President Calles's departure for the State of Durango, where he is to preside at the opening of a new agricultural school, the Ministry of Education today issued a statement in which President Calles is quoted as declaring that the only way to "redeem, liberate and emancipate" the lower classes and Indians is through the schools.

The statement adds that President Calles's goal is the establishment of a total of 5000 schools throughout the nation, particularly in the more isolated sections. The number of schools in the country, it was pointed out, already has been increased through the efforts of the President to 7290 from a total of 1300 at the end of 1924.

The daily average attendance at these schools is placed at 103,500. The government has been presented with more than 1000 buildings by various communities on condition that these buildings be converted into schools.

Dr. Lane's announcement followed receipt of an invitation from the Scopes defense attorneys received by wire.

SHEPHERD IS ACQUITTED

Accused is Freed From Jail

Jury Returns Verdict After Deliberating Less Than Six Hours

Chicagoan Still is Facing Charge of Murdering Mrs. McClintock

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, June 26.—William Darling Shepherd tonight was acquitted of the murder of his foster-son, William Nelson McClintock.

The jury deliberated five hours and forty minutes. Its members would not divulge the number of ballots taken, nor the methods by which they reached final agreement. They said that they had taken a collective oath not to reveal the record of the balloting.

Shepherd was released from jail at 10:45 p.m., after he signed his own bond in the case in which he is accused of slaying Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, mother of the boy for whose asserted murder he was just tried.

At the same time, the Coroner's jury recommended he be held for the murder of Billy McClintock, it directed that he be held for the murder also of Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, Billy's mother, seventeen years ago.

It is that charge which still hangs over his head, although tonight it was not believed by Shepherd's attorneys that he ever would be brought to trial. Shepherd's face was wreathed in smiles as he heard the verdict and he leaped forward to thank the jury.

His wife, Mrs. Julie Shepherd, was not in the courtroom. She waited with friends at a downtown hotel for the verdict. At Shepherd's side when the verdict was read were his brother, J. Henry Shepherd of Little Rock, Ark., and his former law partner, Robert Stoll. Despite stern admonition, the crowd rent the air with cheers and were not stilled immediately by threats.

JURORS THANK JUDGE

He read a note of thanks the jurors had written to Judge Lynch expressing appreciation for consideration and courtesy and the orderly conduct of the trial.

The judge from his dais returned the jurors' expressions of good will, thanked them and released them until tomorrow morning, when they can get the pay due them for their long service.

Meanwhile, Shepherd and his attorneys, William Scott Stewart and W. W. O'Brien, were waiting at the end of the jury box for a triumphal procession of handshaking and thanking down its length.

There was not a juror but who returned smile for smile and handclasp for handclasp and none of the bitterness which sounded in debating voices, shortly after the jury retired, was evidenced.

VOICES IN JURY-ROOM

A number of times, the words, "Judge Olson" were heard.

It was Judge Harry Olson, chief justice of the Municipal Court, who forced investigation of the death of Billy McClintock and

Japanese Foreign Minister Awaits Cabinet Action; Manila Not in Danger of Outbreak

BY RODERICK MATHESON

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TOKIO, June 26.—Baron Shidehara, Foreign Minister and head of the Asiatic bureau, discussed the Chinese demands for the abolition of extraterritoriality today, but has arrived at no definite decision, as this must await consideration of the full Cabinet.

A consular report from Hongkong, filed last night, states that more than 100 Chinese were killed in yesterday's battle at Canton. Three Japanese were wounded, one seriously. Two destroyers were detached from the Pescadores base yesterday, one for Canton and one for Amoy. Only the consular staff remains ashore at Shameen, the foreign settlement of Canton. Direct communication has been cut off.

"The Japanese are reserving the right to indemnity for loss of Japanese life and property, although they do not desire to punish the Chinese," a Foreign Office aide said today.

DOUBT TROUBLE WILL REACH TO MANILA

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MANILA, June 26.—The police and constabulary state there is little likelihood of the Chinese trouble spreading to Manila, with the exception of water-front strikes, despite the large Chinese population here, as the local Chinese are almost all of the merchant class, with few laborers or students.

Student delegates from China now here endeavoring to raise funds for the Hongkong and Canton Chinese also are urging trouble here, but their attempts apparently are meeting with little success, although some contributions have been sent to Canton and Amoy.

Vessels from Hongkong are bringing American residents of Canton and Hongkong, who plan to remain here until the situation eases.

SAYS SITUATION IN CHINA IS GRAVE

The foreign situation at Shanghai is serious and presages serious international complications, according to G. W. DeNormand, flying soldier of fortune who arrived at the harbor yesterday aboard the liner H. F. Alexander after two years of hazardous adventures in China.

Mr. DeNormand, who far eighteen months was an aviation instructor to officers of Chang-Tso-Lin's army, flew over the enemy's lines during the battle of Shan-Hai-Kwan, made a forced landing within the hostile lines and made his way back to safety.

Determined to return to America, two months ago he left North China for Shanghai and entered the Yangtze metropolis at the outbreak of the racial trouble.

"I spent four days there during the height of all the scrapping, enough time for me to realize the seriousness, the grave portent of the early uprising.

"I can truthfully picture conditions as terrible," he continued, "and, while the government at present has the situation under control, I doubt very much that the authorities will be able to keep those Reds in check much longer."

Mr. DeNormand, who has had a fighting career that has carried him into every part of the world, plans to make his home in Southern California.

Officers Are Re-elected and Charleston Named

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE, June 26.—Charleston, S. C., was chosen for the next meeting place as the twelfth annual convention of the National Foreign Trade Council adjourned here today. James Farrell, president; Robert H. Patchin, treasurer, and Oscar King Davis, secretary, were re-elected.

Shipping, especially with reference to lumber and grain, prime products of the Pacific Northwest, received extensive discussion in the closing session today.

Admiral Leigh C. Palmer, president of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, in whose hands, at the instance of President Coolidge, negotiations for sale of government vessels were placed, raised questions on which the convention general committee was expected to announce opinions of the council.

"To summarize," Admiral Palmer continued, "our country faces three alternatives in respect to the merchant marine in foreign trade: First, continued government operation costing ultimately around $40,000,000 a year; second, government aid to private shipping amounting to about $15,000,000 a year; or third, the gradual but certain disappearance of our flag from the international trade routes and a return to our prewar conditions when less than 10 per cent of our foreign commerce was carried in American vessels."

Admiral Palmer discussed a possible program for dealing with our shipping problem. So far as the government-owned fleet is concerned the program should, he believed, include the following:

(a) An aggressive and well-thought-out plan to transfer the government fleet to private ownership on terms that protect the government interests and at the same time give the buyer an opportunity for profit that will insure his continuance indefinitely in the trade.

(b) Continuance of the operation of government lines on such of the trade routes as are considered economically essential to the national interests and which cannot be disposed of to private operators.

(c) Continued improvement of these lines until they show the best economic results obtainable under government operating conditions, thereby reducing the present operating loss by half.

(d) On the most heavily losing routes, the maintenance of only such services as may suffice to hold a position in the trade and to conserve our national trade interests; but, on the more promising routes, an expansion of the services to meet the demands and prospects of the national trade.

(e) Where sales are impossible, the charter of the lines to private responsible operators, if practicable, on terms that will be advantageous to the government and that will give the operator an opportunity to become eventually an owner.

Frank L. Schull, flour-mill operator of Portland, Or., speaking for grain growers and manufacturers of the Pacific Northwest, declared for a subsidy to build up the American merchant marine under private ownership.

J. H. Bloedel, Seattle lumber man, reported that "the Panama Canal has brought low rates and opened up a very large territory on the Atlantic seaboard for lumber from the Pacific Northwest."

Carey W. Cook, San Francisco ship operator, discussed the American merchant marine, and Father E. J. Walsh of Georgetown University, "World Trade."

Raphael M. Semmes, Seattle, said: "We of the Northwest have a common interest in promoting enactment of a shipping law that will take the government out of the shipping business and encourage investment in ships under American ownership and operated under American law."

NEW MARK SET BY COAST HEAT

RECORD SMASHED

Heat records for June that have stood for forty-four years were broken in Spokane when the official Weather Bureau thermometer climbed to 100.3 deg. This marks the hottest June day on record there since the local Weather Bureau was established.

Carsten D. Reimers of Willows, Cal., was overcome by heat yesterday afternoon in a harvest field and died at his home a few hours later.

HUMIDITY FELT WITH SOUTHLAND HEAT

Hot weather made more noticeable by slightly increased dampness, prevailed in and around Los Angeles yesterday and today's prospects were considered no better last night. An eight-year heat record was broken at Pasadena and shifting winds on the Mohave Desert were blamed by Mt. Wilson Observatory.

Inland the weather was still hotter and showers occurred in some places, occasionally accompanied by thunder and some lightning. Lightning started a brush fire in the mountains, but the fire was extinguished before much damage resulted. The forest fire that began Thursday was put out with the help of rain.

In Los Angeles the maximum temperature was 88 deg. at 11:30 a.m., at the United States Weather Bureau at Main and Sixth streets. The wind was light and added comfort, but the Weather Bureau reported more humidity than usually goes with that temperature. Clouds tempered the afternoon sunshine and the thermometer dropped to 81 before 4 o'clock and then continued its downward movement. At noon the air showed 49 per cent moisture, almost half-way to the saturation or raining point.

PASADENA REACHES 102

Pasadena's heat reached the 102-deg. mark, the hottest since eight years ago, when the 113-mark was reached. A peculiarity occurred Thursday night when the maximum of that period occurred at 10:30 p.m., and was 97 deg., due to winds from the desert crossing the mountains and sweeping down on the valley. Yesterday afternoon clouds threatened a repetition of Thursday's thundershower and high wind. The hottest day of the season was reported in the upper San Fernando Valley. It was 101 at Van Nuys, which experienced 97 deg., the day before.

Pomona enjoyed a five-minute thunder shower about 3 o'clock. The temperature there was 104 at noon. Riverside sweltered under a temperature of 110 and a hot shower of rain in the afternoon with some thunder. San Bernardino reported 104 deg., and a shower. It rained there also Thursday night.

CHICKENS DIE

At Porterville the mercury dropped yesterday to 109 from a maximum of 110 the day before. It was the third day of excessive heat. The minimum Thursday night was 76 an increase of 2 deg. over the night before. Chickens are reported to have left their roosts in the night and wandered about seeking relief. Some died. Irrigation pumps are busy and there are nightly exoduses of people to streams in the evening.

El Centro reported 107 deg. at noon. Unofficial thermometers registered as high as 112, but they were near street pavement.

RAIN COOLS REDLANDS

Redlands got considerable relief from the heat by a rain which yielded a measurable amount of water. The maximum temperature of the day was 103, but dropped 15 deg. after the rain. The rain added .03 of an inch of water to the season's total of 9.88 inches. Last year's season's total was 11.18 inches.

Fresno reported 109 deg., with the heat apparently increasing. At Hanford, north of Fresno in the San Joaquin Valley, 106 deg. marked the hottest day of the season. The valley thereabouts has been steaming for a week, and Wednesday night a violent windstorm blew down trees and branches in Hanford. Residences were filled with dust, farmers shut down windmills and took other safety measures against the wind, which was of almost tornado velocity.

VENTURA COOL

Ventura was cool, only 75 deg. being the maximum and the day was one of the pleasantest of the summer. Orange reported cool and cloudy weather. A high fog rode over San Diego with the temperature at a maximum of 76, and a cool breeze blowing.

The fire started yesterday by lightning was near the ridge between Mt. Islit and Mt. Williamson, and near the south fork of Big Rock Creek. It burned over about three acres, according to a report. County forester trail-makers were near by at the time, and thirty of the turned to fighting the fire, which was among brush. Patrolmen Theodore Freeman and William Frownfelter of Newhall, directed the fight, and within a few hours had the fire under control. It began near their camp. It is one of the few instances where lightning actually started a fire in the mountains. The fire was on the desert side of the mountains back of Pasadena. The United States Forestry Service in Pasadena sent twenty men to the rescue.

The fire in Sheep Creek country, about two miles from the Los Angeles playground at Big Pine, which during Thursday burned over an area of several thousand acres, was smouldering in isolated points yesterday, and was considered to have been brought under definite control. The country was visited by an electrical and rain storm during Thursday night, and the rain was credited with having done much toward smothering the fire. A large number of men under the orders of Federal foresters were engaged in watching the fire.

HEAT SETS OFF PASADENA FIRE ALARM BOXES

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, June 26.—A sudden rise in temperature in Pasadena today set off two automatic fire alarm boxes in the city and sent several companies of firemen to the Pasadena Furniture Company and the F. W. Mather department store.

The automatic alarm boxes are regulated to sound an alarm when the temperature rises at a rate of twenty degrees a minute. The metal in the electric fuse was melted and the signal of fire given.

Employees in both stores were unaware that the alarm had been sent in until the fire engines arrived. As the two buildings are located in the heart of the business district five fire engines answered the call.

Pasadena's temperature rose to a new height today and broke all records for the past eight years. The highest mark recorded was 102 degrees. It is the third warmest day since weather marks were first recorded.

CROWDS GO TO BEACH TO AVOID HEAT

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, June 26.—While other sections of Southern California were sweltering in the heat today, crowds flocked to the comparatively cool bathing beaches of Long Beach, where the highest temperature was 86 deg. at 2 o'clock this afternoon. A slight breeze along the ocean front, summer attire and bathing suits made of the otherwise hot day a season of comfort.

Today's temperature, the highest of the year, was equalled once before this year, when on April 15 the thermometer registered the same figure. Long Beach has had hotter days in the past four years, a search of the Weather Bureau records reveal.

On September 17, 1922, the thermometer reached 103 deg. The hottest day in 1923 was May 9, with a reading of 96 deg. Last year's hottest day was September 29, with a maximum temperature of 94 deg.

Ex-Policeman Shot in Jaw by Officer in Attempt to Evade Handcuffs

After gunplay in which an ex-policeman, asserted to be a bandit, was brought down by a bullet which crashed through his jawbone and tore out both tonsils, detectives last night captured two men who, according to police, are the bandits that on Wednesday robbed four Dallas (Tex.) women of $4000 cash and jewelry at 759 North Vine street and perpetrated other robberies.

The captured men are David L. Snyder, who was discharged from the police force a year ago after an affair with a woman, and Gordon McKay. They are held on a suspicion of robbery charge. Both men, the detectives said, have been arrested before on grand larceny charges and are the men who attempted to rob Proprietor Long in an apartment house, 419 South Catalina street, Thursday and who robbed Mrs. Camille Halliday, 405 South Burlington avenue, last week of $360 cash and jewelry.

Detective-Lieutenants Curtis and Wallis were attempting to arrest Snyder and McKay last night at Fourth and Fremont streets when Snyder reached for a gun carried strapped to his belt while Curtis was attempting to handcuff him. Curtis cried warning to Snyder not to draw and was responded to with an oath and quickening of his movements to draw. Curtis beat him to the draw and sent a bullet crashing into the ex-policeman's jaw.

the subsequent indictment of Shepherd.

During the trial Judge Olson expressed keen disapproval of the efforts of the State's Attorney.

As Shepherd was released he was met by another crowd and more flashlights. Grinning broadly and accompanied by Attorney Stewart, he was hurried through the crowd into a waiting automobile and whisked away to meet his wife.

Words welled from Stewart and O'Brien, the defense attorneys, however.

"It is a vindication of the jury system," said Stewart. "It proved that twelve fair-minded men can be picked from at large and return a just verdict based on evidence adduced for their ears."

Chief Justice Olson, of the Municipal Court of Chicago, who sponsored the inquiry which led to the trial of Shepherd, expressed disappointment over the verdict, but declined to discuss future plans in connection with the McClintock will.

"This case is still pending, despite the verdict," he said.

"We have followed the trial closely and are certain that a great deal of admissable evidence was not offered by the State.

"Prosecutor Crowe did not cooperate with me.

"It is not to be expected that a man will be convicted of murder unless evidence of murder is presented against him.

"I may have something to say about the case some time before a Bar Association convention, but I do not wish to comment further tonight."

Romancing at Sea Leads to Quick Wedding

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN DIEGO, June 26.—Albert Wangner, 23 years of age, of Paterson, N. J., and Miss Ellen Vaysey, 20, of White Plains, N. Y., were married here today within a few minutes after the liner Mongolia, on which they came from New York, tied up at the pier.

They met, fellow passengers said, when the steamship was passing the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor and soon decided that they would like to be married. They went to Capt. N. A. Candy of the Mongolia and asked him to tie the knot, but he declined, because Miss Vaysey was not 21 years of age. So the couple waited until they arrived here.

Superior Judge Andrews performed the ceremony. They told him they intend to live at San Gabriel. They left on the Mongolia this evening.

GREAT AUTO FIRMS MERGE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, June 26.—A merger of interests of the General Motors Corporation and Yellow Cab Manufacturing Company is expected to be announced next week. Both in Chicago and Detroit officials and bankers of both companies were engaged today in working out details.

John Hertz, head of the Yellow company, and Edward N. D'Ancona, attorney for the companies, were in Detroit conducting the negotiations with the General Motors officials. In Chicago, representatives of the Goldman-Sachs and Lehmann banking interests of New York, which a year ago bought a large stock interest in the Yellow Manufacturing Company were reported in conference with other officials of the Yellow companies.

SEEK NEW OUTLET

The basis for the deal, which would be one of the largest consolidations in the recent history of the automobile industry, is said to be the desire of the General Motors Corporation to enter the motor-bus and taxicab manufacturing field. The corporation now has no bus and cab division, while its principal competitors, including the Studebaker Corporation, are already in the field or about to enter it.

The Yellow Cab Manufacturing Company has largely covered the experimental phase of bus and cab manufacture. It also has developed a steady outlet for its products through its community of interests with taxi and motor-bus services in a number of cities in the United States as well as the establishment of foreign agencies. A merger with General Motors would be mutually advantageous, giving the corporation a going bus and cab division and also affording wider and more economical distribution for busses and cabs throughout the General Motors agencies.

$60,000,000 DEAL

While the terms of the merger have not been finally agreed on, it was reported that it will be a $60,000,000 deal. In the stock market today Yellow manufacturing shares sold around $46 on which basis the 600,000 shares would represent around $27,500,000. It was reported, however, that the deal will include a purchase by the General Motors Corporation of a part interest in the other Yellow enterprises with an idea of assuring an outlet for cabs and busses.

General Motors common stock sold above $83 today. The respective market prices of the stocks gave rise to rumors that General Motors would give one share of its stock for somewhere between one and one-half and two shares of Yellow manufacturing.

SHOOTING VICTIM VANISHES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, June 26.—Mystery that may veil an attempted robbery or possibly a murder with revenge as its motive surrounds the finding of a wounded man near Temecula bridge early this morning, and the strange disappearance of the man soon afterward while an attending surgeon was absent seeking aid.

All Riverside and San Diego county hospitals, as well as private physicians and surgeons, have been asked by the Sheriff's office here to watch for a man with one arm practically shot away at the shoulder and to hold any companions who may be with him.

DOCTOR MYSTIFIED

Dr. H. L. Parker of Oceanside, was aroused this morning by a man and woman who directed the surgeon to a spot near the Temecula bridge where they stated they had seen an injured man lying beside the highway. Although mystified by the couple's motive in driving more than fifty miles to his home when nearer aid could have been summoned, Dr. Parker made the long drive to the spot indicated. Lying a short distance from the bridge south of Temecula the surgeon found a man unconscious and with his left arm almost severed at the shoulder from a gunshot wound.

Dr. Parker carried the man to a small pumphouse near the highway. There he regained consciousness long enough to give the name of L. Bracho, but was unable to give any account of how his injury had been received. The physician, after binding up the wound and administering a stimulant, drove to Temecula to obtain aid.

VICTIM DISAPPEARS

When the doctor and others returned to the pumphouse, Bracho had vanished; blood on the floor had been carefully covered with dirt, and automobile tracks showed plainly where a car had backed up to the front of the shack and had departed in the direction of San Diego.

Search by officers of Riverside and San Diego counties throughout today has failed utterly to find any trace of the wounded man.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, June 26.—Cecil B. De Mille wanted some unshorn sheep for a motion-picture production for which sheep without wool would not do, so he told an assistant to go out and get the sheep—just like that.

De Mille got his sheep, but at a price four times their worth after his agent had searched the ranges of Imperial Valley, Kern county, the High Sierras, the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys.

Eventually the assistant discovered thirty woolies near Sonora, but tempting offers failed to induce their owner to part with them. New bids followed old until the price reached $1200 and the deal was consummated.

The stock man was happy, he had driven a profitable bargain; the assistant was happy, he had done what his boss ordered; the natives are happy over the fact that a farmer got the best of a man from Hollywood, but the assistant says, "Never again. Whales would have been easier to get."

Reporter Finds Shanghai in State of Siege

Decoration Day Disturbance Caused by Killing

Following is the first of a series of three articles on the Chinese situation written by Alfred E. Pieres, The Times' Tokio correspondent, after a personal survey. The next will appear in an early issue.—Editor.

BY ALFRED E. PIERES

[SPECIAL FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE]

SHANGHAI, June 4. — As the result of alarming news received in Japan with regard to the sudden outburst of temper on the part of the Chinese in Shanghai, necessitating a state of emergency being declared in the international settlement and martial law being there proclaimed, I decided to investigate things for myself and left Tokio immediately for Shanghai. The journey, from Nagasaki, was made on the fast express boats that are run between Nagasaki and Shanghai by the Nippon Yusen Kaisha and which do the distance in thirty-six hours.

I found Shanghai in a state of siege. All foreign civilians appeared to be armed. Those that were yet going to their offices wore khaki and carried arms; even civilians who did not don khaki had either a revolver or a rifle. An air of tenseness hung over the otherwise gay and lively port city. The Chinese were conspicuous by their absence. I saw so few of them, the police, excepted, that it seemed as though the Chinese population had abandoned the International settlement.

KILLING STARTS TROUBLE

The immediate cause of the trouble was that a Chinese operative had been shot dead by a Japanese cotton-mill overseer. The students staged a demonstration, but several of them were arrested by the settlement police. The Settlement police are chiefly British—English and East Indian. Other students sought the release of those incarcerated in police cells, maintaining that the police had no right to detain them, but that they should be committed for trial if any offense had been committed. The request met with a prompt refusal. The Students' Union, thereupon, asked the Chinese press to take the matter up. The Chinese press replied that, to do so, would mean the passage of perhaps more stringent by-laws, further muzzling freedom of the press. At any rate, they were afraid to give publicity to the purpose. The students thereupon proceeded to stage demonstrations. "We decided to get arrested," one of the students told me. "Then we would have to be tried and the newspapers would have to report the trial and thus our ends would be gained. The public would become acquainted with the facts. We chose the foreign concessions because that would be the best place to secure the attention of the world."

Thousands of students proceeded to the British concession, carrying banners on which were inscribed: "Down with Imperialism," "Let's Have Justice," "Death is Better Than Tyranny," "Japan and England Seek China's Ruin" and similar heady inscriptions.

There was a great deal of oratory and the students, now reinforced by workers, made for the Louza Police Station. Here, they made further demonstrations and orations. A troop of police, under the command of an English inspector, ordered them to disperse. They refused. A volley was fired over the heads of the croud. Those in front merely laughed and taunted the police with: "Can't you shoot straight? Why don't you hit us?" The crowd was then warned that there would be some straight firing shortly. No heed was paid. The British officer stepped aside and gave the order to fire. Forty-four shots were poured into the crowd. Nine students were killed and twenty-eight wounded. Ten seconds elapsed between the threat to fire and the actual firing, it was revealed at a subsequent court inquiry. This happened on Saturday, May 30, Decoration Day.

SMOULDERING FIRE

This shedding of blood let loose the smouldering fires of discontent that have existed among the Shanghai students and the mill workers for the past several months. During the subsequent forty-eight hours the temper of the Chinese acquired the most dangerous proportions known for the past quarter-century, ever since the Boxer Rebellion. The disturbance caused warships of America, France, Italy and Japan hurry to the foreign and gave Shanghai the of a city under siege. sult of two sets of to be taken into understand exactly the is transpiring in China When industrialism ed in China, the from the country, he was a son of the strikes and disputes sioning that he partly due to is not getting a partly because of the ing monotony of The Chinese worker recent years, been and more literate. RAILROAD DELIVERS FREIGHT

The Boston and Maine Railroad is going to collect and deliver freight at the store door in the business district of Boston, Lowell and Lawrence, instead of obliging shippers and consignees to send their own teams to the freight yard. If the plan works well, it will be extended to other cities along the lines of the railway. This is the railroad's answer to the challenge of the motor truck, which has been cutting into the freight revenues by offering merchants convenient door-to-door delivery of goods. Unless we are mistaken, other railroads all over the country will find it necessary to follow the example set by the Boston and Maine. The railways have long found the practice of collecting and delivering freight profitable.—Christian Science Monitor.

Writer Has Narrow Escape in Bombed Village

(This following is second story of the diary of Larry Rue, American newspaper man, who traveled over perilous routes to interview and obtain from Abd-el-Krim, Riffian leader, the terms on which he was willing to make peace with France and Spain. Mr. Rue obtained the terms, which have already been published in this paper, and returning with them, laid them before the French and Spanish governments for their consideration.)

BY LARRY RUE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1925, by the Chicago Tribune]

TANGIER, June 26.—I did not intend to remain at Izmamoran for more than a night. All the time I was there I constantly sought permission to leave, which the Emir promised to facilitate, because I was anxious to communicate the peace terms to the French and Spanish. But all the time I was in the Riff I was not permitted to leave except under specific orders of Abd-el-Krim.

The Emir's brother, Mohamet, a graduate engineer of Madrid University and commander of the armies operating against France, was there but even he did not think of making an attack without the express orders of Abd-el-Krim. It appears to be a one man show in the Riff, with the Emir the one man.

Finally I was told that it would be necessary to go to Tisseasa, a point closest to a Spanish outpost, if I was not afraid of arrest. We set forth across country. Back in the hills about Agadir, about three kilometers from the coast, I passed five batteries of cannon cleverly concealed from airplane observation by camouflage and protected from bombardment on the coast by a range of small hills which served as a natural rampart.

From here I saw a number of tiny islands to which the Spaniards were still clinging to protect a possible landing. The Bay of Alhucemas itself is sufficiently large to give warships plenty of room for maneuvers, while a low plain ten kilometers wide and six deep makes the position not too easy for the defenders if the occupation forces are in overwhelming numbers.

BATTERY NETWORK

Back of Agadir is a network of batteries of machine guns which are calculated to prevent a landing at the plain itself. And along the hills the defenses are designed to prevent an advance into the interior where the base of the Riffian operations is actually located.

The chief of staff at Agadir is Si Hamed, brother-in-law of the Emir, a smooth faced individual whose knowledge of foreign languages is confined to Spanish. I stopped at his GHQ overnight, sleeping in the quarters used by the Emir. The place is not only concealed by camouflage but it is connected with caves and dugouts by subterranean paths which give almost certain protection against bombardment from even the largest shells.

After six hours on horseback the next day I reached a corral about thirty kilometers east and two kilometers south of Agadir, which is the distribution center of the Riffian eastern front. I spent the night sleeping in a vermin-infested rug. Following the three days until I crossed the frontier my status did not seem to be changed except from a guest to a semi-prisoner.

CHANGE IN TREATMENT

I kept urging the chief, an evil looking, one-eyed fellow, that I must leave, but he ignored my requests and sent me to a village seven kilometers away. The delay and change of treatment were all mysterious and the curiosity of the inhabitants began to be uncomfortable. Hundreds crowded around me as I was one of the first Europeans they had ever seen. The cleanliness which marked the military camps was not noticeable here.

The natives felt my clothes, poked their fingers in my mouth and inspected the gold crowns in my teeth. They coveted my shoes and stockings. It is a high compliment to the prestige of the Emir that they did not harm me.

I was reading in the village one morning when I heard a bang outside the house. The wall rocked and cracked. Then I heard the hum of an airplane, but that was common so I paid no attention to it. A Spanish airplane dropped a bomb in the road alongside. Two others dropped nearby.

PLANS ESCAPE

I insisted the same morning that I be permitted to return to the distributing center to telephone the Emir. This I was allowed to do after much argument. I told the chief that it was important I talk with the Emir. But it was no use. However, I was permitted to sleep in peace and during the night I aranged to make my escape if my departure was still held up. Everybody began acting mysteriously again and the chief treated me worse than ever, even forgetting to send in food. Once he asked me to go to my quarters when I asked to telephone the Emir.

That night I went out and looked over the field. I saw no one, but on returning I ran into a guard. However, I resolved to leave on the following night. I intended to leave my carryall and blankets, taking with me only a small canvas bag with my films, camera and toilet articles. I hoped to reach the Spanish position I had seen from the top of a hill ten kilometers away without Riffian assistance. However, this did not prove necessary and luckily, too, for the position I had seen was Rffian, not Spanish.

The next morning I was informed that everything was in readiness for my departure.

FOXES REPORTED SCARCE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, June 26.—Hunters are complaining that the demand for fox fur for women's neckpieces has depleted the number of foxes to such an extent that hunting has taken on the appearance of a farce. Dealers in furs are paying $10 for a single skin.

Ruins of Gillis Theater, Kansas City

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

KANSAS CITY, June 26.—Estimates of the number of persons killed in the explosion and fire which destroyed the Gillis Theater last night decreased today.

Late today two bodies had been recovered and Alex Henderson, Fire Chief, expressed the belief there would be only one or two more.

The bodies recovered were those of two men in Sanderson's restaurant. One was behind the range and the other behind the counter. Both were young men. They were considerably burned. They have not been identified.

The search of the debris between the menacing walls was discontinued five hours today after it was determined there was no hope that there was anyone alive there. The searching parties were sent back as soon as the last tottering walls and overhanging projections were pulled down. Chief Henderson expected to push the work all night by electric lights.

Only one of the four victims of the fire who remained in hospitals today was in a critical condition. Thomas Audley, fireman, injured at Ninth and Walnut streets on the way to the fire, was being examined. Physicians believe he may be suffering from internal injuries. John Hogan, a companion of Audley on a fire truck that overturned, died of injuries.

State Witness is Arrested as Greer is Freed

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, June 26.—Bart C. Greer, employee in the office of Secretary of State Jordan, last night was acquitted in Federal court of a charge of extortion. Immediately after the jury had returned its verdict, Federal Judge Partridge ordered the arrest of George LaRose, chief witness for the prosecution, on a charge of perjury.

At a previous trial of Bart Greer and his cousin, Walter Greer, former Federal prohibition chief for Northern California, LaRose testified he paid money to Bart Greer for "protection." LaRose testified that he had paid Greer several sums of money but he could not recall why the money was paid.

LaRose is the former owner of a roadhouse near Auburn, Placer county.

ST. PAUL ROAD TO AID SMALL STOCKHOLDERS

MOVE EXPECTED TO CLEAR AWAY OPPOSITION TO REORGANIZATION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 26.—Small stockholders of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway, now in receivership, will be assisted by the reorganization managers and protective committees in meeting the assessments imposed under the reorganization plan, it was announced tonight.

Both common and preferred share-holders who have held their stock as an investment for a number of years were advised by the chairman of their protective committees arrangements would be made to enable them to carry the payments of $37 for each common share and $28 for the preferred.

This financial assistance is expected to dispose of threatened opposition from a group of security holders, with headquarters at Washington, who complained that the assessment burden would "squeeze out" many small stockholders.

HOLD ARMY REDS PENDING DECISION

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

HONOLULU, June 6. — Paul Crouch and Walter Trumbull, found guilty by court-martial of trying to spread Communist doctrines in the United States Army, will be held in Hawaii until their status is clarified, U. S. Atty. Charles F. Parsons announced today. The Federal court is to decide, after arguments on July 2, whether the men are being detained illegally by the army authorities.

RICHES ARE PICKED UP IN STREETS OF PARIS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, June 26.—A necklace of 134 pearls, valued by experts at 800,000 francs (about $36,800) was found in the street last night and promptly handed in to the police by the finder. The French law provides that the finder in such cases becomes the legal owner if the object is unclaimed for a year and a day.

EXTORTION PLOT FOILED

D. C. Jackling, Bay City Capitalist, Traps Pair in Threatened Kidnaping of His Wife

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—An asserted attempt to extort $50,000 from D. C. Jackling, wealthy Utah and San Francisco capitalist, through a reported plot to kidnap his wife, was foiled today by Jackling and the police.

Bliss Baker, 25 years of age, a student at the University of California, Berkeley, and Frank Liebowitz, San Francisco taxicab driver, were arrested as suspects late today. They were subjected to questioning by Captain of Police Duncan Mathewson.

Baker and Liebowitz were arrested together near a San Mateo county resort known as "Uncle Tom's Cabin" after a police detective squad had trailed Liebowitz's taxicab there from San Francisco.

METAL BOX FOUND

In the taxicab was a metal box which Jackling an hour previous had delivered to a messenger, who in turn had delivered the box to Liebowitz. The box was supposed to contain $50,000 in small bills. It contained only newspapers.

Jackling said he was in his offices in the Hobart Building this morning when the messenger entered and handed him an envelope. Within was a letter informing Jackling that Mrs. Jackling had been kidnaped and would be tortured, inoculated with disease germs and killed if he did not immediately deliver to the messenger $50,000 in small bills.

Jackling said he telephoned the police, then went to a bank and procured the dummy box, which he handed the messenger. Police trailed the messenger and saw him turn the box over to Liebowitz, who drove out of the city, heading south, with the police car in close pursuit.

RECEIVES PHONE CALL

About the time this was happening, Mrs. Jackling received a telephone call at their apartments in the Hotel St. Francis informing her that her sister, Mrs. Rudolph Spreckels, had been injured in an automobile accident and was in a hospital at San Mateo. Mrs. Jackling hurried to San Mateo in her car, but failed to find her sister in the hospital there. When she attempted to telephone Mrs. Spreckels at her home here, it was found the wires had been cut. Mrs. Jackling then returned to San Francisco and got in touch with her husband.

The police chase nearly came to naught when the officers' car broke down a short distance outside the city. They commandeered the machine of a passing motorist and continued the pursuit. They saw Liebowitz stop his taxicab near the resort at a signal from Baker, who was standing beside the road with his arms folded over his breast. The taxicab driver returned the signal, police say, and handed the box to Baker. The police then closed in on the two and took them into custody.

LIEBOWITZ RELEASED

After being questioned by Capt. Mathewson, Liebowitz was released.

Baker told what police termed a "queer" story. He said he had been on a "wild party" last night which ended this morning and then walked until 8 o'clock.

"I then suddenly remembered about a letter I got from a mysterious Chinese two days ago," Baker told police. "The letter told me that if I would be standing near Milbane with arms crossed today, a taxi-man with a package would arrive, that I was to direct this man to drive on down the road and that at about a mile further on we would be met by some authorized persons who would then take the package and give me $1000.

"I needed the money, and, although the arrangement sounded queer to me, I didn't ask any questions in my mind, but decided to go through with it. I intended to carry out the instructions, get the $1000 and then go to San Jose to visit my father. That's all I know about the affair."

WOODMEN INDORSE WORLD COURT PLAN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, June 26. — Resolutions indorsing the World Court and asking the Senate to bring the matter to a record vote as soon as possible were adopted at the closing session of the twentieth quadrennial camp of the Modern Woodmen of America here today. The convention also passed a resolution indorsing a suggestion that the question of establishing a home for aged Woodmen and their wives be investigated.

CALIFORNIA HOLDS LEAD IN REFINING

State's Capacity Reported as 743,729 Barrels by Bureau of Mines

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The indicated capacity of American petroleum refining plants has reached 2,864,842 barrels daily, the Interior Department announced today on the basis of information compiled by the Bureau of Mines.

The figure represents an increase of more than 41 per cent from 1918, to 1925, said the report, which placed the present number of complete refineries at 550, compared with 267 January 1, 1918, while four more are being constructed. The indicated daily capacity of plants in operation was 2,511,817 barrels.

California, the department found, led all States with a daily refining capacity of 743,729 barrels. Texas with 566,580 barrels was second; Oklahoma with 348,950, third; New Jersey with 243,000, fourth; Louisiana with 165,845, fifth; Pennsylvania with 143,940, sixth; with Wyoming, Illinois, Kansas, Massachusetts and Ohio following in that order.

The refineries are distributed among thirty-one States including 113 in Texas; ninety-three in Oklahoma; eighty-seven in California; fifty-nine in Pennsylvania, and thirty-four in Kansas.

COMPANY ORDERED TO PAY $175,964

COURT FINDS AGAINST SIGNAL HILL OIL COMPANW; RECORD JUDGMENT LEVIED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SANTA ANA, June 26.—Superior Judge R. Y. Williams today rendered against the Pacific Corporation, a Signal Hill oil company, and some of its officers and former officers, one of the largest judgments ever recorded in Orange county, the amount aggregating $175,964.46.

Included in this amount was an item of $116,297.18 assessed specifically against Louis Kleindeinst, Los Angeles attorney, who controlled the company, and $2124.33 against C. W. Swartz, general purchasing agent of the Pacific Electric Railway, who Judge Williams described as "head of Kleindeinst's dummy board of directors."

Others named as liable under the judgment were William Biel of Orange, vice-president of the company, and Herman Fischer, who is said to have controlled it at one time.

The action was brought by A. J. Charle and other Orange county ranchers who are stockholders in the company. They charged that funds derived from the production of the company's oil well at Signal Hill had been wrongfully withheld from them, and that Kleindeinst had, against their wishes, forced himself into the control of the company's affairs.

ELECTRIC CHAIR CLAIMS THREE MEN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

STATE PENITENTIARY, EDDYVILLE (Ky.) June 26.—George Garrell, Richard Newhouse and Elmer Hall, the "Bourbon bandits," who killed Frank Buchanan in an attempted bank robbery at Clintonville a year ago, paid in full for their crime today. Calmly, the three Newport (Ky.) youths entered the death house and were electrocuted.

ONE DIES IN CHICAGO CRASH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, June 26.—One man, an employee, was killed and a number of passengers injured in a rear-end collision of two elevated trains on the South Side line of the Chicago Rapid Transit Company, near the Thirty-fifth-street station. Officials of the elevated company said none of the passengers was seriously injured.

WATER ASSURED IN SALT VALLEY

Association Secretary Sees Two-Year Supply

Storage and Pumps Supplement River's Flow

Mormon Flat Reservoir Shows Operation at Profit

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, June 26.—The Salt River Valley will continue to be served with irrigation water for two years more, even under the dryest of conditions, according to C. C. Cragin, manager of the water users' association. Provision has been made for supply this year of 2.6 acre feet of stored and pumped water in addition to the normal flows of the Salt and Verde rivers. Under similar conditions in 1926, water will be supplied up to 2.4 feet. Silt deposition in the reservoir at Roosevelt has been checked very carefully and the figures given of water now on storage are declared even below the actual quantity. The present draft on the reservoir is about 2000 acre feet a day.

The first of the new wells near canal heads has been tested, with full success, and the association wells all over the valley are being run at capacity, giving a very large addition to the river supply. Profit has attended operation of the Mormon Flat reservoir, with sale of $1.50 worth of hydroelectric power for every acre foot of water turned into the new lake. The dam has earned its bond interest, with $12,000 turned into the bond retirement fund and with an additional surplus. Additional current for pumping no wis available from the Arizona Power Company's lines from Fossel Creek and Tapco, in Yavapai county.

Announcement was made that water users would be kept within their allotments and that civil action already had been started against a large cantaloupe raiser who is said to have been taken more than his due.

Police in Hunt for Rich Woman Who is Missing

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BERKELEY, June 26.—The police and Sheriff's offices today joined in a search of the city and bay region for Miss Anna Dutton, 32 years of age, wealthy incompetent, who disappeared yesterday from the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Lhevine, where she lived under the guardianship of Mrs. Lhevine. Miss Dutton is described as an attractive blond.

The woman is said to have inherited a considerable estate from her mother. About two years ago she was declared incompetent, and Mrs. Lhevine was appointed her guardian. Neighbors reported seeing two men lurking near the Lhevine home yesterday, and the theory is advanced that she may have been abducted by some person or persons seeking to gain control of her estate. She is said to have left home without making any preparations for a journey.

NEW OFFICIALS FOR VETERANS

John W. Mahan of Montana Elected Commander

War-time Conscription of Capital Urged

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OMAHA, June 26. — John W. Mahan of Helena, Mont., was elected Commander-in-Chief of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War over Ray J. Bergen of Chicago, by a vote of 364 to 87 at the annual convention here late today. "Administration forces" of Frank J. Irwin, retiring Commander, were behind Mahan, Irwin making a plea for his election from the floor.

Atlanta, Ga., was awarded the 1926 convention after a spirited contest.

CAPITAL CONSCRIPTION

Conscription of American capital and labor on the same basis as the man power of the republic was conscripted in 1917 and 1918 was demanded of Congress by the veterans in one of a set of resolutions adopted today.

"It is further resolved," the document reads, "that Congress be urged to maintain thoroughly adequate military and naval establishments, sufficient to not only furnish a proper first line of defense, but capable of emergency, expansion and the training of citizens who are to bear arms, should America again be threatened."

It was also urged in the rehabilitation report of Kenneth B. Law of Minneapolis, later adopted as a resolution, that more adequate hospital accommodations be provided for the Northwest. No special point was designated, however. Another resolution condemned what was termed "the pernicious activities of groups prowling around the country attempting to undermine the national conscience by pernicious pacifist propaganda that would Chinafy America."

FOR PACIFIC PROTECTION

Keeping in line with its announced policy, the veterans also adopted a resolution asking Congress to keep a "thorough and adequate Army and Navy, and prepart adequate defenses, both naval and aerial, for the Philippines and Pearl Harbor, Hawaiian Islands."

Mrs. Estelle Patrick, Wichita, Kan., was elected National Commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, Women's Auxiliary. She succeeds Mrs. Anna J. Weber, Colorado Springs, Colo.

ORDER OF TRENCH RATS ELECTS OFFICERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OMAHA, June 26.—A new administration rules the Order of Trench Rats today. At a midnight election last night the order, the "fun" organization of the Disabled American Veterans, selected Hobart C. Kincaid of Walla Walla, Wash., as Imperial Golden Rodent.

Other officers elected include John Schuerman, St. Louis, Imperial Silver Rodent; J. B. Maccredie, Detroit, Imperial Blue Rodent; W. A. Shirley, Los Angeles, Imperial Red-eyed Rodent; Eugene C. Coten, Detroit, was chosen as the Iron Claw, and Jesse Hall, St. Louis, and W. G. Gross, Tacoma, Wash., were made Imperial Rodents, equivalent to an executive committee.

CURB ON GRAIN PRICE SWINGS IS PLANNED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MICHIGAN CITY (Ind.) June 26.—A new, modern clearing-house may be set up on the grain exchange in the near future in an attempt to reduce price swings, President Frank L. Carey of the Chicago Board of Trade told the Indiana grain dealers at their convention today. The clearinghouse, he said, was suggested by Secretary Jardine in a recent conference. Mr. Carey said the Department of Agriculture and the exchange were working in closest cooperation and that a study was being made under the guidance of the department of means to prevent price swings.

London shopkeepers rejoiced this spring when the Duchess of York returned direct from Marseilles instead of stopping at Paris for her shopping, she preferring English-made outfits.

Reclamation Results Poor, Work Declares

Lack of Capital Blamed for Montana Situation

Would Have Farm Colleges Teach Less Culture

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

GREAT FALLS (Mont.) June 26.—The Department of the Interior believes in and desires to further Federal reclamation aid, but it is not willing to allow Federal reclamation "to continue to ride recklessly to its own ruin," Dr. Hubert Work, Secretary of the Interior, declared before a meeting here today in connection with the Sun River irrigation project.

"The conditions in practically all the northern tier of States show that under the Reclamation Act, Federal reclamation has not produced the desired agricultural results," the Secretary said, and pointed out that of $16,000,000 spent on the four projects in the State of Montana, only $628,000 has been repaid.

HOLDINGS TOO LARGE

"The results are not believed to be due to lack of agricultural resources," he said. "They are the results of too large holdings, lack of belief in the necessity for irrigation, poor cultivation, inflation in the prices of privately owned land, and the lack of capital and equipment needed by settlers to enable them to cultivate their land as irrigation requires.

"The Reclamation Act has not given the industrious, experienced settler the kind of opportunity he should have," Secretary Work declared. "It has given too wide a range to land speculation. It has bred the menace of tenacy.

"Instead of the settlers on these projects having a sense of gratitude to the government for what it has done for them, the letters and petitions which come to the department, and the statements which appear in the press show that disappointment and bitterness prevail.

"Speaking broadly with the whole country in mind," Dr. Work continued, "something must be devised quickly that will check the flow of farmers to the city to become laborers. We can never inaugurate a back-to-the-farm movement, but have hopes that staying on the farm may be made more attractive.

RAPS COLLEGE COURSES

"In considering new projects we must remember that thousands of farm areas under Federal irrigation ditches have never been farmed, other thousands have been abandoned; that about 500,000 farms in the United States were abandoned last year; that railways that once were our best aid for settling the West, cannot now carry people who will not ride, and they are not interested in peopling land with those who cannot produce any freight for them to haul.

"Farmers expect to make money for farming after the actual daily necessities of living have been met and they must do so, to live by the same standard as set by the villagers whom they support. The most timely and important institutions of learning today are the land grant agricultural colleges, fostered by the government since 1862. I have wondered why they provide such a diversity of teaching, from slang breeding to voice culture, when they are supported by sale of lands, and agronomy is the most vital science in this world today, but I am told that culture is necessary to good homes, and it is, but much of it bears no relation to farming and culture and training of the mind may be had from practical instruction, useful in making a living from the soil."

NEGROES TO OPEN CLERIC CONVENTION

Delegates to Meeting of Bishops Arrive from East in Two Special Trains

Fifteen hundred colored delegates to the Bishops' Annual Council, which will begin a three days' conference at the First A.M.E. Church this morning, arrived in two special Southern Pacific trains from Washington, D. C., and Atlanta, Ga., last night.

A reception was tendered the visiting delegates and bishops at the church last night. This morning's meeting will be devoted to business, and other meetings will be held in the afternoon and evening.

Every church for colored people will have one or two of the visiting bishops in its pulpit tomorrow morning, and several other churches, noncolored, have invited representatives to speak at the morning and evening services.

Meetings will be held all day Monday and a mass meeting at Trinity Auditorium has been arranged for Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Bishop H. P. Parks of the Los Angeles diocese, will preside.

Woman in Negri Extortion Plot to be Detained

Justine Valse, motion-picture actress, who acquired prominence a few weeks ago by relating a story to the effect that she had been used as a tool by a group of conspirators who plotted an extortion scheme against Pola Negri, was committed to Norwalk yesterday by Judge Gates, sitting on the Lunacy Commission.

It was testified that she had evaded confinement in a private sanatorium, and had reappeared at the studios, seeking employment and raising a disturbance when none was forthcoming.

"I believe it will be best for this young lady and everyone else concerned if she is confined for a while, at least," Judge Gates observed, after hearing of her latest activities.

INQUEST AROUSES SUBURB

Grosse Point Families Take Sides in Asserted Fatal Ending to Fight Between Girls

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, June 26.—Grosse Point, Chicago suburb, prepared today to witness one of the strangest inquests ever held. It is to determine whether 11-year-old Caroline Stachel might be held responsible for killing 11-year-old Helen Becker.

Two families, each bitterly partisan, are aligned in the case and their stories are diametrically opposite.

"My daughter," says the mother of little Helen Becker, "was a delicate little thing. Caroline is strong. The boys call her tomboy and she has often chased them for blocks when they infuriated her by their remarks. Helen was just one of a group one day when the boys tantalized Caroline. She said then she couldn't 'lick them all together,' but would do it one at a time.

"Last Friday my girl and her little brother went to the store for cookies. Caroline met them as they came out. She screamed, 'I've got you now,' and began to beat Helen, who was no match for her.

"Helen fell to the ground and Caroline jumped on her. Helen's little brother tried to help her and he, too, was knocked down. Helen, when she got home, was hysterical, became unconscious as she entered the house, and was never herself until she died. Caroline is guilty of murder, even if she is only 11."

Parents of the Stachel girl tell a different story.

"Helen was one of a group who constantly tantalized Caroline because of her strength,' said Mrs. Stachel. "That day at the store Caroline asked Helen for a cookie and Helen called her a 'tomboy.' One word led to another and there was a fight, with Helen and her brother fighting Caroline."

VALHALLA METHODS DESCRIBED

Buyers in Memorial Park Declare at Trial That Facts Were Misrepresented

Testimony tending to show business methods of the promoters of the Valhalla Memorial Park project was introduced yesterday at the trial in U. S. District Judge McCormick's court where four defendants are charged with using the mails to defraud.

Col. Ned M. Green, an army officer, testified that after he bought three sections in the park he found that one of them was directly under a pumping plant.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Debaulting testified that three of the six sections they bought were found to be under the archway and that the others were found to have been sold. The promoters refused to accept money for the sections when a complaint was made, they declared.

Mrs. Katherine Brundage and Miss Janet McLeisch testified to duplication of contracts for sections in the park.

Miss Edna Summerfield, an employee of the park project corporation, identified signatures of the four defendants, John R. Osborne, C. C. Fitzpatrick, Maynard L. Monger and Charles Vaughan, where their names appeared in the exhibits in the case.

Government attorneys yesterday stated they will probably rest their case Tuesday or Wednesday.

Chamber Party Given Rousing Island Greeting

After a calm and delightful trip the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce party arrived yesterday in Honolulu, where they were given a rousing welcome by the residents and members of the United States Aero Squadron now stationed there, according to a cablegram from Charles P. Bayer, manager of the excursion department of the chamber, to A. G. Arnoll, secretary and general manager.

The excursionists were to be given a luncheon today by the Chamber of Commerce, Advertising Club, Rotary Club and other civic organizations of Honolulu on the roof of the Alexander Young Hotel. Following the luncheon they were to attend a reception at the National Palace, given by Hon. W. E. Farrington, Governor of Hawaii.

A motor trip of the residential district of Honolulu, a visit to the extinct crater of Punch Bowl, with its wonderful view of the city and harbor of Honolulu and Pearl Harbor in the distance, and a drive through the wooded heights of Tantalus were to complete the day. The cablegram also stated that everybody was well and happy.

Four Are Found Guilty in Trial for Forgeries

A jury in Judge Keetch's department of the Superior Court yesterday, after brief deliberation, found Alverto, Manuel and Jose Alvarez and Carlos Carbajal guilty of forgery. They will be sentenced by Judge Keetch next Monday.

The four men are declared by police to have forged about 200 checks for amounts ranging from $1 to $20. The checks were stolen from various firms and stamped with a protectograph, according to the prosecution.

W. D. HOWARD RESIGNS AS BANK CHIEF

Frank R. Strong Elected to Succeed Retiring Head of Continental National

Resignation of W. D. Howard as president and director of the Continental National Bank and the election of Frank D. Strong to succeed him were announced yesterday. Mr. Howard is retiring to devote his entire time to personal affairs, it was stated.

W.D. Howard

Mr. Howard, it was said, also disposed of his holdings in the bank to the State Securities Corporation which is holding company for bank stocks.

Affairs of the bank in the future will be conducted by Mr. Strong and an executive committee composed of F. R. Feitshans, John A. Stauffer and A. L. Lasker, directors.

Frank R. Strong

E. L. Olmstead also has resigned as vice-president and director, but the vacancy will not be filled for the present, the announcement stated.

The bank is said to have enjoyed a "remarkable growth during the years that Mr. Howard has been in charge. Its resources now are approximately $8,000,000. Its directors are among the leaders in financial and industrial circles.

FRATERNITY MEN VISIT HOLLYWOOD

Delta Sigma Convention Tour Takes Them Through Two Studios

Hollywood was the Mecca yesterday toward which 500 members of the Delta Sigma fraternity, now holding its national convention in this city, turned yesterday. Led by Don E. Lake, convention chairman, the visiting students and old grads sallied westward in a fleet of automobiles to obtain first-hand impressions of the Los Angeles suburb.

Earlier in the day a fathers' and sons' banquet was held in the Alexandria. Mayor Cryer, President Pridham of the Chamber of Commerce and Lawrence Auten, Mayor of Little Rock, were among the speakers. Stress was laid by the speakers on the fact that Delta Sigma, which is a preparatory school fraternity, has done much since its founding in 1887 to dissipate the antipathy formerly held against fraternities in junior institutions. The Delta Sigma fraternity today has chapters in sixty-five cities, with an active membership of 10,000.

Jurisdiction in Matter of Stock Sale is Decided

The State Corporation Department yesterday took authority over a proposed stock issue of the Transport Equipment Company as the result of a decision of the State Railroad Commission that the company's operations are not under its jurisdiction. The Transport Equipment Company has asked to issue $250,000 worth of stock, with which it plans to purchase automobile-truck equipment, which will be leased out to operating companies. The company is said to be a holding company of the Hodge Transporation System, which operates motor freight trucks in Southern California under the authority of the Railroad Commission.

Because of this the Corporation Department has been undecided as to whether the Transport Equipment Company also should be under the Railroad Commission's jurisdiction.

FIVE DELEGATES NAMED

Los Angeles will send five delegates to the forty-seventh annual conference of the American Library Association to be held in Seattle July 6 to 11. They are Jasmine Britton, Gladys Caldwell, Gladys S. Case, Helen E. Haines and Rosemary Livsay.

WRONG OIL COSTS $100

The first service station operator to be convicted under the new city ordinance prohibiting substitution of one grade of motor oil for another, W. N. Mills, of McCoy and Mills, was fined $100 or twenty days in jail Thursday by Police Judge Pope.

Mills, who operates a station at Western avenue and Washington street, was found guilty Monday, but asked for probation on the ground that he could produce evidence to impeach the city's testing engineers. He failed to produce the witnesses yesterday.

The ordinance, No. 45,340, was passed by the City Council at the instigation of the Automobile Club of Southern California to curb the evils of substitution of motor oil. A number of prosecutions are being pressed by the City Oil Inspector's department. A corps of investigators is checking oil sold in various stations here.

OWENS DIVORCE VERDICT UPHELD

Decree Given Wife of Local Millionaire Affirmed

Ohio Appeals Court Asserts Riches Behind Trouble

Defendant to Seek Review by Highest Tribunal

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TOLEDO (O.) June 26.—The Circuit Court of Appeals in a decision handed down late today affirmed the judgment of Judge Austin, Jr., in the divorce suit of Florence Owens, Toledo society belle, and John Raymond Owens, Los Angeles millionaire sportsman.

Mrs. Owens was given absolute divorce and $150,000 alimony besides $50,000 for her child.

Owens's attorneys will take the case to the Supreme Court.

"The parties in this action were married April 25, 1919, when the wife was 20 and the husband 24 years of age, and they have one child, a daughter, not quite 5. The plaintiff below had been reared in a convent and was the daughter of frugal parents and not accustomed to receiving and expending money in any considerable amounts prior to the time of her marriage. The husband was the son of wealthy parents and accustomed to the expenditure of large amounts of money, some of it in ways not commendable, for his personal gratification.

"LED FAST LIFE"

"The wife soon fell into the ways of living to which her husband has been accustomed. The evidence in this case demonstrates that riches alone can do little to promote happiness, for money was freely supplied by overindulgent parents and used with a lavish hand, and yet the high anticipations of these young people ended in bitterness and broken hopes. The sordid story of their martial troubles should not be perpetuated in judicial opinion. He led a fast life, not only in Toledo, but in Los Angeles and Hollywood, and under his tutelage she became an apt student. It is said that she could not stand the pace and in a sense that is true, but on certain occasions she did not lag far behind.

"From the careful examination which this court has given to the evidence, we cannot say that the judgment of divorce granted to the plaintiff below is manifestly and clearly against the weight of the evidence. If some of the testimony, which was introduced, is entitled to credence, her conduct was far from being above criticism, but the trial judge found that it did not go to the extent that would bar her from being entitled to a divorce.

AFFIRMS JUDGMENT

"While this court is opposed to the liberality in granting divorces which has frequently been practiced, yet we cannot say from this record that there was not sufficient evidence upon which to grant a divorce to her.

"Coming now to that portion of the judgment awarding alimony. After the original petition was filed in this case, the plaintiff in error, through the death of his father, became heir to one-third interest in the estate. The parties have widly divergent views as to the value of the share, which thus came to the plaintiff in error, and the trial judge found it to be substantially $600,000 and awarded one-third of that amount to the wife and for the support of the child.

"From the evidence submitted, we believe the amount is according to a proper adjustment and the judgment in all respects is affirmed."

CARR ASKS DIVORCE IN SUIT REPLY

Actor Avers Wife Drinks, Quarrels, Stays Out Nights, and Threatens Him

Alexander Carr, screen comedian, yesterday countered his wife's suit for separate maintenance with a demand for a divorce on the grounds of cruelty. Mrs. Helen Cressman Carr, he asserts, called him vile and indecent names, threatened to kill him, tried to kill him, threw furniture at him, was intoxicated, boisterous and quarrelsome and stayed out nights, refusing to tell where she had been.

She came home drunk at "times too numerous to mention," Carr declares, and on one occasion last month became so boisterous she was arrested by police and taken to Hollywood Police Station. The Carrs had to move, according to the husband, from their home on Alta Loma Terrace, because of her boisterous conduct. Besides a divorce, Carr wants his wife restrained from annoying him.

Carr's matrimonial troubles have been in the courts before. His first wife, Mary Carr, had him arrested for nonpayment of alimony. Last fall the present one sued him for divorce, but the suit was thrown out because she had not established a residence. Recently she sued him for a separation.

In his answer, filed with the cross-complaint by Attorney Milton M. Cohen, Carr denies his wife's accusations of cruelty and denies also there is $50,000 in community property. Carr says there is no community property.

DISTRICT ATTORNEYS END ANNUAL SESSION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SANTA CRUZ, June 26.—The District Attorneys' Association of California concluded its annual session today with the election of Chester Kempley, San Diego, president; J. J. Henderson, Sacramento, vice-president, and Frank Swartz, San Mateo, secretary-treasurer. Attorney Ezra Decoto of Oakland was voted the title of president emeritus. Wawona was chosen as the 1926 convention city. A committee on legislation to serve two years includes Earl Warren, Oakland; Asa Keyes, Los Angeles, and George Lovejoy, Fresno.

DEBT PAYMENT BY ALLIES URGED

Business Leaders Indorse Settlement Proposal

Dawes Plan Declared to be Feasible System

London Banker President of Commerce Body

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BRUSSELS, June 26.—The International Chamber of Commerce, at its final session today, adopted a resolution declaring that inter-Allied debts must be settled.

Dr. Walter Leaf, chairman of the Westminster Bank of London, was elected president of the chamber, succeeding Willis H. Booth, Jr., of New York, vice-president of the Guaranty Trust Company.

The resolution declaring for payment of the inter-Allied debts was vigorously supported by Etienne Clementel, former finance minister of France. It says the chamber recognizes that it is quite as difficult to transfer money to pay the inter-allied debts as it is to make reparations payments and that special precautions are necessary to avoid difficulties. Consideration should be given to the external and internal economic conditions of the countries concerned, the resolution says.

FUTURE PAYMENTS

The French delegation pointed out that the burdens of war debts must not rest exclusively upon the present generation, and that dates of settlements must be arranged in a way to spread payments into the future. The French delegates said they desired to see their government enter negotiations for a debt settlement in that spirit.

Contrary to the opinions expressed in some speeches predicting failure of the Dawes plan, the chamber adopted a resolution affirming the conviction that it is possible for Germany to fulfill her obligations under that plan.

Other resolutions adopted include recommendations of a fixed date for Easter, an international conference for unification of laws governing exchange of bills and checks, an international convention of civil aerial laws, steps to obtain greater facilities for travel and freight traffic across frontiers and measures to diminish evil discrimination in the application of customs regulations.

OTHER RESOLUTIONS

The meeting also voted recommendations for the protection of industrial property patents, unification of bills of lading and international transport and signature and ratification as a convention on limitation of ship owners' liabilities.

Creation of a special committee to study methods for developing motor highway transportation, organization of an air transport committee to collaborate with other international bodies and appointment of a committee to study the possibility of improvement in international telephone facilities were authorized.

JUDGE PUTS TRIAL OVER TO REFLECT

Divorce Case of Couple is Postponed Week After Being Partly Aired

The hectic marital life of Elinor Nelson and John C. Nelson, which came to a climax a few days ago when the husband filed suit for divorce, naming Lawrence Arnold as corespondent, and the wife countered with suit for the custody of their two children, was but partially aired yesterday after a long hearing before Judge Gates of the Superior Court.

Judge Gates, after listening to the testimony of Nelson and Mrs. Nelson for many hours, finally adjourned the case until next Friday.

The husband testified Mrs. Nelson ran away with Arnold in 1923, taking their two children with them, and that his first knowledge of her whereabouts came to him in the form of a summons calling on him to defend a divorce action instituted by his wife at Reno. He went to Reno, he said, and fought the case, which ended in a deadlock, neither receiving a divorce and the custody of the children being left undetermined.

Arnold, the husband declared, then left Mrs. Nelson and she wrote him several threatening letters, which resulted in her arrest. He interceded in the case, he said, and caused her release. Arnold was described by Nelson as a sporting man with a financial interest in a number of professional and semi-professional ball teams.

SANTA ROSA WINERY AND STOCK BURNED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

RED ROSE GIRL TELLS OF SLAYI

Accused on Stand in Stabbing of Seamon Admits Argument

Mamie Stevens, the red-rose girl, was the principal witness in the prosecution yesterday in the trial of Earl J. Clark on a charge of slaying Charles Silva. It was the rose in her hair, Silva told police, that led to the death of Silva, it was testified.

In low tones she told of being taken into the apartment establishment of Clark and how he tried to leave several times but failed because Clark would not let her. Finally she said she appealed to Silva to aid her in trying to do so he was killed instantly by Clark, she declared.

Testimony was completed with the testimony of Clark. He told of the stabbing but admitted that an argument with Silva, who he accused of attempting to assault a girl, Clark also admitted that he served a term in an Oregon reformatory for a similar crime and escaped twice but was later paroled.

According to Dep. Dist. Atty. Scheinman, Silva was shot in Clark's home. He contended that he was wounded twice in his own home and died en route to the hospital.

Argument was begun by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Scheinman. He was followed by Defense Attorney Green and Dist.-Atty. Dennison will conclude the argument Monday and the case is expected to be given to the jury in Judge Reeves's court.

ASK TELEPHONE RATE

The Postal Telegraph-Cable Company filed application with the State Railroad Commission today for permission to establish long-distance telephone service between Redlands. It is said that the company established the service some time ago without the commission's permission, and yesterday's application is in effect a request of the commission that the service abandoned until proper authority is secured.

HISTORIANS PLAN TRIBUTE

Pilgrimage in Memory of Northwest's Pioneers to Be Featured by Indian Tribal Congress

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. PAUL, June 26.—A distinguished group of historians and historical writers of the United States and Canada is preparing to visit the Northwest, leaving St. Paul on a special Great Northern train July 16, next, to commemorate several historic spots in North Dakota and Montana. The party will dedicate monuments to early explorers in the Northwest country.

This extraordinary expedition is being organized under the direction of Gov. Sorlie of North Dakota and Gov. Erickson of Montana in co-operation with the State Historical Societies of Minnesota, Missouri, North and South Dakota and Montana. It will be known as the Upper Missouri Historical Expedition of 1925.

A romantic feature will result from a survey that is to be made among the remnants of about twenty Indian tribes that once ruled in tribal conflict over the entire plains region west from the Mississippi River to the east slope of the Rocky Mountains wherein now lies the area of Glacier National Park. These tribes include the Arecksara, Mandan, Hidatsa, of the Berthold Reservation, in North Dakota; the Dakotas (or Sioux) of the Standing Rock Agency in North and South Dakota; the Sioux from Fort Totten Agency of North Dakota; the Assiniboine tribe of the Turtle Mountain Agency in North Dakota, and of Fort Park in Northeastern Montana; the River Crow of Fort Belknap Agency near Harlem, Mont., and of the Crow Agency in Southern Montana; also the Pregan, Blood and Blackfeet tribes of Northwestern Montana and Southern Alberta.

CONGRESS OF TRIBES

This congress of American Indian tribes which is to take place at Fort Union, on the upper Missouri twenty miles west of Williston, N. D., promises to be the most picturesque gathering of Red Men ever seen in America. Here on the site of old Fort Union, July 18, 19 and 20 next the Upper Missouri Historical Expedition will enter into conference with the representatives of all the Indian tribes which in the early days traded at Fort Union.

Prominent in the personnel of the expedition are: Maj.-Gen. Hugh L. Scott, retired, United States Army, and member of the United States Board of Indian Commissioners; Lawrence J. Burpee, Canadian historian; Agnes C. Laut, Northwestern historical writer; T. C. Elliott of Portland, Or., historian and scholar; John F. Stevens of New York, known for his engineering achievements in the Northwest; Lawrence F. Abbott of New York, author and editor; Judge Charles H. Carey, author and jurist of Portland, Or.; Charles M. Russell, cowboy artist of Great Falls, Mont. Official representatives of many historical societies will be members of the expedition.

FIRST STOP

The first stop of the historians' special train will be made at Verendrye, N. D., where the expedition will hold special ceremonies in co-operation with the citizens of Verendrye and the Minot Chamber of Commerce. Gov. Sorlie of North Dakota will preside. Lawrence J. Burpee will deliver an address on the explorations of Pierre de la Verendrye, French-Canadian explorer.

A granite sphere engraved with lines representing latitude and longitude, recently erected as a monument to David Thompson, geographer and explorer, on a high hill overlooking the Mouse (Souris) River at Verendrye, will be presented by the Great Northern Railway to the State of North Dakota. The formal transfer of monument and site will take place at Verendrye, July 17, next.

On July 20 the expedition will proceed to Meriwether, Mont., where a monument erected on the farthest north spot reached by Capt. Meriwether Lewis of the Lewis and Clark Expedition in 1806 will be unveiled. This monument in honor of Capt. Lewis will be presented by the Great Northern Railway Company to the State of Montana.

Clews Lacking in Mystery of Russian's Death

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LOUISA (Ky.) June 26.—The finding of Sam Demovich's half nude body on the railway tracks between Saltpetre, W. Va., and Glenhayes, a few miles from here, has engendered a mystery that grows deeper and darker with every attempt local authorities make to solve it.

Demovich, who was a Russian, was murdered with robbery as the probable motive, officers believe. Bloodhounds were brought to the murder scene shortly after discovery of the body, but no trail developed. Neither was a clew established which might lead to identity of the criminals.

Demovich appeared in Louisa the day before his death, hatless and with a handerchief tied about his head. His actions are said to have indicated that he seemed to be fearing a pursuer.

TEACHERS WILL BEGIN MEXICO TOUR TODAY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) June 26. Under the direction of G. M. Patison of San Antonio, a former associate professor of modern languages, William and Mary college, seventy-five teachers and students of Spanish from sixteen different States will leave San Antonio tomorrow for the City of Mexico on a personally conducted tour. Practically every member of the tour will enroll in the summer session of the National University of Mexico, City of Mexico. The party will return to San Antonio on August 23 next. The trip is to include stopovers at Monterey, Saltillo, San Luis Potosi, Queretaro and the City of Mexico.

FILM FOLK IN ARIZONA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.) June 26.—Northern Arizona retains popularity with the film folk from Hollywood. Scenes for the "Vanishing American" are being filmed near Kayenta, north of Holbrook, and a Buster Keaton comedy has been done on the Duncan ranch near Kingman.

Arizona Indians Going to Session of Endeavorers

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CASA GRANDE (Ariz.) June 26. The International Christian Endeavor convention at Portland will have an interesting delegation from Southern Arizona. In 137 Indian members, mainly from the Pima reservation, north of this point. They will occupy four Pullmans on their trip from Casa Grande. The cost of the journey mainly will be defrayed by the Indians, with some help from the national organization and from the Casa Grande and Florence Chambers of Commerce. It is understood that this aboriginal delegation will head the big parade that will precede assembly at Portland. With the Indians will go Rev. Dirk Lay, Presbyterian missionary on the reservation.

Revolutionist is Sentenced by Federal Court

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) June 26.—Antonio Ortiz Maya, who states that he was a colonel in the Mexican army under Gen. De la Huerta, has been given a Federal sentence of six years in prison with an added fine of $3000. The office of the United States Attorney submitted evidence that Maya was a revolutionist of very professional type, and that he had recruited about 100 men, mainly in Arizona, for insurrections against the Mexican government. He had saved his own skin in every case by fleeing across the international line.

EGYPT AND INDIA SEEK CANADIAN CROSSTIES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) June 26.—Twelve million feet of railway sleepers have been placed on order here by Egypt and Bombay. Two firms here shared in the 8,000,000 foot Egyptian tie order, and one firm has 4,000,000 feet of creosoted ties for Bombay, while another 4,000,000 feet order is expected daily.

Taku Bar is also in the market for 4,000,000 feet of ties. These sleepers together with the Australian business offering are expected to keep the sawmills busy for two months.

In the Atlantic seaboard trade there is a steady hauling of lumber averaging about 18,000,000 feet a month. Last year the total shipments from British Columbia to the Atlantic Coast were 238,000,000 feet, and only 219,000,000 feet to all other foreign markets.

If the present average keeps up all year the shipments will total close to those of last year, and should they come up a little there is a possibility that the total will be greater than last year, despite the cry of the lumbermen that there is no business for British Columbia on the coast North of Hatteras.

MAJ. SNEED ASSIGNED TO KELLY FIELD POST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) June 26. Announcement of the assignment of Maj. Albert F. Sneed to Kelly Field and the transfer of Lieut. Ivan G. Moorman from Kelly Field, was made here recently. Maj. Sneed has been a student at the command and general staff school at Fort Leavenworth. Lieut. Moorman, recently assigned to the Tenth School Group from the San Antonio Air Intermediate Depot, has been ordered to McCook Field, O., for duty as a student officer in the air service engineering school. The order became effective the 25th inst. Lieut. Moorman has been stationed in San Antonio nearly four years.

SOLDIERS TO PLAY IN DEFENSE TEST FILM

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) June 26. Three thousand soldiers of the Second Division, will appear with San Antonio's prettiest screen-aspiring young women in a film to be made at Fort Sam Houston, to be shown on Alamo Plaza the night of Judy 4 next, as part of the Army's activity in the second defense test. Using a scenario prepared by Lieut. John B. Hess, Twentieth Infantry, scenes for the photoplay will be taken in various parts of San Antonio as well as on the military reservation. Filming of the picture will be done by representatives of the Metro-Goldwyn corporation.

PHOENIX ATTORNEY FACES CHECK CHARGE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) June 26.—Weldon J. Bailey, a Phoenix attorney, has been arraigned in the United States Court after indictment by the grand jury on a charge of having forged an indorsement on a government check. The case has been transferred to Phoenix for trial next fall, the defendant giving bond. He is said to have cashed a $190 check that was drawn to a Phoenix undertaker, Roy J. Hockrey in connection with the burial of a war veteran, this with later payment of the sum to Hockrey.

Efforts to Save Child, Victim of Rattlesnake, Fail

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BUCKEYE (Ariz.) June 26.—At Liberty, a few miles east of this point, Mary Estelle Thompson, 3 years of age, kissed her mother good night and started for a screened room a short distance from the house, where she and an older sister had slept. On the threshold, the child stepped upon or near a coiled rattlesnake, which struck three times without rattling. The girl was rushed to Buckeye for treatment and then was taken to a hospital in Phoenix. Physicians and nurses worked over her for sixteen hours, but without success.

Flyer in Leap From Dirigible Lands Safely

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 26.—The first trip by the Navy dirigible Shenandoah from her hangar at Lakehurst in many months was attended today by the first successful parachute leap ever made from a dirigible in this country.

Marmon H. Ford, a member of the ship's crew, made an accurate jump to the Bayonne Park grounds as the dirigible passed over Bayonne as part of the program in observance of the State encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

COLTON RECALL IS NEARLY WRECKED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, June 26.—The recall directed against Mayor W. H. Evans of Colton and three of his aides by the Citizens' League all but collapsed today when City Attorney M. O. Hert of Colton ruled that the recall petitions were illegal.

The circulatory of the petitions neglected to ask signers to affix the date on which they signed the petitions, as required by an act adopted in 1915 and providing specifically that the dates must be written on the petitions by the signers.

The petitions were drafted according to the 1912 Recall Act and circulated under its provisions, the Citizens' League spokesmen admitted today.

It is doubtful if City Clerk Olive Phillips will permit the petitions to be withdrawn and recirculated. The recall has been brewing in Colton for weeks and the petitions were filed Monday.

SHIPPING CANTALOUPE AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, June 26.—The cantaloupe shipping season has started in the Salt River Valley, about a week ahead of expectations. Pittsburgh was the destination of the first carload. Every siding on the Santa Fe within 100 miles of the valley is filled with refrigerator cars, ready for the big rush that will start this week. It is expected that the crop will aggregate 3000 carloads.

Yuma started melon shipments much earlier than the Phoenix district, crowding Imperial Valley closely. The Yuma district has 400 acres in cantaloupes and 200 in watermelons and may ship about 400 carloads.

CANADA SUITABLE FOR SUGAR BEET CULTURE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WINNIPEG (Man.) June 26.—Development of Canada as a sugar beet producer will place the Dominion in the front rank among contributors to the world's sweet tooth in the next decade, according to a bulletin issued by the department of agriculture. "Experiments conducted by Dominion demonstration farms," the bulletin points out, "have proved that sugar beets can be successfully grown on a commercial scale in many parts of Canada. Ontario up to the present has been the principal producer, but it has been found that the prairie Provinces and British Columbia are equally well adapted to beet culture."

TEXAN IS ASSIGNED TO CHEMICAL SCHOOL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) June 26. Assigned to supervise the first institution of its kind west of the Mississippi, Maj. George M. Halloran, corps area chemical warfare officer, accompanied by Lieut. George A. MacKay, division chemical warfare officer, will leave Fort San Houston, the 28th inst., for Fort Logan, Colo., to conduct the chemical warfare service school for reserve officers. Duration of the school will be two weeks, opening July 12 next., and closing July 26. Edgewood Arsenal, Washington, D.C., and the Presidio, San Francisco, are the sites of the other chemical warfare schools in the United States.

PARIS DINERS ENJOY WHALE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, June 26.—Waiters bearing steaming plates of whale steak gave blase Paris a new sensation at the annual dinner of the Societe Nationale D'Acclimation of France. The epicures at the banquet professed that whale steak should be on all fish menus. The particular whale served at the meal came from Norway.

VANDALS DAMAGE MONUMENT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TOMBSTONE (Ariz.) June 26.—Vandals, believed to have been boys, have made an unsuccessful effort to destroy the Ed Schieffelin monument, near Tombstone. Repairs have been made by the Commercial Club.

NEGROES ELECTROCUTED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) June 26. Jack Bueter and Perk Flowers, negroes, were put to death in the electric chair at the State penitentiary here this morning. Each was convicted of murder.

GIRLS DIE UNDER TRAIN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERESFORD (S. D.) June 26.—Two girls, Gladys Kempston, 17 years of age, of Beresford and Elma Stevenson, 14, of Centerville, S. D., were ground to death under the wheels of a Northwestern freight train near Alcester, S. D., this morning, the result of a suicide pact, it is believed.

The girls, with two Beresford boys, Ralph Carlson and Edmund Ronan, about the same ages, ran away and went to Sioux City last Sunday. Their money exhausted, they started to beat their way home, but were ejected from a train at Hawarden, Iowa, and started to walk home. Near Alcester the girls complained of hunger and exhaustion, and the boys went to a farm house some distance from the tracks, to get something to eat. When they returned the train crew was picking up the bodies.

The engineer says he saw something on the track resembling an animal and sounded the whistle, at which one of the girls raised up and then immediately lay down again, but it was then too late for him to stop the train. One of the boys tells of one of the girls having threatened to commit suicide rather than return home and face humiliation for her escapade.

Penrose Buyer of Cog Railroad on Pike's Peak

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 26.—The famous cog railroad to the summit of Pike's Peak has been sold by Z. G. Simmons, head of the Simmon's Company of New York, to Spencer Penrose, a brother of the later United States Senator Penrose, it was announced yesterday. The purchase price was not stated.

Mr. Penrose bought the road as a speculation, it was said, and it will continue to run under his supervision.

The cog road was built by the late Z. G. Simmons thirty-five years ago, and since his death in 1910 it has been operated by his estate. Going up the cog road is still considered part of the trip to the peak and it has carried thousands of tourists from all parts of the world, of late years competing successfully with the automobile highway which has been built to the top of the mountain. From Manitou, Colo., the cog road runs about eleven miles to the summit, about 14,000 feet to the peak.

MEXICO PERISHABLE EXPORTS INCREASE

NEW WEST COAST RECORD REVEALED IN REPORT OF AMERICAN CONSUL

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GUAYMAS (Sonora, Mex.) June 26.—Record exports of perishable vegetable and fruit produce from the West Coast of Mexico to the United States via Nogales, Ariz., over the Southern Pacific Railway of Mexico are made known for the first time in the report of American Consul William P. Blocker here.

American capital has been responsible for approximately 90 per cent of the development of the 29,000 acres producing foodstuffs for early market of the United States.

Approximately 80,000 tons of tomatoes are lost annually because, it is said, there are no suitable provisions for canning the balance of the crop after the select fruit has been shipped to the fresh vegetable market in the State.

Cantaloupes and winter peas fell short of the estimated crops by about 50 per cent, but have shown a good profit.

Three thousand four hundred and thirty-seven carloads of perishables were shipped this year, as compared to 2696 carloads in 1924, and 2182 carloads in 1923. The largest single item of export is the tomato, which filled 2624 cars in 1925, 2048 in 1924, and 1710 cars in 1923. The increase of all perishables in 1925 was 28½ per cent over 1924.

PIONEER FREIGHTERS' ROUND-UP IS OPENED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) June 26. The sixth annual round-up of the Pioneer Freighters' Association opened today in San Antonio, and will continue tomorrow. Many of the old-timers, Mexican War veterans and Indians are attending the reunion, according to William Krempkau, secretary of the association. Tomorrow the members and their guests plan a barbecue and picnic at San Pedro Springs.

Chaplin J. Stuart Pearce, Col. William M. Atkinson, Judge James O. Luby of San Diego, and Capt. William Krempkau are the principal speakers. Five Indian captives of the old days have been invited. Ed. Tschirhart of Castorville, Tex., famous for having killed an Indian chief near Fort McKavitt, is due in San Antonio for the meeting.

Two of the seventeen Mexican War veterans alive in the United States, Amasa Clark of Bandera and David Irvin of Pilgrim, Tex., have written that they will be present.

AGREEMENT REPORT IN INHERITANCE CASE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, June 26.—Agreement is reported to have been reached under which inheritance tax will be paid in this State on about $100,000 worth of property at Nogales, owned by the estate of I. L. Ephraim, who was a resident of Rivera, Cal. After death, July 19, 1923, the property was found to have been conveyed to the widow by deeds dated in December, 1918, and April, 1922. The State set up contention that the deeds had been given in contemplation of death and that the tax therefore was due this State.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) June 26.—Harry E. Jenkins, former postmaster at the lumber camp of McNary, charged with embezzlement of government funds on ten counts, has pleaded not guilty and was given continuance of his case till the fall term of the Federal court.

Flyer Killed by Splinter From Blade of Plane

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 26. — Sergt. Douglas E. Logan, 31 years of age of the Air Service, was instantly killed at Mitchell Field when a Martin bomber was pinwheeled by a sudden gust of wind while taking off this morning.

The left propeller struck the ground, splintered and one of the fragments pierced Logan's chest as he sat in the forward cockpit where the machine gunner and observer are usually placed. First Lieutenant J. A. Wilson and two other aides escaped with a shaking-up and slight bruises. Logan came from Bisbee, Ariz.

SLAYER OF HUSBAND IS TAKEN TO PRISON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GLOBE (Ariz.) June 26.—Mrs. Ida Williams, convicted of killing her husband March 22, last, in their home here, has been taken to the State penitentiary, to serve a term of from three to five years. Her defense was that she was protecting her daughter.

RELEASE SOUGHT FOR RUM RING PRISONERS

GARY (Ind.) June 26.—Prisoners in the Gary liquor conspiracy now serving sentences in Federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., may be home by September 1., Efforts are under way to obtain their release as soon as they have served the four months necessary for parole. They entered the prison April 29, which would set the date of their possible release about September 1.

PROFESSOR SUFFERS LOSS OF MEMORY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 26.—Prof. Francis Ahlers, incumbent in the chair of English in St. Louis University, was found by Sergt. Hartley wandering in Van Cortlandt Park late yesterday in an apparently dazed condition. He was taken to the station for questioning and explained that he had been visiting a physician whose name he was unable to recall, having suffered a complete loss of memory. Later the police learned Prof. Ahlers had been the guest for several weeks of a Dr. Allen at Chappaqua, N. Y., who was notified and started for the city to take charge of him.

YANKEE FILMS LEAD IN ITALY

Country's Climate Favorable to Screen Industry

But More Rapid Progress is Made Elsewhere

Producers Ask Government to Aid Industry

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, June 26.—For several years the picture industry in Italy, which had developed rapidly and had achieved a considerable measure of success, has been in a bad position on account of its inability to meet foreign competition, not only abroad, but also in the local market, which is now dominated by the American producers according to advices to the Department of Commerce from Rome. Italy possesses not only economic advantages but also climate conditions especially favorable to the production of films and at first had set an artistic standard that was exceptionally high. However, from the technical standpoint far more rapid progress has been made elsewhere. According to an article recently published in La Tribuna the number of films produced in Italy is decidedly limited and is not more than about twenty per annum.

The same article emphasizes the strength of the competition that is being felt from the American industry which it states has reached extraordinary perfection of organization. The article states that its local market is so vast that films can be sold in Italy at prices which cannot be met by Italian producers. Furthermore, it is admitted that American films have a quality of freshness and originality which makes a strong appeal to the masses while, on the other hand, Italian films are somewhat heavy.

The Italians admit that they can only hope to succeed by improving the quality of their films to a point where they can compete, not only in the local market, but also abroad. Italy alone does not present a sufficiently wide field to justify large productions, and even if foreign films were entirely excluded the problem would not be solved. Other markets must be exploited if the local industry is to develop. The Italian producers are again appealing to the government to support their efforts, pointing out not only the necessity for protecting those who are dependent upon the motion picture industry, but also the importance of the film as a means of propaganda and of making known to the world what Italy really is. While no indication has been given as to the character of the aid that may be granted it seems probable that the elements that have brought about the continued depression will be carefully studied and an attempt will be made to put the motion picture industry in Italy on a sound basis.

TWO KILL SELVES IN PARK

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, June 26.—Two unidentified men, one about 70 years of age, the other about 50, shot and killed themselves in the Capital Park here last night and early today. One man used a rifle and the other a pistol. The police believe the men were itinerants.

CAR SOMERSAULTS IN CRASH

Two Women Narrowly Escape Death

Saved by the Staunch Coachwork

Automobile driven by Mrs. F. M. McGovern of Gardena, which stood on end in collision with a second machine yesterday at Lagoon avenue and C street, Wilmington.

MRS. F. M. McGOVERN and her sister, Mrs. Phoebe Waite, of Gardena, experienced a remarkable escape from death in Wilmington yesterday when the automobile in which they were driving collided with a car driven by Herman Theis, of 1037 West M street, Wilmington.

Mrs. McGovern's car turned completely over and came to a standstill on end against the curbing. The heavy top of the closed model was the only thing that saved the lives of both occupants, according to eye-witnesses. Both Mrs. McGovern and Mrs. Waite remained in the car while it turned over completely. Mrs. McGovern suffered a broken collar bone and minor abrasions, while Mrs. Waite and Theis were uninjured. Theis's car was damaged slightly.

Mrs. McGovern was treated by Dr. Guy Shirey, Wilmington police surgeon, and later returned to her home.

WITNESSES IN WHEELER CASE HALED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

GREAT FALLS (Mont.) June 26. Witnesses who appeared here before the grand jury which indicted Gordon Campbell, discoverer of the Kevin-Sunburst oil field, and United States Senator B. K. Wheeler, and later testified at the trials of both Campbell and Wheeler, have been subpoenaed again, this time for a grand jury investigation to be begun at Spokane, Wash., the 29th inst., it was learned here today.

The purpose of the Spokane hearing has not been learned locally, nor are the names of all the witnesses subpoenaed known. Such names of witnesses as have been learned, are those of the holders of permits which figured importantly in both the Campbell and Wheeler trials.

Senator Wheeler, accused of wrongfully using his office in behalf of oil prospecting permits in which Campbell was interested, was acquitted in the Great Falls Federal court last April. Campbell, tried later on the charge that he made illegal use of the mails in promoting an oil syndicate, was found guilty and is now under sentence to serve two and one-half years sentence at Leavenworth and to pay a $1000 fine. He has taken an appeal.

CHIDESTER FUNERAL IS SET FOR TODAY

Funeral services for William Ludlow Chidester, 67 years of age, father of Mrs. Bryant Washburn, wife of the motion-picture actor, who died suddenly last Sunday from heart trouble, will be conducted this morning at 10:30 o'clock at the chapel of the Gates, Crane & Earl Undertaking Company, 1724 Highland avenue. Both Mr. and Mrs. Washburn were in New York at the time of Mr. Chidester's death, preparing to open a new vaudeville act. They returned to Los Angeles yesterday. Mr. Chidester, who was retired from active business, with his widow, Jessie, had lived at the Washburn home for more than four years. For some time he had been in failing health. Mr. Chidester, whose former home was in Chicago, had been a member of the Hollywood Congregational Church since his arrival in Los Angeles.

PURCHASING AGENTS WILL VISIT ORANGE

INDUSTRIAL PLANTS THERE TO BE INSPECTED BY ANGELENOS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ORANGE, June 26.—The "purchasing eyes" of Los Angeles will turn toward Orange tomorrow, when nearly 100 members of the Los Angeles Purchasing Agents' Association visit this city as guests of the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce. The trip is being made for the express purpose of inspecting four local industrial plants, the largest of their kind in Southern California. The Los Angeles delegation, headed by A. E. Carlson, purchasing agent for the Pioneer Paper Company, will leave from its headquarters at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce at 8 a.m.

On arrival here about 10 a.m. the visitors will be met by the industrial committee of the local chamber and taken through the plants of the California Wire and Cable Company, the Western Cordage Company, the West Coast Textile Company and the California Cordage Company.

Fire Patrols of Forests to Use Army Airplanes

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—During the summer of 1925 close co-operation will result between the Army Air Service and the Department of Agriculture in forest fire patrols, Ninth Corps Area Headquarters has been ordered by the War Department to turn over to the Forestry Service ten airplanes to be used in discovering fires. Countless fires were detected last summer by aerial patrols, in time to extinguish them before great damage was done, and this year, owing to the greater number of planes in use, even better results are expected. The Department of Agriculture is going to man the airplanes this year, under guidance and advice from the Army Air Service.

One Army officer is to be detailed in charge of flying operations of the fire patrol. Otherwise the Department of Agriculture will be responsible for the planes, their maintenance and repair, and at the end of the season they will be returned to the control of the Army. The planes will be furnished from the Air Service Depot at Rockwell Field, San Diego, Cal.

ON RECORD SUBMITTED

Million-Dollar Harbor Project Sought

Dutch Gets Offers Less Than Estimates

Stone from Inland Quarries to Be Used in Work

[Times Staff Correspondent]

SAN DIEGO, June 26. —Bids submitted in the United States opened in the office of Major Windham here today when a number of firms seeking the contract for construction of the Long Beach breakwater, moles and docks submitted bids for the work. After an examination of bids submitted, it was announced that the rock for the breakwater will be brought to the city by rail from the interior.

The Pacific Construction Company of Oakland, Cal. and Portland, Ore. was the lowest bidder with a bid of $1.70 a ton, which is from 30 cents below the engineers' estimates.

Some of the materials were furnished by the company, who will get the rock would come. It is said that the Hauser Company has a contract from the Department of Interior in Riverside County for the Hauser quarries near Elsinore, and that the contract for 1,000,000 tons for $850,000 according to the bid.

Other bidders were: United Concrete Pipe Company, with a bid of $1,000,000 per ton; W. A. Bechtel Company of Los Angeles, at $1.93 per ton; Contracting Company of San Francisco, at $2.20 per ton for the entire job of $2,147,000; Dravo Contracting Company of Pittsburgh, and William Simpson Construction Company of Los Angeles, with a bid of $2.47 per ton for the whole job.

The bids will be analyzed by Colonel R. Johnston, harbor engineer in charge of the work, and a final award is made, it is said, this afternoon.

Officials of railroads entering San Diego have proved a big factor in the fight on the outer-harbor construction project and by means of saving the city the first $300,000. The City Council office was filled with engineers and their representatives when the bids were opened. It was confidentially expected that some of the bidders would withdraw their bids when Catalina Island rock was found to be in the harbor. Prices were changed at the last minute, it was said.

GAS FIRE AT TAFT FATAL TO WORKER

Believed to Have Lighted Cigarette While Watching Well Spudded In

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TAFT, June 26.—W. R. Holmes, 43 years of age, an employee of the Pacific Oil Company, was fatally burned and John Pierson, a fellow-employee, was seriously burned in a gas flare at the well on which they were working late last night. Holmes died at the West Side Hospital at 6 o'clock this morning.

Witnesses of the accident said Holmes was standing on a platform beside the oil flume from the well, which was being spudded in. A few moments before he had been seen to have an unlighted cigarette and match in his hand. The explosion came just as he stepped from the platform. Although the gas flared up instantly it failed to ignite the oil, averting a serious fire.

Pierson, seeing his fellow-worker enveloped in a sheet of flame, sprang to his aid and attempted to tear the burning clothes from Holmes's body. Pierson's hands and arms were burned in the attempt.

Loss of Fines No Hardship to Inglewood City

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, June 26.—Inglewood will not be affected to any appreciable extent by the recent ruling of the Supreme Court of the State that all fines, bonds, forfeitures and proceeds from the sale of confiscated cars as the result of violations of State laws must be turned into the County Treasury, it was stated today by Judge A. F. Monroe of the local Police Court.

"When I learned of the decision in a case similar to those now pending, I communicated with the County Counsel and asked his advice as to what I should do with the funds collected from liquor charges," said the judge. "The County Counsel advised me to put the money in the City Treasury, as I had been doing. I have done so, and I don't anticipate any trouble.

"We get very few bootleggers in Inglewood," said the judge further, "and the taxes are not very big. If it comes to a point where we are forced to turn over to the county all the money we have taken in from such sources we can do so without raising the city taxes 1 cent. Inglewood, unlike some other cities, does not depend upon fines for its revenue."

VAN NUYS CANNERY TO OPEN NEXT WEEK

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VAN NUYS, June 26.—It was announced today by officials in charge of the Fred B. Neuhoff cannery that it will reopen again early next week and will continue through the apricot, peach and tomato-packing seasons. Since the closing down of the plant at the finish of the last spinach-packing season Manager Gammon has been in Porterville in charge of the Neuhoff plant there. He will return here next week to direct opening operations. It is not given out yet how large the Van Nuys apricot pack will be this year, but it is understood from those at the plant that all apricots that can be contracted for will be canned. Already good-sized contracts have been signed with apricot, peach and tomato growers, and the local plant will make an effort to keep apace with business done last season. More than 100 employees will be used.

HUSBAND'S WORD GOOD

Outweighs That of Wife Charging He Hastened Her Life in Lonely Mountains

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA ANA, June 26.—The tale of how he had kidnaped his wife, took her to the mountains and there menaced her with a large knife, was discredited in justice court by Leonard B. Hewetson, on trial for assault with a deadly weapon, and as a result he was dismissed.

Hewetson and Mrs. Hewetson were married. Mrs. Mary Hewetson, after suing her husband for divorce, charged in court that he had kidnaped her and threatened her with a gun in an effort to force her not to sue for divorce.

When the husband took the stand he told an entirely different story and denied every charge that had been made. He admitted that he had gone to the home and that was that he found there with whom he caught his wife, a sensation was created when the defense attorney, Allen, 21 years of age, declared he was willing to be declared indiscretions of Atkin was called to admit a previously to ask as to what trans-

ENDEAVORERS BREAK RECORD

State Convention at San Diego Largest in History

More Than Three Thousand Delegates Attending

All Members to Take Part in Huge Parade

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, June 26.—Attendance records for California Christian Endeavor conventions have been broken by the arrival of additional delegates from up-state points, the total number registered today passing the 3500 mark, it was announced at convention headquarters.

Sessions at the Civic Auditorium this morning brought out the biggest attendance of the convention. The afternoon was given over to outings, about one third of the delegates and visitors being taken in special trains to the new seaside resort at Mission Beach for an afternoon of rest and recreation.

Other large groups were taken on automobile rides through Balboa Park and to points of interest near by.

At tonight's meeting the principal address was given by Rev. Harry Rimmer, evangelist of Los Angeles, whose subject was "Preparation for the Life that Wins."

A parade in which all of the delegates and visitors will participate will be held tomorrow afternoon. This will be one of the features of the closing day of the convention.

Pasadena Finds Wide Colorado Street Costly

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, June 26.—Cost of slashing a few feet off several eight-story buildings and the widening of Colorado street, Pasadena's principal thoroughfare, from Broadway to Orange Grove avenue, will amount to approximately $1,400,000, it was announced here today.

For more than ten years a movement has been under way to bring about the widening of Colorado street, which now varies in width from sixty-five feet to 100 feet. Until now, however, no actual steps have been taken on the project. It will be the most drastic improvement ever undertaken in Pasadena, it is said.

Danger of Colorado street becoming a cow path was cited by Pearle Pyle, land agent for the city, who made the estimate of cost.

"Because of the fact that Green street and Holly street are to be much wider Colorado street will become nothing more than a cow path if it, too, is not widened," Mr. Pyle asserted.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VAN NUYS, June 26.—It is announced today that the matter of Van Nuys obtaining a Western Union Telegraph office will be settled early next week when the Railroad Commission will hold a public hearing here on the question. Leading citizens will take part at the hearing and furnish evidences of the difficulties that daily are encountered because of the lack of telegraph service out of the community. About a year ago the telegraph office was removed from the local Southern Pacific depot, since which time the only rapid communicative service has been by telephone, relayed into the Western Union offices in Los Angeles. The hearing will be conducted in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, and all business men have been invited to attend and show their respective difficulties through the lack of service now sought.

MOTHER TO SEE SON BEFORE EXECUTION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, June 26.—In response to a popular appeal, citizens have subscribed a fund of $350 which will be given Mrs. Julia Montijo to enable her to make a final visit to her son, Ed Montijo, 19 years of age, who, with two others, was convicted of killing a Los Angeles policeman. The boy is under sentence to hang at Folsom Prison, July 10. Recently Mrs. Montijo, who is practically penniless, appealed to Gov. Richardson to save the boy from the gallows. It is her plan to visit the chief executive and ask for commutation of the sentence to life imprisonment and then to see her son.

MURDER TRIAL AT SAN DIEGO MONDAY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, June 26.—Thomas A. Johnson and Hugh McGovern, asserted Chicago gunmen, charged with the murder of George Byrnes, a companion, will go on trial here Monday morning in Superior Judge Lacy Jennings's court. The crime, one of the most brutal in the city's history, was believed to have been committed in a bungalow, the body later being thrown in a vacant field north of the city. The evidence against the pair is strongly circumstantial. Since their arrest three months ago they have refused to discuss the case.

LOVE FINDS PATH ROUGH

Upland Boy and Girl Finally Wed After Two Runins With Strong Arm of Law

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

UPLAND, June 26.—Proving the old adage that "love will find a way," Harry Speiser, 21-year-old lumber-yard worker and his bride, formerly Miss Edith Perry, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Perry of East Eleventh street, were back in Upland from Mexicali today and by way of proving that their third matrimonial attempt was successful, were displaying a Mexican marriage certificate.

Some ten days ago Miss Perry caused a sensation when, clad only in a filmy nightgown, she slipped from the window of her locked bedroom and with her mother in hot pursuit, was spirited away in Speiser's flivver en route to Santa Ana. The girl's parents, failing to overtake her, appealed to the Upland police, who, broadcast the elopement to Southern California officers with the result that the modern Lochinvar was arrested on a charge of child stealing when the couple applied for a marriage license at the Orange county Gretna Green.

After Speiser had languished in jail for twenty-four hours, the Perrys finally relented and decided that the young lumber-yard worker might wed their daughter and the case against him was dismissed.

It was then that a new obstacle presented itself in the form of an edict from Dist.-Atty. George H. Johnson to the effect that the girl could not legally become Speiser's wife under the laws of California even with the consent of her parents until she became 18 years of age, next September.

Nothing daunted, Speiser and Miss Perry the night of the former's release from jail, drove to the Imperial Valley. Unfortunately for them, however, Chief of Police Sawyer of Upland had failed to countermand the earlier order for Speiser's arrest following his apprehension at Santa Ana, so when they applied for a marriage license at El Centro, he was again taken into custody. When called by long-distance telephone, Chief Sawyer informed El Centro officer that the case against Speiser had been dismissed, but vouchsafed the information that the girl was not of legal marriage age.

Foiled the second time, but still nothing daunted, the couple returned once more to Upland only to set off on a third jaunt to Hymen's altar. This time they took Miss Perry's father with them and went to Mexicali, Lower California, where the marriage laws are declared more conducive to romance than here, and now at last they are home as man and wife.

Plan Community Chest for Santa Monica District

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, June 26.—So that residents of this city may not be called upon to assist charitable organizations during the year with the making of several contributions, plans are being sponsored by the Santa Monica-Ocean Park Chamber of Commerce for a community chest. Definite arrangements are being completed to stage an extensive drive for community chest funds early in September.

It is planned by chamber members to conduct the local chest in much the same manner as has been adopted by many large California cities. All the organizations which now stage drives for funds will submit a budget to the local chamber body. One large drive will be staged to cover the cost of all.

According to an announcement of M. C. McKenney, secretary of the local chamber, this method will mean a saving of hundreds of hours of wasted time by individual drives staged at different periods throughout the year. It will also be a more efficient method of handling the whole situation, he contends.

The community chest idea will also result in larger contributions, it is pointed out, inasmuch as it will eliminate any question of being approached for donations several times during the year. Persons will give more liberally if they realize they have only one donation to make during the entire season, McKenny states.

TO AWARD TROPHIES

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, June 26.—The three trophies awarded as prizes for the three best floats in the monster parade staged by the Bay Merchants' Association in connection with "Buy at home" week, Tuesday, will be presented to winners by Mayor J. C. Steele in the Municipal Auditorium, Saturday night.

In addition to the trophies to be awarded winners in the best-way contest staged in connection with the week will be awarded cash prizes. The four best essays submitted on why persons should patronize home industry will afford their writers $15, $10 and $5 prizes in four separate divisions.

According to statements of W. C. Bull, general chairman of the week, the campaign has done much to educate bay residents of the value to be derived by trading at home. Sales were staged in connection with the campaign and merchants report one of the heaviest weeks in their history.

THEATER GUILD WILL GIVE PLAY TUESDAY

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, June 26.—The fourth comedy of the season is to be presented by the Santa Monica Community Theater Guild, Tuesday evening in the local high-school auditorium, when Oscar Wilde's "Lady Windermere's Fan" will be given. The leading feminine role in the satirical farce will be played by Mary Isabelle Alpaugh of Los Angeles, ingenue with the Dobinson Players, when they recently played in the Philharmonic auditorium in "Manna." She will be cast as Lady Windermere. William Buchanan Farrell will play Windermere, James Fisher, Lord Darlington and Mrs. Harry Gorham, the Duchess of Berwick. Elizabeth Martyn, wife of Wyndham Martyn, well-known novelist, will appear in the famous role of Mrs. Erlynne. Richard Ehlers is also cast in the production. The direction of the comedy will be under the supervision of Robert Hutton, director of the organization.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, June 26. — Calling for the separation of El Segundo from the Inglewood Union High-School District, petitions are being circulated here and throughout the district, which includes the two cities named, Hawthorne, and the unincorporated communities of Lennox, Lawndale and Wiseburn. The Inglewood Chamber of Commerce has gone on record at the instance of Attorney Newcomb Condee, in reiteration of its promise made some eighteen months ago, that if El Segundo at that time would support a $200,000 bond issue for the building of a new fine-arts building, gymnasium and swimming-pool, that when El Segundo desired to withdraw from the district, there would be no opposition from the Inglewood chamber.

BURBANK SCOUTS IN CAMP AT BIG PINE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SLAYS MOUNTAIN LION ON CALABASAS RANCH

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

CALABASAS, June 26.—T. T. Walker, who lives on the Agoure ranch near here, killed a mountain lion, which was prowling about the place at 4 o'clock in the morning. He heard one of the ranch dogs barking, and opened the door of the ranch-house to see what was annoying the stock. Fifty feet away stood the mountain lion. Walker grabbed his gun and killed the beast after giving it a short chase. The mountain lion measured seven feet from nose to tip of tail. Walker has turned the hide over to a taxidermist who will make a rug of it.

BANDIT PAIR SOUGHT

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK, June 26.—Burbank police were conducting an extended search today for two highwaymen who held up two couples today near the city, taking only cash from their victims and refusing jewelry and watches.

Thomas Wells of 1030 Cypress avenue, Burbank, and a woman companion were held up by the gunmen near the entrance to the Lasky studio ranch on Dark Canyon Drive. The bandits took $11 from Wells but returned the woman's diamond ring with the statement that it was money they wanted and not jewelry. They then walked away into the darkness.

It was so dark at the time, Wells told police, that he was unable to see either gunmen well enough to give a description. One, he said, was short and the other tall. The smaller bandit was masked.

A short time before the same two bandits overtook Otis Tipps and his sister as they were returning home from a dance. Tipps was robbed of $11 in cash. The two victims were halted near the wash at the end of Verdugo Road with a command to throw their hands up and the bandits, after taking Tipps's money, walked away.

Police believe the bandits have gone to Los Angeles.

NINE CHILDREN BASE OF CHARGE

Father Accused of Leaving Them in Want

Described as Somewhat of Gay Lothario by Wife

Appears Meek and Humble on Being Arrested

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ONTARIO, June 26.—Alleged to have deserted his wife and nine children three years ago, thereby forcing the mother to go into the fields of Coachella Valley to pick cotton to support her family, George T. Jackson, 60 years of age, was today held in jail to await preliminary examination in default of bail fixed by Judge Holbrook at $2000, following his arrest on complaint of the wife, Mary Jackson, charging failure to provide.

Described by his wife as something of a gay Lothario, who informed her that he needed his money for other women and would contribute nothing to the support of his numerous family, Jackson, a little old gray and baldheaded man, appeared decidedly meek and humble following his arrest.

According to Jackson, his wife is 43 years of age and they were married in Texas twenty-four years ago, coming to California five years ago.

Mrs. Jackson asserted in court today that, while her husband deserted her with nine children, one has since died. In her complaint she charges Jackson with failure to provide for the five youngest of the remaining eight, including Eddie Jackson, aged 4; Gussie, 7; Marvin, 9; Grace, 11, and Clay, 14. She asserted that the boy Clay had been with his father a good share of the time since her husband's desertion and that as a result had twice been sent to the Whittier Reform School.

Three months ago the mother got the boy out of the reformatory on the promise to the authorities that he would not go back to his father. Mrs. Jackson recently came to Ontario seeking work in the fruit canneries and, with her children, is residing at Garfield avenue and Washington street. Jackson, who has been employed at a lemon house here for the past four months, resides at Eighth street and Second avenue. He claims that Mrs. Jackson deserted him and that a red-headed man figures in their domestic troubles.

Angeleno Aids Burbank Fight on Annexation

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK, June 26.—George D. Blair, a Los Angeles attorney, who has been waging a winning fight for Cypress avenue residents to save their street from destruction by heavy truck traffic, told 200 citizens gathered at the Edison school, that one of the best reasons the city has for voting against consolidation with Los Angeles is the smaller city's superior legislation and street control.

Mr. Blair said that Burbank's ordinances restricting heavy traffic were way ahead of those of any other city in Southern California, and had stood the test in every court in which they had been argued before.

Judge I. S. Watson gave a convincing talk on Los Angeles' bonded indebtedness and the share which would have to be assumed by Burbank in the event of annexation. Judge Watson wanted to know what Burbank would get out of these bond issues before voting to assume what would be its proportionate share. He declared there was no one in a position to promise Burbank one single penny.

Dr. V. M. Crause assailed the arguments of the consolidation forces. L. H. Morgan and L. H. Boydston all spoke against annexation.

BAKERSFIELD MAN KILLED BY FALL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, June 26.—Tianquerino B. Lopez, aged 46, died in a local hospital early today as the result of injuries received when he fell a distance of twenty-five feet from a ladder upon which he was working at the new cotton compress building northwest of Bakersfield.

According to his fellow-workers, Lopez had taken a drink of ice water just before ascending the ladder. It is believed he was overcome by the heat and fainted, or was temporarily blinded by the sun.

The deceased had resided in this city for a number of years. He is survived by his widow and two young sons in Arizona, another son, Fred A. Lopez, and a daughter, who reside in this city.

WOMEN INJURED IN CRASH OF TRUCKS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ONTARIO, June 26. — Mrs. Geneva Banales and Miss Mary Banales sustained deep cuts on head and face and painful bruises about their bodies, when a light truck driven by P. Banales, in which they were riding, struck a loaded truck broadside at A street and Central avenue today. The Banales, traveling east on A street were en route from their home in Claremont to the Merrill ranch, to the southeast of Ontario and the truck going north on Central avenue, was driven by Thomas Peterson of Chino. The injured women were taken to the office of Dr. J. H. Titus, where it was found necessary to take several stitches to close their wounds. Mr. Banales escaped serious injury.

UNIQUE RIDE TO OPEN ON VENICE PIER

Giant Flying Circus Will be Used by Public First Time Tomorrow

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, June 26.—Following more than three years of untiring efforts on the part of the Amusement Engineering Company, a new ride, destined to mark an epoch in outside amusements, will be given to a pleasure-loving public when the Flying Circus will be opened Sunday in the north side of the Venice pier zone.

This new ride, which was a product of the brain of the late John Metzger, is gigantic in its proportions and was constructed at the cost of $250,000.

Briefly, the new thrill ride will carry 1400 passengers an hour and consists of six cars or miniature airplanes, in which the patron experiences all the joys of a real ride in the clouds. More than 1000 tons of steel were used in the construction of the ride. It is more than 100 feet in height and capable of carrying forty-eight persons at one ride.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, June 26.—Starting new proceedings for the paving of Main street, the Alhambra City Commission met this morning and adopted a resolution of intention to pave the street from the east to the west city limits with asphaltic concrete, thus settling, at least until the date for protests, which was set for July 13, the controversy among property owners as to the type of paving.

The old proceedings calling for the paving of half of the street with cement concrete and the other half with asphaltic concrete were abandoned, the contractors that had previously been awarded the contracts having failed to sign at the expiration of the time limit at midnight Wednesday.

If the new proceedings go through without any hitch, actual construction of paving may start early in August. City officials met in a long session last night with A. E. Monroe, representing Arthur Ellis, said to be an authority on municipal improvement acts, and the new papers were gone over carefully so that flaws which were said to have been in the old proceedings might be avoided.

Burbank Board Delays Action on University Site

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK, June 26. — The Burbank Board of Trustees in an adjourned meeting deferred action of the deeding of the 129 acres of Stough Park to the proposed University of International Relations. The action was delayed after City Attorney Kirk explained he had not had time to complete the necessary details.

Ben Marks of the Southern California Corporation, owners of the original Stough ranch, suggested that action be deferred until the most minute details of the transfer could be worked out and the board acted on his suggestion.

Some opposition to the transfer of the property has been made manifest and the question is expected to be up for discussion at next week's meeting of the board.

BURBANK SERVICE CLUBS IN MEETING

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK, June 26. — The unity gathering of the Burbank service clubs, the Optimists, the Rotary and Kiwanis, which was arranged by the Kiwanians, manifested a rare spirit of good fellowship and co-operation when the members of the three organizations met at the Woman's clubhouse.

Bishop Stevens, a member of the Los Angeles Kiwanis, was the speaker of the day, and delivered an address which was an appeal for a high ideal in service.

Governor Settles San Diego, Imperial Controversy

Summer Cottage Residents Strong Protestants

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICALI, June 26.—Efforts on the part of a group of American and Mexican operators to secure a concession for the opening of a new liquor and gambling resort opposite Jacumba on the San Diego-Imperial Valley highway met with opposition from an unexpected source today when Gov. Abelardo Rodrigues of Lower California stated that Mexico authorities would not approve the opening of an international port at Jacumba.

The Governor's announcement definitely settles a controversy that has stirred considerable interest in San Diego and Imperial counties since the plan for a new port first became known several weeks ago.

Large numbers of residents in the two southern counties who have summer cottages in the mountain district adjacent to Jacumba have been making vigorous protests to the Treasury Department at Washington against the granting of the application for a new port at this point.

Washington has not yet acted on the application, but Gov. Rodrigues's announcement definitely sets at rest any fear on the part of mountain property owners that a new Mexicali or Tia Juana vice district will threaten the sobriety or peace of the summer colony.

PAVING WAR LOOMS AT SANTA BARBARA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, June 26.—The Santa Barbara City Council has named a committee of four citizens to investigate alleged defective paving on King Albert Boulevard, which has been the subject of bitter dispute for a week. The paving war is recognized by certain officials as a dispute between domestic Portland cement interests and contractors now using imported Belgian cement. An official of the cement association launched the investigation here and secured official action. The investigating committee consists of Fred L. Johnson, former City Manager; County Engineer Owen H. O'Neill, W. E. Hodges, retired Santa Fe Railroad official, and Jay Smedley, secretary of the Building Trades Council. Charges that contractors have ignored plans and specifications have been made and denied.

REFEREE BUTCHER IS ASKED TO RECONSIDER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, June 26.—Referee W. P. Butcher, Jr., has been asked by certain Lewis creditors to reconsider his resignation and continue his duties here, it became known today. While Butcher declined to comment on the report, he says that he had not been officially approached. He inferred, however, that with the backing of a group of creditors he might reconsider it. At the time of his resignation, which has not yet been accepted, he expressed dissatisfaction over the land settlement proposal of Trustee Rutherford.

PLEADS GUILTY, NOW YOUTH AWAITS TRIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CORCORAN, June 26. — Harry Jones, aged 19, has the local record for breaking laws. George Brashear and Mrs. M. Richmond of this city accuse him of beating board and rent bills, and he was also accused of reckless auto driving, excessive speed, no lights and no license plates. He pleaded guilty in Justice Hurlburt's court yesterday afternoon to beating room and board bills, and reckless driving, and was held for trial.

J. M. SAWVILL

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SOUTH GATE, June 26.—The funeral services of the late J. M. Sawvill, 64 years of age, a prominent contractor, were held here yesterday afternoon, after which the body was shipped to Iowa for burial. Deceased had been ill only a few days. He had been a resident of California for four years.

UNION DEMANDS OPPOSED

Fresno Teamsters Attempt to Tie Up Ice Cream Men With New Contract Being Fought

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, June 26.—Demand of union teamsters employed by Fresno ice cream companies for a wage increase of $1 per day, shortening of the working day from nine to eight hours and other concessions tending to strengthen the union's position will be vigorously opposed by the Benham Ice Cream Company and Fresno Industries, Inc., manufacturers affected, according to a letter sent by the employers to the union secretary today.

The employers say they are willing to renew last year's agreement which expired March 1, but that they will not sign the new one recently placed before them by the union.

Some of the main points of objection in the new agreement are: A clause prohibiting employment of labor except through the union; the provision that shipping clerks, assistants, packers, platform men and garage roustabouts be unionized; prohibition of delivery of ice cream by union drivers to any person or concern on the unfair list of the union; denial of the right of the companies to discharge any union employe except on six days notice or in lieu of that notice, six days pay; provision that before an employe may be laid off he be given six days notice, or six days pay in lieu thereof; detailing of an employe to act in fact as business agent for the union to ascertain as a "checker" whether the employes are members of the union or have made application for membership.

No strike or walkout of the teamsters will take place until peaceful negotiations have proven futile, union officials declared today.

Wages now paid drivers and helpers are $5.75 and $4.75 a day, respectively. The union at a special meeting last night voted to refuse to renew the old agreement carrying this scale.

About seventy men are affected by the controversy.

ZULUS ASK FOR AUTONOMY

Chief Solomon Presents Plea to Prince of Wales as Warriors Give Barbaric Dances

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1925, by United States and Canada by North American Newspaper Alliance. Great Britain, London Daily Mail. South America, United Press.]

DURBAN (Natal) June 26.—The Zulu is the Prussian of the Negro races. He is a warrior from birth, and even today he keeps all the military traditions of his race unbroken.

The war dances which the Zulus gave for the Prince of Wales during the latter's visit to Exhowe were as fine a barbaric spectacle as could be found anywhere in the world. Two thousand warriors, naked except for a feathered loincloth or a girdle of leopard-skin, danced their homage to the royal visitor.

In lines of 400 abreast, they advanced toward him, chanting their low hoarse battle song, and every few steps springing forward with a stamp-stamp so perfectly timed that the simultaneous thud literally shook the ground.

ZULU PARADE

Later in the day, a parade of 5000 Zulus took place, the finest thing of its kind in South Africa. For hours, the close columns marched over the grass-covered hills, chanting in deep bass the songs of battles fought long ago in days when the Zulus were the most dreaded warriors of all Africa. Thousands more cantered on ponies under streaming clouds of dust, all carrying the characteristic oval shields.

There was something of an anticlimax in the fact that the place where these maneuvers were conducted was a golf-links, where Rugby goal-posts showed above the frenzied feathered heads and the far-stretching semicircle of braves, their massive brown bodies naked save for girdles and multitudinous armlets of steel or copper.

In front of the dais where the Prince sat, was a large zebra skin, around which gathered the principal chiefs of Zululand. Solomon, the highest in dignity because of his direct descent from the great chief Cetewayo, was the spokesman of the occasion. The Zulus are eager for some measure of self-government, and Solomon's speech stressed this aspiration.

When the Prince, in his gorgeous red uniform of the Welsh Guards, rose to reply, the royal salute of the Zulus, "Bayete! Bayete!" broke from the dense packed mass in a deep-swelling barbaric roar. Long after it died down in front, it still came rolling in sonorous waves from the great semicircle of natives crowning the sky-line of the encircling downs. From a half-mile away, the salute came to the royal dais with the effect of a resounding surge of the sea.

A great ceremonial dance in the afternoon afforded the climax of the day. Four hundred warriors, averaging at least 200 pounds in weight, with great, naked fleshy bodies highly polished and shining under the huge headdresses of black feather plumes, advanced on the Prince to a unison of chanting, in a series of bounds so heavy that the earth shook beneath their tread. Threateningly they brandished sticks on shields. Behind them marched a rear-guard of shrill-voiced girls, whose squeals aroused the perspiring warriors to hoarse frenzy.

STAND BEFORE PRINCE

In due course, these Zulu maidens advanced, to stand in a long line before the Prince, chanting, stamping and clapping their hands in barbaric unison. Meanwhile the warriors were dancing in thousands. In a close line of shields they would charge down the hillside or, breaking ranks, hurl themselves against each other in a sham battle with loud clashing of sticks beating on shields.

In one final charge, the whole black avalanche swept down on the Prince's dais so fiercely and so closely packed that several of the chiefs dashed among their followers beating them vigorously with sticks, for fear their vehemence might get out of control.

Oleomargarine Tax Law Goes Before Voters

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, June 26.—The referendum against the law to levy a 2 cents per pound tax on oleomargarine manufactured in California qualified today when 13,000 additional signatures were filed with Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan. In all, 54,369 signatures have been filed, while 48,289 were needed. Qualification of the referendum means that the law will not become effective until the electors of the State have passed upon it in November, 1926.

STATE MAY CONDEMN LAND FOR GAME FARM

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, June 26.—Atty.-Gen. Webb ruled today that the State Fish and Game Commission has the authority in law to condemn land needed for the establishment of game farms. The commission proposes to establish a farm in the foothills of Sacramento county but the owner of part of the tract selected refuses to sell. The question of condemnation was then laid before Webb by the commission and it is likely a court action will result in view of his ruling.

MIDDLE WEST NEWS IN BRIEF

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OMAHA, June 26.—State Senator George C. Humphrey died at his home in Grand Island after an illness of several months. He was one of a few left in this age who voted for the re-election of President Lincoln, being just old enough to vote at that time, 1864.

Henry Peters, 74 years of age, pioneer Fremont business man, died after an illness of several months.

Nebraska farmers received $103,-202,420 for hogs marketed in 1924, according to a report compiled by the State and Federal division of agricultural statistics. This is an average of $372 a farm. The total hogs marketed were 6,437,960, the average weight being 245 pounds. The average price paid was $6.85 a hundred, and $16.80 was the average price a head.

MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, June 26. — A replevin action as the first step in a $50,000 damage suit against a Milwaukee hospital was filed by Mrs. Hilda Bardew, Milwaukee, seeking recovery of a set of parathyroid glands which she asserts were removed from her throat when she was operated on for goiter.

Dr. Emma I. Hart left Wednesday for California, where she will remain until September.

DES MOINES

DES MOINES, June 26. — Suit for an absolute divorce from Hamilton (Hal) Carpenter, secretary and treasurer of the Federal Bridge Company has been started by Mrs. Susan Ida Carpenter, who charges cruel and inhuman treatment. Both principals in the suit are prominent in social circles of Des Moines. Besides a divorce, Mrs. Carpenter seeks $60,000 in alimony.

AKRON

AKRON, June 26. — Summit county crops are in danger of serious damage because of the prolonged drought, County Agent H. H. Claypool reports. Complaints from farmers indicate that wheat, oats, potatoes and many early vegetables have been hard hit because of insufficient moisture. Corn is the only crop which has not suffered to any extent.

Akron is the fifth city in Ohio in the valuation of new buildings started in the first five months of this year, according to statistics issued yesterday by Philip Gott, secretary of the Ohio State Association of Builders Exchanges. Cleveland ranks first with $38,491,550; Cincinnati second, $15,052,880; Columbus third, $10,877,400; Toledo fourth, $6,601,233 and Akron fifth, $6,696,600.

DETROIT

DETROIT, June 26. — After a three months' illness, John Kerwin, for thirty years associated with the D. S. R. and one of the most prominent street railway engineers in the Middle West, died at his residence, 1764 East Grand Boulevard. As the superintendent of way and structures of the company from 1900 until 1922, when he retired at the advent of the D.S.R., Kerwin had charge of all city and interurban construction and was largely responsible for the expansion and improvements in electric railways in Detroit and the interurban lines to Toledo, Jackson, Flint and Pontiac.

Maryin M. Andrews, 86 years of age, well-known banker, died at his home in Bay City. He was for many years cashier and manager of the old Second National Bank, which consolidated with the Commercial and Peoples Savings Bank.

Word from Marlette says Oscar Turner, 13 years of age, son of Mrs. John Turner, was struck and killed by a lightning bolt as an electric storm swept that district. The boy was unhitching a team of horses in the field where he and his mother had been cultivating corn. The horses were also killed and Mrs. Turner was knocked to the ground but was uninjured.

LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, June 26. — Mrs. Julia M. Bush, 65 years of age, widow of Samuel T. Bush, is dead after an illness of a year at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Rosa C. Higdon, 119 East Burnett avenue. Mrs. Bush, who was a native of Indianapolis, was a great granddaughter of Bishop Joshua Soule, a famous prelate of the Southern Diocese of the Methodist Episcopal Church. She had spent most of her life in Kentucky, coming to Louisville from Owensboro in 1914. She was a member of the Walnut Street Baptist Church.

Mrs. T. K. Woods, 76, one of the wealthiest women in Marshall county, died at her home in East Benton following a short attack of indigestion. Mrs. Woods, with Mr. Woods, moved to Benton a number of years ago from Oak Level. Mr. Woods succumbed to infirmities about three years ago.

Mrs. H. J. Jake, 60, for forty years prominent in the business and religious life of Owensboro, was found dead in her home at 611 St. Ann street. Death was attributed to heart failure.

DEATH KNELL FOR LIBERALS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

HALIFAX (N. S.) June 26.—The forty-three-year reign of the Liberal party in Nova Scotia has ended.

Forty conservatives were elected to the Legislature. The Liberals appear to have retained three seats. All five Laborites were defeated, including those in Cape Breton, where the strike of 12,000 United Mine Workers is on.

E. N. Rhodes, conservative leader, who will succeed as Premier, stands committed to a policy of economy. Conservatives also called for an audit of finances and an investigation of the mine strike.

A Conservative government has been in power only three years since 1867 and never since 1886.

CHIVALROUS BOY LOSES EYE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WICHITA (Kan.) June 26.—The chivalry of Elmer Henderson, 13 years of age, cost him the sight of one eye and perhaps of both.

Elmer was attacked with a pitchfork yesterday when he warned three men against insulting a party of three girl bathers in the Little Arkansas River, north of here.

Both of his eyes were punctured by tines of the fork. His right eye was destroyed and physicians said it may be necessary to remove his left eye also.

Harry Parsons, 20, and Paul Rowley, 16, both of Augusta, Kan., are in jail charged with the attack.

Two Missing as Steamer Upsets Fishing Vessels

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND (Or.) June 26.—Two men are missing as the result of two fishing boats being upset in a collision off the mouth of the Columbia River last night with the steamer West Nomentum, said a radio report received by the Federal Telegraph Company here today from the Columbia River lightship. Crews from the lightship rescued two men from the gasoline fishing schooner Nena Mosha. Two others of the Nena Mosha crew were missing today.

The men missing are Einar Olsen, fisherman, and Elter Nelson, navigator, both believed to be from Portland. The men rescued were John Olsen, father of Einar Olsen, and Fred K. Olsen, not a relative. All these men were on the Nena Mosha. No report of any survivors of the second fishing boat in the collision had been reported.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

CARDIFF (Wales) June 26.—The Episcopalian Archbishop of Wales and representatives of the Congregational and Methodist churches who were guest speakers at today's session of the Presbyterian Alliance Council, advanced the plea that all Christian churches co-operate with one another. This move, they said, might be hoped to lead eventually to consolidation of all Christian churches.

The Archbishop read a paper saying his church had gone so far as to express willingness to meet with other denominations to discuss consolidation.

Burns and Yarrison on Hill for Northern Nine

BY ROBERT E. RAY

Those visiting Portland Beavers in their daily offering from the Salem Tigers, whose gums are getting so soft that they cannot even attempt to devour a Beaver, Duck or what have you, Dennis Burns and Rube Yarrison combining to hurl Duffy-Lewis's clan to a 6-to-2 victory over the retreating home guards. It was the third straight victory for the Beavers who are beginning to wish they could play the Tigers every day.

Six innings Ed Bryan and Burns engaged in a hurling duel with honors even, but in the seventh the Ducks stepped out and tied up a brace of markers when Bill Essick's strategy went wrong. The locals got one of the runs back in the eighth when Burns was lifted in favor of Yarrison, but the Ducks clinched, iced the game and put the game in lavender in the ninth when they batted Bryan from the picture and added three more runs to their total. Wee Lucas came to Bryan's rescue in the final frame, but the damage had been done.

The Tigers warmed up to a one-run lead in the second inning when Jimmy McDowell started things by lacing a safety to left. Burns rapped a hit right through the center of the diamond, the ball hitting Burns's glove on its way to the outfield. McDowell went to third on the poke, but Warner was out trying to stretch the blow

BRILLIANT PLAY

The French youngster played brilliant all-around tennis, which was covered by super cross-court drives, while Casey's most dangerous weapon outside his service was a smashing forehand drive which, however, often landed in the net.

Mac Smith With 303 Score Annexes Fourth-Place Honors in Great Tournament at Prestwick

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PRESTWICK (Scotland) June 26.—The British open golf championship will be carried back to the United States by "Long Jim" Barnes, who won it today. His score of 300 strokes for the 72 holes over links at Prestwick led all the others of the eighty-three competitors. His victory marked the fourth in five summers of the Americans in the historic tournament.

The Britons, Edward Ray, champions of years ago, and Archie Compston of North Manchester, failed by but one stroke of equaling Barnes's winning score. Each scored a 301. They both missed final putts on the last green and lost their chance to tie Barnes.

Fourth place in the tournament was taken by another American, MacDonald Smith, with a score of 303.

Almost every one of the 40,000 spectators thought Smith would win when he began his last round this afternoon, almost an hour after Barnes had finished. Smith's failure to do so supplied the most complete and distressing collapse that the championship has brought forth in recent years.

Needing only 78 to better Barnes's score, Smith took an 83, going off his game at the third hole and never really getting back on it.

Two strokes back of Smith with a total of 305, came Abe Mitchell, whose game though consistent throughout the tournament, was not good enough golf to win.

RYAN BOWS TO FILIPINO FISTIC STAR

Nationalista Wins Verdict at Hollywood; Phythian is Victor Over Kelly

Young Nationalista proved to be a high hurdle that Tommy Ryan could not get over in the main event at Hollywood last night. The boys came out of their corners with Nationalista leading the fighting in the first round and keeping on the offensive for the entire fight, taking a majority of the rounds from Ryan.

Had it not been for the aggressive tactics of the little Filipino there would have been no color to the big fight, as Ryan insisted on waiting for Nationalista to come in when he would try countering tactics seasoned with some rather unpleasant tactics that did not meet with the approval of the fans.

Hayden Phythian, former U.S.C. football star, came through with a decision over Joe Kelly in the semi-wind-up that should have been a knockout had Phythian known how to put his man away. He cut Kelly about the mouth

Trip Experienced Opponents and Will Meet Today

Feature Mixed Foursome to Close Fast Invitation

BY W. C. WISE

David Martin, 17-year-old Hollywood star, through a dazzling 1-up win over Frank Deleot yesterday, will meet Lester Coleman, California's junior ace who defeated Peter Daley, 2 and 1, in the lower bracket of the semi-finals in the fast championship flight of the invitational golf tourney, at the California Club today.

ED B TUFTS

Ray Cawsy, another California star who headed the fast-traveling Cliff Buck at the fifteenth hole yesterday, will play W. B. Dickinson, Brentwood, who scored a stellar 1-up win over W. B. Hermanson in the other half of the championship semifinals.

Martin, son of Ernest Martin, former Montecito professional, kept his shots well up during his fast round with Deleot, and was on the home green for a sure halve when Deleot, from a bad lie in the trap at the left of the green, required two shots to get out. Martin played consistent golf throughout and is favored to stop Coleman today in what promises to be the feature match of the tournament.

Both are youngsters and are playing remarkable golf. Coleman tied with E. E. Moore for low gross honors in the qualifying play and Martin, over a strange course, finished a few strokes behind. David was having a little trouble with his putter during the first few days, but is back on his game now and the match tomorrow will be

GRIFFIN IS VICTORIOUS OVER KINSEY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26. The Pacific Coast is to have a new champion in tennis this year, for today at the Berkeley Tennis Club, Howard O. Kinsey, the title-holder, was defeated in the round of eight by Elmer Griffin, the fifth seeded player, in the men's singles. The score was 6-2, 8-6.

The match was in the round of eight in the upper half of the men's singles of the Pacific Coast tennis championship tournament. The win put Griffin in the semifinals, where tomorrow he will meet Herbert Suhr to decide which will be the finalist.

Kinsey, a Davis Cup player, lost by failing to put speed into his strokes and making the fatal error of trying to outsteady the personification of steadiness on the tennis courts. Griffin is rated as one of the trickiest players on the Coast. He uses a peculiar chop from all parts of the courts and he is able to angle the ball to the most unexpected corners. His main quality is steadiness and ability to return everything that is put on his side of the court until he is able to dispose of the ball for a point in his favor.

Finalists were decided in some of the twelve events on the schedule and the final matches in the event will be run off tomorrow and Sunday. Joe Coughlin of San Francisco is to play Keith Gledhill of Santa Barbara for the championship of the boys under 15. Gledhill today defeated Henry Culley of Santa Barbara, 6-3, 6-0. Helen Jacobs, national junior champion, becomes a finalist in the junior girls' event by winning from Dorothea Swartz, 6-2, 6-1.

The junior boys' doubles finalists are Stanley Almquist and John Wheatley, who will meet Scott Hayes Stewart II, and Arthur McDougall. The latter team defeated Frank Gove and Wallace Hampton in three sets, 6-2, 7-9, 6-1.

SUMMARY

Men's singles, upper half round of eight—Elmer Griffin defeated Howard Kinsey, 6-2, 8-6. Lower half, round of eight—William M. Johnston defeated Ward Dawson, 6-2, 6-1; Clarence J. Griffin defeated Anan Sewell, 6-1, 6-1.

Men's doubles, upper half, round of eight—Elmer Griffin-Carrillo Walford defeated Phil Neer-Hatton Miller, default. Lower half, round of eight—Scott Stewart-Arthur McDougall defeated Gaylord Warwick-W. O. Jess, 6-2, 8-1; Howard Kinsey-Erwin Dobrick defeated R. G. Simon-Walter Holland, 6-2, 7-5, 6-1.

Junior boys' doubles, lower half, semifinal—Scott Stewart-Arthur McDougall defeated Frank Gove-Wallace Hampton, 6-2, 7-9, 6-1.

Veterans' singles, upper half, semifinal—Charles Stickney defeated W. G. Knowlton, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2. Lower half, semifinal—Stanley M. Smith defeated E. A. Klein, 6-1, 6-0.

Boys under 15, lower half, semifinal—Keith Gledhill defeated Henry Culley, 6-3, 6-0.

Mixed doubles, upper half, semifinal—Charlotte Hosmer-Herbert Suhr defeated Carolyn Swartz-Wallace Bates, 3-6, 6-2, 6-1. Lower half, second round—Avery Fallott-Bradnow Harrison defeated Tako Morikawa-S. Yoshikawa, 6-1, 9-7. Semifinal—Avery Fallott-Bradnow Harrison defeated Mrs. William Henry-Karl Brown, 4-6, 6-3, 6-1.

LOCAL CLUBS READY

Hollywood and Los Angeles Athletic Club Track Squads Primed for National Meet Next Week

BY BRAVEN DYER

Although warm weather is supposed to be just to a track athlete's liking, the sultry heat of the past two days has resulted in a tapering off of activities on the part of the Hollywood and Los Angeles Athletic Club entries for the National A. A. U. meet at San Francisco next week. Dean Cromwell, coach of the Movie City outfit, will put his charges through their last work-out Monday, while there will be little or no practice today or tomorrow. Most of the men are in great shape and if the heat keeps up Cromwell may even call off Monday's program.

Practically the same bill has been in order for the Mercury athletes. Most of the L. A. A. C. stars are working out on separate fields and inasmuch as there are some six coaches looking after their respective interests it is a safe bet that all will be ready for the opening gun next Friday. Eugene Nixon, Boyd Comstock, Joe Pipal, Leighton Stanton, Owen Bird and Pete Poole are to chaperon the Mercury men north.

Hollywood's squad will be the first to leave for the Bay City. Sixty strong, the Movie City stars are slated to depart Tuesday noon. They will travel by automobile. George L. Eastman, Bill Holman, Bob Howard, Tommy Davis and a flock of the club members will accompany the athletes. Davis is Cromwell's assistant in the coaching line. Floyd Carleton, the club's Greeco-Roman publicity hound, will start north tomorrow night, driving one of Eastman's three-ton trucks to the Bay City. The truck will be used to bring back the trophies and whatever else the San Francisco authorities are going to give away. The Hollywood party will probably stop at the Stewart Hotel.

Wednesday evening will see the departure of the L. A. A. C. athletes. They will go by train and stop at the Hotel Bellevue while in the north. Approximately 40 men are to compete. The Mercury officials have told Nick Carter that he need not run in the senior mile event unless he wants to. Nick is to go after the junior record of 4m. 23s., held by Lloyd Hahn. This race comes on Friday. If he is still in good shape and the weather is not too warm Carter will probably run again the following day.

CAPTURES BRITISH GOLF CROWN

Long Jim Barnes of Pelham, N. Y., who upheld American golf prestige by winning the open championship of Great Britain at Prestwick yesterday. His victory makes the fourth in five years for Yankee contenders.

Bud Taylor is Back With Two Splendid Offers

Bud Taylor and his manager, Eddie Long, returned yesterday from Oakland with offers from two northern fight promoters for big open-air shots sticking out of their pockets. In licking Dynamite Murphy at Oakland on Wednesday night Bud made such an impression that both the California club and Mission club promoters immediately got in touch and attempted to sign him for August and September dates, respectively.

Both promoters seek to pit him against Pancho Villa, who boxes Jimmy McLarnin in the Oakland ball park July 4. The California club has the August date and the Mission people the September date.

HUGGINS TO REMAIN AT YANK HELM

Owner Ruppert Denies That Leader Will be Succeeded by George Stallings

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 26.—Miller Huggins has not resigned as manager of the Yankees in favor of George Stallings or anybody else, Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the club declared today.

When asked about a report that Huggins had quit owing to ill health, Ruppert said, "Huggins still is the manager and I have had no conference with Stallings or anybody else who might be a candidate for the job.

"In so far as I know, Huggins is not in ill health. He is not exactly a Hercules but then he never was one. The poor position of the Yankees has worried him, as it has worried everybody else connected with the club, but Huggins is not the man to quit under existing circumstances. Nothing to the story in any particular."

Huggins denied the story in Boston and was good and sore at the "bird who wrote that yarn."

CALIFORNIANS BATTLE TODAY FOR NET TITLE

PHILADELPHIA, June 26. Two Californians, one a tall, rangy youth, who has great power in his arms, and the other a short, but sprightly youngster, who furnished the greatest surprise of the tournament, will meet tomorrow for the national intercollegiate tennis championship at the Merion Cricket Club.

The finalists will be E. G. Chandler of the University of California, the big fellow who eliminated Louis Thalheimer, University of Texas, and Cranston Holman of Leland Stanford, who defeated Carl Fischer, Philadelphia College of Osteopathy, 1923 champion, this afternoon.

In the Chandler-Thalheimer engagement, Thalheimer appeared to be off form badly, Chandler becoming aware of this put on all his speed and scored a triumph that required only forty-three minutes. He allowed Thalheimer only three games, the final scores reading 6-1, 6-1, 6-1.

The second semifinal, Fischer was far from his form and showed a wild streak. Holman won, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2. Time after time Fischer drove the ball into the net with terrific speed, where only a tap would have served to carry it across the court. In the first set, Holman played a conservative game and waited for Fischer to make errors. Fischer showed better in the second set, but still could not settle down to normal play, and Holman, by steady playing won with the loss of three games. Fischer found himself in the third set, and won, 6-3, but after the intermission came back and again relapsed into his wild spell and won only two games of the fourth set.

PAYNE SENT HOME BY SERAPH PILOT

George Payne, Angel right-hand pitcher, has been indefinitely suspended and sent home by Marty Krug, manager of the Los Angeles club, it was announced here yesterday. The suspension was doled out by the Seraph skipper following a disagreement which arose between him and Payne in a game at Sacramento last Wednesday.

PADDOCK WINS HAMBURG RACE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

HAMBURG (Germany) June 26.—Charles Paddock, American runner, won the 200-meter race in an international meet here yesterday, defeating his German and Finnish opponents. His time was 22.2s.

OLYMPIC CLUB GETS ATHLETES

San Francisco Outfit to be Very Strong

Bears and Cardinals Work Side by Side

Weight Men Expected to Bring in Many Points

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26. — The unheard of has happened. Stanford and California have tossed aside traditional enmity and have joined forces. Bear and Card athletes have enlisted under one flag. Impossible.

No. For when the curtain is raised at the Kezar Memorial Stadium for the national A.A.U. games, Tiny Hartranft and Elmer Gerkin, Hugo Leistner and Al Becker will all be wearing the jerseys of the San Francisco Olympic Club, and will battle side by side for the same colors.

Can the Olympic club repeat its victory of 1915, when it won the national championships at the Marina during the Panama-Pacific Exposition? The Illinois A.C., New York A.C. and Hollywood A.C. have all entered world-beater teams.

Much depends on Morris Kirksey of Olympic Games fame and former Stanford star sprinter. Four years ago Kirksey was one of the fastest sprinters in the world. He and Charley Paddock met in several races that will never be forgotten by track and field fans who saw them. Can Kirksey, after several years of retirement from the track, come back for the Olympic club against such speedsters as Jackson Scholz, New York A.C., another old-timer; Chester Bowman, Newark A.C., and Evans of the Illinois A.C.? He could beat them all before he quit running.

HAVE GOOD CHANCE

How will Ted Miller, Rocehorse Cochrane, Bill Storie and O'Brien fare when they line up against Joe Tierney, New York A.C.; H. M. Fitch, Chicago A.A., and Phillips of Butler College in the quarter-mile race? Miller and Cochrane both have a very good chance to bring home points in that event.

Dick McIntosh and Elmer Boydon will run the half-mile for the local club. The 880 should be a wonderful race with such names entered as George Marsters, Holden and Helfrich of the New York A. C., Bill Richardson of the Hollywood A. C., and Charteris of the University of Washington. Local fans will get a thrill out of seeing Boydon and Richardson tie up in the two-lap affair again.

Earl Lockhart, who ran a nice race again Lloyd Hahn at the Kezar Stadium recently, will wear the Olympic Club colors in the mile run, with Al Smith as a team-mate. Lockhart has clipped off the four laps in less than 4:30.

LEISTNER TO RUN

"Swede" Leisner trimmed the hurdlers in the East at the national collegiates in Chicago three weeks ago, and will meet them again in both the 120-yard high and 220-yard low barrier races. Al Becker, captain of the University of California, is also entered on both hurdle events by the Winged-O team. George Krogness, former Harvard hurdler, will skip over the high sticks, and Robert Johnson is entered in the 220-yard low hurdles. Norman Dole, Johnson and Pyne will vie for the Olympic club the barrier event. Pyne competed for the same club at the 1915 games.

Club pole vaulters are Huleman, high school boy from San Jose, who does close to thirteen feet; Williard Pill and Earl McKowan. Ladie Meyers, I. A. C., and Sherrill, New York A. C., are the eastern threats in this event.

Bob Kelly, Ed Drew and Patten will hop, step and jump with the best of eastern and southern invaders. Wilson of the Hollywood club represented America at the Olympic Games in the hop-step-and-jump.

Jack Merchant and James McEarhern meet their New York cop competitors, Pat McDonald and Matt McGrath, in the fifty-six-pound weight and sixteen-pound hammer events. McGrath and McDonald will compete for the New York A.C. James Arthur, W. Jackson and E. Healey will also shoulder some of the heavy work for the Olympic Club in the weight events.

GREAT WEIGHT MEN

"Tiny" Hartranft, Herbert Fleishhacker, Elmer Gerkin and Clifford Hoffman form a quartet of shot-putters that can stand off any competition that may appear. It is probable that never before has any club boasted of four such stellar performers in the weight event as these huskies.

Gerkin, Hoffman, Hartranft and Dana Carey present a formidable array of brawn in the discus throw. Hartranft will try to break the world's record, which he holds in that event.

In the javelin throw another world's champion will compete for the Olympic Club. Jonni Myrra will sail the wand over his customary 200 feet, and laugh up his sleeve at his competitors.

In the decathlon Bob Kelly and Harold Osborne are the favorites. The local boy will give Osborne a good run for his money.

POMONA NET STAR PLAYS AT BRANCH

Darwin Hand, captain of the Pomona College varsity tennis team last season, has joined the industrial instruction section of the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A. and will spend his summer months in this city. Hand was first man on the Sagehen team. He expects to practice during the summer at the local U. C. courts with several of the Grizzly players and the Grizzlies' tennis coach.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By PAUL LOWRY

"ACE is boxing Sid Terris July 10 at East Chicago open-air show. Will be home July 15.

Clyde Hudkins"

So reads a wire the writer received yesterday from the brother manager of the larruping Nebraska "wild cat," who was set down thirty days after the Ascot fight for an illeged foul of Tommy O'Brien.

Hudkins" suspension will be lifted July 6, when he is free to fight in California again.

• •

The date brother manager sets for the homecoming indicates that the Hudkins troupe does not intend to waste any time sticking around in the East after the Terris fight. In the argot of the street they're going to shake a leg to get back here.

This is where Ace acquired a reputation, where he fought himself into the biggest purse of his young life — $10,000 — and where he confidently hopes to win the lightweight championship of the world.

In tangling with Terris he appears to be doing a very sensible thing. If he is anywhere near as good as he thinks he is a victory over Terris will bring him into front-rank consideration from eastern promoters as well as on the Pacific Coast, where he has been a terrific drawing card.

For Terris next to Sammy Mandell is rated as the best of the eastern lightweight crop. Sammy has two victories over Sid in the past six months, one in the New York elimination tourney and another since the Rockford flash lost his place on a foul to Jimmy Goodrich.

Both battles have been so tight and furious that the boys have been matched for the opening of new Madison Square Garden next November.

• •

Terris is rated as a better hitter than Mandell and may make things much unpleasanter for Hudkins than the Rockford boy. Once the Nebraska tornado starts swinging the New York Hebrew will need something besides cleverness to halt the onrush of the unorthodox Ace.

Joe Benjamin can say something about that in spite of the fact that he believes Hudkins is terrible as a fighter.

Incidentally now that Joe has been reinstated by the Boxing Commission it might be in line to suggest a return match between the two gladiators.

• •

Practically everybody knows that Joe when he battled Hudkins was not in the shape he was when he fought Jack Silver in San Francisco. His "yes" friends kidded him into the belief that he was in wonderful condition and he believed 'em.

And then there is another story — that two days before the fight with Hudkins some fresh driver got in a motor mix up with Joe on the downtown streets and invited the latter to get out and fight. Joe accepted the invitation and laid the guy cold.

Benjamin has a soft knuckle and the punch is said to have ruined it. Hence, the novocaine.

• •

Leo P. Flynn's ultimatum in New York that he will not send Shade across country to fight Mickey Walker in California for the title July 21 bears out our contention that there never was very much likelihood of landing this proposed match here.

It's a good publicity gag for Jack Kearns and in agreeing for Walker to meet Shade it gave him a chance to get Walker in good standing with the New York Commission again, a prerequisite for the Greb match.

But Flynn doesn't want the match for several reasons. In the first place, he wants more than 12 1-2 per cent, which the New York Commission allows for the challenger's end. Secondly, Shade is popularly supposed to be unable to make the welterweight mark, and as long as Flynn keeps him away from title matches he doesn't have to bother about poundage. Thirdly, if Walker bumps him off out here Shade's drawing power is gone. Chasing Walker around the country and yelping about a title match keeps him in the limelight and he makes a lot of jack knocking over "pellucas."

Portland immediately evened the going in the Ducks' half of the third when Frank Tobin singled to center, was sacrificed to second by Burns, and driven home by Lafayette's two-base smash to right.

Things went along serenely until the seventh, when the Ducks picked up two runs and web-footed their way into the lead. Harry Riconda led off with a hit to left, and was sacrificed to second by McCann. Lewis filed to Becker, whereupon Essick decided to inject a little strategy into the humid pastime. Inasmuch as Tobin had been hitting the ball hard off Bryan, Vinegar Bill hit upon the happy plan of walking the Duck backstop and letting Bryan pitch to Burns, who, according to the laws and regulations of the national game, isn't much of a hitter. Bryan walked Tobin all right, but also walked Burns, plugging the bases with ambitious Beavers. Bill Hunnefield then crossed up the works completely by driving a liner to left field that just cleared Ike Wolfer's grasping mitts, allowing Riconda and Tobin to score. Hunnefield is supposed to hit every place but left field, so the cash customers were treated to something unusual, which they may or may not have known. Lafayette grounded to McDowell for the third out, leaving Burns and Hunnefield stranded on the sacks like a bum Shakespeare theatrical company in Oskosh, Wis., which municipality will serve for the comparison, not that we have anything against Oskosh, Wis.

The Tigers got a couple of men on the bases with two out in the seventh, but Schang struck out to end any chance of a rally. In the eighth, however, the Bengals did pick up a tally and did the impossible by knocking a pitcher off the mound. With one away, Johnny Jones, otherwise known as the Nonchalant Kid, put Burns in trouble by tossing Bryan's grounder into the dirt. Bryan took second on the miscue. Jones will probably worry himself sick over the boot, for he seems to take such a big interest in the game. Hunnefield made a great catch of Oliver's fly to center, but Hemingway and Wolfer came through with singles to center, scoring Bryan. After the second hit Lewis derricked Burns and sent in Rube Yarrison, who got rid of McDowell on a pop fly to McCann, retiring the side.

Then the Beavers punched over three more in the ninth and ended all straggling doubts as to the final outcome. Singles by Lewis and Jones, with a triple by Tobin and a double by Yarrison sandwiched in, gave the Ducks their trio of markers and caused Mr. Bryan to make a somewhat premature exit. Wee Ludolph pitched to the last three batters.

While speaking of Mr. Bryan, it naturally brings up the question of evolution, which has made a lot of people realize that Tennessee is something besides a place for song writers to make people wish they could go back. Last season Bryan was the ace of the Tiger staff, winning something like four games and losing but three. So far this year, Bryan has lost ten games and won none. We offer this point to Mr. Darrow, defender of the cause of evolution, to bring up in the famous Tennessee monkey case or to use as he may see fit.

Anyhow, Yarrison turned back the Tigers in one-two-three order in the last of the ninth, and the fans had their siesta rudely interrupted and went home.

ROCHE EASILY WINS OVER LEFTY COOPER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Joe Roche slid Lefty Cooper down the pugilistic ladder another step tonight when he outboxed and outfought Cooper throughout their ten-round bout to win an easy decision at Dreamland Rink. Cooper still carried memories of the lacing he received at the hands of Mickey Walker, and it was apparent in the first round that he carried the effect of Mickey's punching power.

Roche, on the other hand, put up one of the greatest fights that he has made in a local ring. Joe was content to counter as Lefty walked in. Roche kept his left hand working overtime in the second and shook Cooper with right-hand punches to the head.

Other results were:

Tuffy Wing defeated Johnny Race.

Freddie Hoppe knocked down Young Riley in the first and won the next three but the best he could get was a draw.

Mike Segal outboxed Bushy Graham.

Jimmy Barry knocked out Frankie Cline.

TROJAN GRID STAR JOINS CAMP STAFF

Henry "Hank" LeFevre, star halfback for U.S.C. last year, has joined the staff of Camp Robin Hood at Lake Arrowhead. Camp Robin Hood is the summer camp operated by the Webb School for Boys which is situated near Pomona College and Claremont.

Ernest Osborne, former Riverside Junior College basketball star and now a student at Pomona College, is also a member of the Camp Robin Hood staff. Both men are expecting to enter many of the athletic carnivals to be held at the mountain colony during the summer months.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER BILL HENRY

THE VICTORY of Long Jim Barnes in the British open golf championship and the success of the American Army polo team against the British ought to make the folks from over there do a lot of heavy thinking, for it furnishes just a little additional proof of the strides that this country is making in all forms of sport. The victory of Barnes is particularly pleasing because Long Jim has been threatening to win for several years and said this year when questioned, that he intended to come over to Great Britain and play for the cup until he won it, regardless of how many years it took him. Apparently it was just that spirit which was needed to capture the title from the fine field which contested it.

• • •

Ray Casey went just about as far as anybody could reasonably expect in his first big tournament on grass when he reached the fifth round at Wimbledon before falling under the sharp shooting of Rene LaCoste. Casey is almost without "big league" experience and his game is so lop-sided that it was rather to be expected that such cool-headed players would find his weakness and play to it. Aside from his tremendous service, Casey's game is not in any way above the average, and the job of beating him resolves itself into keeping the ball in play until the big fellow gets wild.

• • •

The chances of Southern California bursting into the points in some of the events in the national championships seem rather slim. We might edge into the sprints with Lloyd in the century and Shultz in the furlong. The quarter looks like a total loss. The half ought to bring a few points, but it will take Bill Richardson of Stanford to do it, if he runs for Hollywood. Nick Carter ought to get into the mile points and possibly Unruh might do so also, though he has a better chance of winning the junior mile if Carter doesn't run in it. That ends the running points.

• • •

When we get around to the hurdles things look a little different. Dye, Nichols, Reynolds, Maxwell and Grumbles all have a good chance to score. Coggeshall should score in the high jump and a whole flock of our pole vaulters should do something. Bud Houser and Norm Anderson are reasonably sure of placing in the shot and discus. Moyse and possibly Merritt might get into the hammer points. Eaton might do something in the javelin. Beyond those points our chances don't look so good. But if they were all scored for one team instead of two we'd have a chance.

ELIMINATE EAST'S PLAYERS

West and Midwest Golfers Win in National Intercollegiate Championship Matches

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MONTCLAIR (N. J.) June 26.—Eastern players were eliminated from the national intercollegiate championship on the Montclair Country Club course when Frank Wattles of Yale bowed to A. J. Wesland of the University of Washington in a thrilling struggle and Steve Berrien of Wesleyan failed dismally in his match with G. F. Lamprecht of Cleveland, a student at Tulane.

Westland's victory, although by only 1 up, was by far the more impressive of the semifinals, for Wattles, a veteran of many battles, fought superbly after being four down at the fifth hole.

The Washingtonian played par golf, finishing the round in 73, one stroke better than the Yale man. His tee shots were almost perfect, he wielded a crushing iron and his putter was firm and dead to the hole.

Two down at the turn, Wattles, who had scored a 70 in the rain the previous day, recovered himself and registered par after par only to see the Pacific Coast star equal his every effort. Finally, the Yale man captured the sixteenth, and needed only one to tie but this was not forthcoming.

The cards:

Westland, out	4	4	4	5	4	4	4	3	5	—37
Wattles, out	4	5	4	5	4	4	4	3	5	—38
Westland, in	4	4	3	4	5	4	4	4	5	—37
Wattles, in	4	4	3	4	5	5	4	4	5	—38

Lamprecht's victory was 9 up and 7 to play.

The Wesleyan man was far off his game.

The Tulane representative is one of the stockiest men in the tournament. Westland is of a slighter physical build, but finds the power to hit as long a ball as any man he has met. With two such healthy hitters participating, the morrow's final match of thirty-six holes to determine the college king for 1925 should be sensational.

RYAN BOWS TO NATIONALISTA

and eyes plentifully and had him out on his feet a half-dozen times during the bout but inexperience kept the former grid star from successfully landing the telling blow.

The fight was a regular knockdown-and-drag-out affair throughout with both men gory with blood at the end of the affair.

Johnny Gerarden is sorry that Bennie Barrett did not miss his train from Chicago and arrive here after the six-round special event at the Legion arena last night. The Chicago newcomer was substituted in the bout for Freddie Mack and surprised and pleased the house by turning out the best fight of the evening.

Barrett is a clever boxer and, on the strength of having decisively taken the decision from Gerarden by consistently jabbing lefts to his face throughout the fight and preventing his opponent from landing anything until the last part of the battle, will be able to get plenty of work after his showing. The Windy City boy is picked for a comer.

Joe Pimenthal defeated Toby Montoya in the second bout winning the decision easily with two knockdowns in the fourth round. In the opener neither Jack Murphy or Dave Taylor could get moving fast enough to take an advantage over the other. They drew.

WILLIAMS DEFEATED IN BOUT WITH GENARO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BALTIMORE (Md.) June 26.—Kid Williams, former world's bantamweight champion, showed a flash of his old form tonight against Frankie Genaro, American flyweight champion, but dropped the decision to the fast-stepping Italian in an interesting twelve-round battle. Genaro lacked sufficient power to rock the "old tiger," who always fought back gamely. Genaro won ten of the twelve rounds. There were no knockdowns.

GLOUCESTER RACE SOON

The longest of the eastern yachting tests will be the Larchmont-Gloucester race which will be started July 26, the day following the closing day of Larchmont Race Week. The Larchmont-Gloucester race will cover a distance of about 250 nautical miles and must be included in ocean races because it will take the competing yachts around Cape Cod where the Atlantic swells will test the seagoing qualities of the schooners, yawls and sloops which start from Larchmont in the race to the New England Club.

LEO BARLAGE WINS OVER BARRY ON FOUL

Leo Barlage, battling heavyweight, won the main event in the Compton American Legion fisticuffs show last night when the referee awarded him the decision over Jimmy Barry on an alleged foul, committed in the first round.

Jack Colbert stepped six fast rounds to win the decision from Frankie Voldt. Jimmie Gould rocked Young Jargo to sleep in the fifth, after Johnnie Kane had scored over Larry Esprado with a K. O. in the second. Eddie Orsetta worked on Jimmie Veralla before slipping over a sleep punch for the count in the fourth round of the curtain-raiser.

SCHAEFFER WALLOPED HARD BY KID KAPLAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, June 26. — Louis (Kid) Kaplan of Meriden Ct., the world's featherweight champion, showed Frankie Schaeffer of Chicago a sample of his wares at Aurora tonight, and at the finish of ten fast rounds Schaeffer didn't care much about Kaplan's style. For Kaplan tore and punched his way to a clean-cut victory in six of the ten rounds, while Schaeffer had the best of a single round and three were even.

WILSON TO NORTHWESTERN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, June 26. Kenneth L. Wilson of Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa, has been appointed athletic director at Northwestern University.

Wilson, who gained notice by his recent charges against the manager of Paavo Nurmi, will take charge of the athletic department at the Evanston school about September 15.

The post has been vacant since the death of Dana M. Evans in November, 1924.

FRANCOIS CHARLES HURLS DEFI AT GEORGES CARPENTIER

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, June 26.—L'Auto, sporting paper, announces that Francois Charles, middleweight champion of France, has challenged Georges Carpentier to a match to decide the championship "in all categories," sending a deposit of 1000 francs to the French Boxing Federation with his challenge.

CRAIG BEATEN AT MIDWICK

Final Matches in Club Championship Tennis Tournament Held Today and Sunday

With the exception of one upset, favorites in the Midwick Club championship tennis tournament won their games yesterday. Eighteen matches were played on the club courts and every one was as hotly contested as the day was warm.

The biggest upset of the day and probably one of the biggest in the tournament was the defeat of Norville Craig by Stanford after three sets of hard tennis. Craig won the first set, 4-6, but Stanford soon wore his opponent down and won the next two sets, 6-2, 7-5, but not without a terrific battle. Harold Godshall proceeded to wipe out Stanford's hopes later, when the former defeated him, 6-1, 6-4.

WESBROOK VICTOR

Wesbrook came through a victor in his match with Reinke, 6-4, 7-5, and Ferrandini defeated Clarke, 6-0, 6-2.

In the men's doubles Godshall and Ferrandini and Allen and Taylor were victors in their brackets, and will meet at 3 o'clock today.

May Sutton Bundy defeated Miss Sherk, 6-4, 6-1, and Miss Williams defeated Miss Hanchett, 6-2, 6-3, in the semifinals of the women's singles. The crack team of Bundy and Godshall in the mixed doubles eliminated Clarke and Comstock, 6-0, 6-1, after the latter team had defeated Albry and Wilbourne, 6-3, 6-2.

A host of good matches is on tap for spectators today, including a semifinal junior doubles, finals of the junior mixed doubles, finals of the juvenile singles, finals of the junior singles, finals of the girls singles and several semifinal matches in the men's singles and doubles.

NO ADMISSION

Remaining finals matches will be played on the Midwick courts Sunday. Mercer Beasley, Midwick professional, and the man who deserves much credit for the success of the tourney, has announced that there will be no admission charges for any of the matches either today or tomorrow. The public is invited.

Yesterday's complete results were as follows:

Men's singles—Wesbrook defeated Reinke, 6-4, 7-5; Clarke defeated Eliot, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2; Ferrandini defeated Clarke, 6-0, 6-2; Stanford defeated Craig, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5; Godshall defeated Stanford, 6-1, 6-4; Sindorf defeated Sisson, 6-3, 6-1.

Men's doubles—Godshall and Ferrandini defeated Hale and Clarke, 9-7, 6-0; Allen and Taylor defeated Reynolds and Hall, 6-2, 7-5; Allen and Taylor defeated Kohler and Durant, 6-2, 6-4.

Mixed doubles—Clarke and Comstock defeated Albry and Wilbourne, 6-3, 6-2. Bundy and Godshall defeated Clarke and Comstock, 6-0, 6-1; Williams and Sindorf defeated Hale and Hanchett, 6-2, 6-3.

Ladies' singles—Miss Bundy defeated Miss Sherk, 6-4, 6-1; Miss Williams defeated Miss Hanchett, 6-2, 6-3. (Both semifinal matches.)

Junior singles—Craig defeated Story, 6-2, 6-2. Robinson defeated Cram, 6-3, 6-4; Robinson defeated Mason, 6-0, 6-1.

11 a.m.—Peggy James and Al Bennett vs. Louise McFarland and M. Dodge, finals of junior mixed doubles.

1 p.m.—Guy Wright vs. Robert Raitt, finals of juvenile singles; Tom Ferrandini vs. Walter Wesbrook, semifinals men's singles; Barker and Reinke vs. Green and Tobin, semifinal of junior doubles.

3 p.m.—Stanley Robinson vs. Norval Craig, finals, junior singles; Godshall and Ferrandini vs. Allen and Taylor, semifinals of men's doubles; Sindorf and Warren vs. winners of 1 o'clock match.

VERNON RESULTS

Mushy Callahan defeated Russia LaRoy, knockout, third round; Billy Petrolle defeated Frankie Fisk, decision, six rounds; Jack Lee defeated Paul Swartz, decision, six rounds; Dan Levy defeated Jackie Sherman, decision, four rounds; Tiger Cline defeated Jim Deering, decision, four rounds.

Wilmington results — Jimmy Hanley defeated Joe Garmon, ten rounds, main event; Billy Montoya defeated Battling Ward, six rounds; Young Chino defeated Frankie Rose, six rounds; Manuel Juardo defeated Kid Berrigan, knockout, first round; Jimmy Kane defeated Frankie Boldt, four rounds.

ANNOUNCE RACE PILOTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, June 26. — With the entries scheduled to be closed tomorrow, officials of the Riverside Racing Association today made public what they believed to be a complete list of drivers in this city's Fourth of July's automobile races at the Southern California fair grounds. The track now being reconditioned will be open for preliminary events next week.

Those who are to compete in the Independence Day program are: Frank Lockhart, Floyd Howard, Jack White, Victario Danzo, Leo Glaiva, Johnny Vickers, Norris Shears, Piedmont Brunnel, Swede Erickson, George Howard, Emmet Larson, R. A. Delong, C. J. Edmondson, Jack Barker, Bill Bundy, E. Bermuda, B. A. Metheney and Roman C. Warren.

AUXILIARY HANDICAP MEETING

Mrs. Ted Haas, chairman of the handicap committee of the Women's Auxiliary of the Southern California Golf Association, has called a special meeting of all club handicap chairmen at the Wilshire Club at 1 o'clock today. A recent Women's Western Association ruling increasing yardage, which means a revised handicap rating for all women players will be discussed and adopted.

All club handicap chairmen are urged to be present at this important meeting to assist in rerating players according to the new women's par to become effective at all auxiliary clubs at once.

BARTLETT AND WOLFF IN FINALS

Iowa Champion, St. Louis Player Contest Midwestern Golf Title

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OMAHA, June 26.—Arthur Bartlett of Ottumwa, five times Iowa champion, and Clarence Wolff of St. Louis, who shot the best golf today, will contest the finals at thirty-six holes tomorrow in the trans-Mississippi golf championship at the Omaha Field Club, as a result of their semifinal victories.

Bartlett kept up his wide-margin victories by defeating J. O. Swick of Des Moines, 5 and 4, while Wolff downed Bob McKee of Des Moines, 7 and 6, by shooting par 73 in the morning and playing equally as well in the afternoon.

It was a perfect golf day, and large galleries, including many gaily dressed women, followed both matches.

Women Play in Beverly Tournament

Despite the fact that Mrs. G. M. Midgley, Mrs. Harry D. Hammond and more than a score of other stellar women golfers played in the sweepstakes event at Los Angeles yesterday, Mrs. J. J. Quinn came through with a sterling 99-16-83, to head the fast field.

A lot of California sunshine bathing the beautiful south course at Los Angeles failed to slow up the women contestants, and Mrs. Vesta B. Prophet finished with a 106-21-85, to win second sweepstakes honors.

YOUTHS WINNING IN CALIFORNIA

Cawsy has been going great guns all week and will have to continue his stellar golf to trip Dickinson today, for the Brentwood star is also playing in championship style.

FINISH AT HOME

The home-green gallery was rewarded with a score of close finishes yesterday and E. R. Hurst, California president, lost a beautiful match, 1 down, to C. Leedom. Leedom, playing well down the hill, pitched to within five feet of the pin and was down for a halve, which gave him his third handicap stroke, the hole and the match, 1 up.

E. B. Tufts, "Uncle" Eddie to the thousands of Southern California golfers, arrived from New York yesterday and spent part of the afternoon at California. Just seeing "Uncle Eddie" around a tournament raises the standard of the event.

FINALS TUESDAY

Finals in all fights will be played Sunday and all will be over the eighteen-hole route. The California championship flight finalists will tee off at 12:30 o'clock.

Entries for the special two-ball mixed foursome are continuing to filter in and a very representative number have already been accepted. Play in the feature event is scheduled to start at 12:50 o'clock and starting time may yet be arranged by communication with A. H. Painter, tournament starter.

California flight, 1 p.m.—W. B. Dickinson defeated W. E. Hermanson, 1 up; Ray Cawsy defeated Cliff Buck, 3 and 2; Lester Coleman defeated Peter Daley, 2 and 1; David Martin defeated Frank Deleo, 1 up.

Second flight, 12:45 p.m.—Harold Thompson defeated Jack Kemp, 3 and 2; C. Leedom defeated E. R. Hurst, 1 up; E. W. Dietz defeated Garland Martin, 3 and 2; C. Molinos defeated E. F. Babson, 1 up.

that he must win as soon as possible before his strength failed.

Lowe followed his traditional tactics, sticking to the base line continually and returning his opponent's drives with monotonous accuracy and caution. Hennessey lost points and games when he played Lowe's game, but he scored heavily when he left the base line for a savage net attack.

Borotra entered the last eight by eliminating J. B. Gilbert, the English star, 6-1, 7-5, 6-3. Borotra and Lacoste appear sure to be the finalists.

Cochet of France beat Brame Hillyard, 8-6, 6-3, 8-6, and will next meet Jagat Mohan Lal of India. The winner of the Cochet-Lal duel meets Hennessey.

The American doubles team of Rice and Garland won the first match against A. D. Prabble and Sir C. E. Leo, Lyle, 6-3, 6-4 and 6-4.

Miss Daphne Akhurst, an Australian schoolgirl, beat Evelyn Colier, England's greatest girl hope, 4-6, 6-4 and 6-4.

Miljus Beats Kunz on Crag and Suds Win

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OAKLAND, June 26.—Seattle took its fourth consecutive game of the week from Oakland today when Earl Kunz lost a pitchers' battle to John Miljus by a score of 2 to 1. Two hits, a walk and a wild pitch gave the Indians their two runs in the first inning, thereafter Kunz held them scoreless. The Oaks had several chances to get into the game, but lacked the punch to put over a run with men on bases. Score:

HOLLYWOOD POLOISTS WIN NIGHT CONTEST

The Hollywood Heights Polo and Hunt Club seniors last night defeated the juniors, 7-5, in the third night game that has been played at the new club.

Seniors: John Knorp, Earl Barger, Doc Buck.

Juniors: George Thomas, John Feys, Don Bunch.

Red Faber Hurls White Sox to Win Over Indians

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—Washington won the first game of the important series with the Athletics here today by a score of 5 to 3. Goslin's home run with two on base in the seventh inning provided the winning runs.

The league leaders batted Walter Johnson hard in the early innings, but the veteran hurler kept the hits scattered. In the ninth, he was touched up for two singles, but managed to keep the Athletics from the home plate. Simmons hit his twelfth home run of the season and Bill Lamar hit safely for the twenty-sixth consecutive game. A crowd of nearly 25,000 persons saw the contest. Score:

EXPANSION PROJECTS NUMEROUS

Further Price Recessions Noted in Iron and Steel; Movements Light

BY DON PARTRIDGE,
Associate Editor, "Iron Trade Review"

Further price recessions are noted in some lines and movement of material, on the whole, is far from active. However, more pronounced activity is noted in both the shape and plate markets and numerous projects are up for figures or pending. Interest is centered in the Oakland pipeline involving a maximum of 36,000 tons of plates, the largest project of the kind that has ever come up for figures any place in the world.

Concrete bar awards totaled 1500 tons of which 629 tons were received by the Pacific Coast Steel Company for the Everett-Marysville bridge. Pending business aggregates a fair tonnage. Numerous small jobs have been placed recently. The Caterpillar Tractor Company has placed 150 tons of cold rolled shafting. Prices on this class of material are firm at a minimum of 2.60 cents base Pittsburgh.

Plates are quoted generally at 2.40 cents c.i.f. but 2.35 cents has been named this week on several larger lots. Awards totaled over 9000 tons. The Western Pipe and Steel Company secured 900 tons for three 50,000 barrel tanks for the Petroleum Midway Oil Company of Los Angeles. The Southern Pacific Company has placed 289 tons with an eastern mill. Willamette Iron and Steel Works secured 447 tons for the Seattle pipe line. Other awards included 1150 tons of sheet piling for the Estuary tube, 350 tons for stock for the Pan American Petroleum Corporation in Los Angeles and 130 tons for a pipe line in Los Angeles. Pending business is close to 100,000 tons.

The Virginia Bridge and Iron Company secured the Everett-Marysville bridge in Washington at 4.25 cents delivered. Other awards brought the total to 3400 tons. Dyer Bros. secured 100 tons for a station for the Shell Oil Company at Martinez. The Union Iron Works took 2000 tons for the Garfield Jr., High School and 200 tons for the laundry building for the Los Angeles County Hospital. Llewellyn Iron Works secured 240 tons for four buildings for the Public Service Commission in Los Angeles. Pending business exceeds 10,000 tons. Prices are firm at 2.40 cents.

The sheet market is demoralized and despite extremely low prices, quoted by mills anxious for business, consumers are evidencing little interest and bookings have been practically nil. On galvanized 4.15 cents to 4.25 cents is now general and one quotation equivalent to 4.06 cents base Pittsburgh has been named.

TWO ARIZONA MINING COMPANIES IN MERGER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, June 26.—Consolidation of the Pinal Grande Mining Company into the Greenback Mining Company, with an increase of the latter's capitalization to $5,000,000, has been announced here. George Rennick of Los Angeles was elected president, G. L. Humphrey, vice-president, H. J. Wilkins of Pasadena, secretary, and J. B. Sumter of Long Beach, treasurer. Additional directors are O. P. Thorn of Long Beach, Frank W. Royer of Los Angeles and Paul Henshaw of Casa Grande. The last named was made manager of the property, which is located forty miles southwest of Casa Grande.

The Ada Mining Company of Los Angeles has been incorporated under Arizona laws, with G. W., C. C. and H. O. Hunton and B. F. Schultz named as directors.

COPPER PRODUCTION IN UNITED STATES GAINS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Copper produced in the United States and Alaska in 1924 from domestic ores were placed today by the Geological Survey at 1,534,249,193 pounds fine, against 1,434,999,962 for 1923, smelter output. The total production of new refined copper in 1924 was 2,260,000,000 pounds, an increase of 280,000,000 pounds over the previous year.

The value of production in this country was $214,087,000 for last year, compared with $210,945,000 for 1923. The world's production in pounds for 1924 was 2,998,286,000, against 2,711,532,000 for 1923. The average 1924 price was 13.1 cents a pound, compared with the 1923 figure of 14.7 cents.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

Production in the Inglewood field made another jump yesterday with the completion of two good wells, one by the Shell company, and the other by the Petroleum Securities Company. Aggregate production of the two wells is about 5000 barrels, and puts the estimated output of the field yesterday at considerably more than 32,000 barrels.

The Shell company's Rindge No. 3 went on production at an initial rate of over 3400 barrels a day, from a depth of about 2600 feet. The Petroleum Securities' Rubel No. 7 made an estimated initial output of about 1500 barrels a day from about the same depth. The wells are located on adjoining leases in the heart of the field.

May Limit Field

The Associated Oil Company's Vickers No. 14 on the northeast end of the Associated Vickers property, has been placed on the pump and is making about 350 barrels a day from 2256 feet. Gravity 15.5 deg.

The gravity of the Vickers No. 14 oil, combined with the fact that the well ran into gray sand at 2256 feet, and had to be plugged back a few feet, is interpreted by geologists as a possible indication of edge conditions, in spite of the fact that the edge of the structure, according to contour maps, should be considerably farther to the northeast.

Similar conditions were found in the Huntington Beach field, and other Los Angeles fields, according to operators, where gray sand intruded in areas where there was every reason to believe oil sand should exist. If this condition really exists in the northern part of the Inglewood field, it may materially affect the success of the drilling program on the Brown lease of 115 acres in this area.

Fail in Shutoff

The Marland Oil Company will have to recement its Dominguez No. 7, the deep test well of the southeastern part of the Dominguez field, according to official reports. The well showed considerable oil during the recent production and water test, but as the test progressed, the water increased, and the oil decreased, indicating a leak somewhere. It will be recemented at the same point, 5505 feet, it is said.

Makes Little Oil

J. B. Dabney's deep well in the northeastern part of the Athens district in the Rosecrans field, is pumping considerable fluid, of which only a small proportion is oil, according to field reports. The well is down 5226 feet, having been plugged to that point from its original bottom of 5749 feet. Dabney has been trying to make a go of this project for nearly a year, but is located too near the edge of the structure to get a satisfactory producer.

Change Drill Pipe

E. J. Miley is changing drill pipe in his Athens No. 6 well, the deepest hole in Rosecrans, in which he apparently is after the world record for rotary depth. Bottom of the hole is at 7078 feet, where brown shale comprised the last core taken from the well.

The four-inch drill stem which has been used in the well is too heavy to handle properly in a well of this depth, according to drillers, and it will be changed to three-inch pipe. This change will make the string of drilling tools considerably lighter, but it will increase the danger of a twist-off. The size of the hole is now nearly eight inches, which causes considerable strain on a small diameter drill stem.

Spud New Wildcat

The Standard Oil Company has spudded in its Santa Ana Gardens No. 1 well in the Greenville district, and has reached a depth of 320 feet, according to official reports. At this depth the hole has not yet penetrated the sedimentary deposits, and is still in clay and sand. It is located about three miles north of the Paularino well abandoned by the Standard early in the month.

Production Jumps

The Los Angeles Investment No. 1-12 which was completed Wednesday at an estimated initial flow of 1500 barrels a day, has increased to considerably more than 3000 barrels a day, according to official reports.

Resumes Work

Oscar Howard's No. 2 well on the western side of the Inglewood field is again drilling, after a shutdown of several weeks. Howard put this well down to about 3400 feet, penetrating streaky oil sands in several places, without finding a zone sufficient to give commercial production. Howard evidently is after the deep sand which is the goal of the Standard Oil Company's Vickers No. 2-1, only about 100 feet from Howard's No. 2 well.

GASOLINE RISE EXPECTED

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Refiners in Southern California expect relief from the prevailing low gasoline prices in the shape of an increase from 1½ to 2 cents a gallon within the next thirty days or so. Unless this relief is given, many well-posted observers express the opinion that the gasoline supply on the Pacific Coast will soon reach the danger point.

Seen through the eyes of the refining-company executives, the only deterrent to much larger exports of gasoline to the Atlantic Coast is public opinion. It is a clear-cut business proposition as far as the refiners are concerned. The profitable market is on the Atlantic seaboard, where prices range several cents higher, and as long as this differential exists, the Southern California companies will continue to ship gasoline.

SHIPMENTS INCREASE

As the statistics of shipments from Los Angeles Harbor testify, this is exactly what is occurring. Since the first of the year there has been a marked increase in shipments from here to the east coast, and if the large companies were not bound by a certain obligation to supply their own retail trade, they would prefer to dispose of the entire output to the eastern companies at the prevailing prices.

Most of the large marketing companies are content to break even on their retail systems, and this is about all they can expect to do in Southern California. Probably there is no other selling territory in the United States where competition is so keen, principally because of the activity of the small independents. For this reason, the larger companies have exerted their influence to hold prices down in Southern California as compared with the northern part of the State. The southern California price to the retailer, exclusive of tax, is now 16¼ cents, against 18 cents in San Francisco.

Comparison with the scale of retail prices in eastern cities emphasizes the differential against Southern California refiners and marketers. The average New York City price is 23 cents a gallon; Philadelphia, 23 cents; Boston, 26 cents, and Chicago, 20 cents.

PEAK NEXT MONTH

Ordinarily, the peak of consumption on the Pacific Coast is reached in July and in this month the refiners plan to have the largest stocks on hand. This is not a difficult matter in Southern California, because there is plenty of light crude oil from which a high gasoline extraction is obtained. Eastern refiners are not so favored with light-oil production and consequently they are calling upon Southern California for both gasoline and light crude oil.

Accurate data on the storage of gasoline on the Pacific Coast are not available, but it is estimated that the supply approximates forty-one days' consumption. This is hardly enough to more than care for the anticipated demand, and certainly is not a supply that will allow exportation to the east coast at the present rate without calling for a correction of the price differential.

In September, 1923, shipments of gasoline, tops and engine distillate from Los Angeles Harbor totaled 316,000 barrels of forty-two gallons each. This figure increased to 522,000 barrels in May, 1924, and to 668,000 barrels in January, 1925. From this point, the upward trend is pronounced.

BIG REFINERS SELLERS

February fell off seasonally from January, but March saw a new peak recorded of 914,000 barrels. The 1,000,000-barrel mark was passed in April with a total of 1,258,000 barrels, and May almost equalled this figure with 1,058,000.

All of the major refining companies are participating in this business. The Standard Oil and Union Oil are both reported to have favorable contracts with eastern companies, and California Petroleum is still working on its arrangement with Standard Oil of New Jersey. The other shippers are Associated Oil, General Petroleum, Pan American and Shell Union.

Apparently, the exigencies of the price situation spell at least a temporary victory for the independents in Southern California over the large companies. Nothing has come of the determined efforts of the "Big Five" to stamp out competition through depressing prices and it appears that the swinging of the economic pendulum has taken the matter out of their hands. The independents even successfully repulsed the tentative price attack begun by the major companies through the sale of scrip books at a discount.

Unquestionably there is plenty of ground for concern on the part of the "Big Five" in Southern California. Statistics for the first quarter of the year show that the Standard Oil, Shell Oil, Union Oil, Associated Oil, Richfield, Ventura and General Petroleum sold 80 per cent of the gasoline marketed in the State. In Southern California, it is estimated that this percentage is reduced to around 50 or 60 per cent.

However, the larger questions of price correction and the conservation of Pacific Coast gasoline stocks take precedence over the irritant of local competition. The incentive to raise the California price may come through the lead of the Mid-Continent refiners in advancing their own quotations in response to increasing demand, but the consensus is that a readjustment is almost an immediate necessity on this coast no matter what the future course of the Mid-Continent is.

DEMAND IS BETTER FOR KNIT GOODS

Wool Market Broader and Strengthening, is Report

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, June 26.—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

"The wool market is broader and slowly strengthening, both on fine and medium descriptions. Reports from the goods markets indicate a better demand for worsted goods as well as for woolens and knit goods. Top makers and spinners are getting much better business at better prices. In the West the market is firm to slightly dearer.

"The foreign situation has centered on the position in Australia, where it has been decided finally to resume sales July 13, with offerings of 120,000 bales monthly in July and August, a moderate offering. A number of buyers have left to attend the London colonial auctions, commencing July 7. Bradford is rather quiet but generally firm.

California Northern 1.25 @ 1.30; middle county 1.10 @ 1.25; southern 1.05 @ 1.10.

Council Asks New Bids for Water Bonds

All bids for the $11,380,000 municipal bond issues were rejected yesterday by the City Council, and new bids were advertised for, to be received and opened by the Council Monday morning.

The Council is anxious to complete the sale of the bonds, as the water department is in need of money for extensions to the water system. If the bonds are sold Monday ad interim certificates will be issued by the city at once, and the successful bidder can pay for the bonds and receive the certificates.

Yesterday, in face of a probable rejection of its bid, the syndicate headed by Blair & Co., Inc., the low bidder of Wednesday, presented a new bid under which the $8,000,000 water bonds would bear 4¼ per cent interest and the Colorado River aqueduct, bridge, pedestrian tunnel and branch libraries bonds would bear 4½ per cent interest. This was an increase in the total interest charge on all issues of $18,000 over the first bid of the Blair & Co., Inc., syndicate.

Councilman Criswell moved that the new offer of this syndicate be accepted, but the motion was opposed by Chairman Mushet of the Council's Finance Committee, which resulted in the final rejection of all bids and the calling for new ones on Monday.

CRUDE RUBBER MARKET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 26.—Although the price revisions on July 1 have been anticipated for the past two weeks the knowledge that this move would actually occur had a bullish effect on the crude rubber market today and after publication of the report that leading makers would increase prices from 19 to 21 cents per cent on July 1, rubber prices moved forward to new high marks. Spot crude was up 1 cent at 26 cents and other leading grades advanced from 1 to 2 cents. No great amount of business was transacted, factories having fairly well covered their immediate needs in the last two days of buying but some parcels changed hands for the accounts of dealers. The near revision for tires brings prices to the levels of approximately 40-cent rubber which is still materially below present levels. In this connection rumors are heard of further tire increases to be made shortly but as yet no definite indication can be obtained.

TRAFFIC CONGESTION ANALYZED

Street Cars Carry Bulk of Passengers Through Busy Sections of Los Angeles; Figueroa Handles Greatest Number of Vehicles

Street cars accommodated 61.3 per cent of the passengers carried through the business district of Los Angeles during a thirteen-hour period, according to figures obtained from an actual count of street cars and auto vehicles crossing designated boundaries of the congested district, and which were taken from the rapid-transit plan conceived by Kelker, De Leuw & Co., Chicago traffic engineers, in their recent report filed with this city.

Approximately 6.3 per cent of the vehicles passing through the congested district, namely street cars, accommodated 61.3 per cent of the passengers carried, while 78.4 per cent of the vehicles were passenger automobiles accommodating 32.5 per cent of the passengers carried. Commercial vehicles represented 15.4 per cent of the number of vehicles passing and carried 6.2 per cent of the passengers.

During the count a total of 339,913 vehicles passed through the congested district, of which 261,974 were passenger automobiles. The street cars numbered 20,641. Total passengers carried by all vehicles amounted to 1,205,698, of which 741,124 were carried by street cars, 393,322 by passenger automobiles and 74,252 by commercial vehicles.

The report shows that Figueroa street handled the greatest number of vehicles, and also the greatest number of passenger automobiles, 92,047 passenger automobiles passing over this street during the count. Los Angeles street carried the greatest number of street cars and commercial vehicles. Street cars numbered 7231 over this street, and commercial vehicles 20,825. The average number of passengers carried by the street cars was 35.9 while the average number carried by passenger automobiles was 1.5 passengers.

These figures show that only 11,000 additional street cars would have been required to accommodate all of the passengers carried by passenger automobiles, whereas, it would have required approximately 494,000 additional passenger automobiles to accommodate the passengers carried by the street cars.

The number of vehicles operated into and out of the congested district of Los Angeles during thirteen hours has reached the approximate total of 824,000. Similar counts for the central business district of Chicago made in 1923, show a total of 330,000 for a twenty-four-hour period. This is remarkable, when it is considered that Chicago has a population two and one-half times that of Los Angeles.

REPORTS BUSINESS DRAGGING

Retailers' Stocks Fail to Move Owing to Lack of Real Warm Weather

Bradstreet's weekly review of conditions in Los Angeles reports:

"Wholesale and jobbing trade reports all lines dragging, with buying limited. Retailers' stocks are not moving, due to lack of real warm weather, retarding trade. The real estate market continues quiet; little activity in home building, but larger operations appear more active. Building material volume is below a year ago.

Radio sales are on increase, but competition is very keen. The automotive trade reports satisfactory business in all departments except the used cars. Oil exports are on increase and local production good.

"Crops and weather continue favorable. Trading fairly active in produce markets. Cantaloupe receipts are forcing down prices. Cherries vary in price, but choice receipts receive good prices."

AUTHORIZE ISSUANCE OF ROOSEVELT BONDS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MESA (Ariz.) June 26.—The Roosevelt Water Conservation District, with only five adverse votes, has authorized issuance of $1,000,000 additional bonds for completion of the project. This is in addition to a $2,000,000 issue last fall, used in digging canals and in providing pumping plants. The new issue will be used in lining the district canals, as well as canals of the Salt River Association, from which water will be secured. It is hoped that all of the project's 42,000 acres will be under cultivation next season.

UNCHANGED BUSINESS IS TRADE VIEW

Seasonal Subsidence Not Exaggerated; Strength is Noted by Dun's

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 26.—Dun's tomorrow will say:

"Allowing for the slowing down which normally comes in different lines at this season, general business is without essential change. The uneven conditions that have prevailed for many weeks still appear, but there are more strong points and fewer unfavorable aspects than existed a year ago. Various reports and statistics make this fact clear and it is another reason for encouragement that grain crop prospects, on the whole, have recently improved. The commercial situation is marked, as it has been for some time, by the disinclination of most buyers to operate beyond well defined needs, yet in many instances purchases are repeated frequently and the aggregate volume is very large. Early hot weather, by quickening retail demands, reduced stocks of summer merchandise, particularly of drygoods, and this should react favorably upon some manufacturing industries."

London Daily Radio

BY ARTHUR W. KIDDY

[BY WIRELESS—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

(Evening Post Foreign Service, copyright, 1925, New York Post, Inc.)

LONDON, June 26.—A rather striking change in sentiment appeared in the financial markets today.

The tone in securities was decidedly cheerful in the first half of the day, a feature being the sharp recovery in British funds.

Leading home industrials also recovered, mainly as the result of completion of the fortnightly settlements without any actual failure.

The rise in investments must be attributed solely to covering of bear positions.

STREET-RAIL STOCK GOES TO BYLLESBY

Public-Utility Holdings in California Increased; Bay City Affected

Further consolidation of public-utility enterprises in California is reported from San Francisco as the result of the purchase recently of the Standard Light and Power Company of Maryland and the Pittsburg Utilities Corporation by H. M. Byllesby & Co., and Ladenburg, Thalman & Co. As a part of this transaction the Byllesby and the Ladenburg, Thalman & Co., group acquires a substantial stock interest in the Market Street Railway of San Francisco.

The Market Street Railway stock transferred in the deal has been owned by the Pittsburgh Utilities Corporation and Ladenburg, Thalman & Co. Together with H. M. Byllesby & Co., the former investment company has formed the new Standard Light and Power Corporation, which will hold the Market Street Railway stock and control the two eastern utility companies.

The Byllesby organization owns and manages public-utility properties throughout the country and has been especially active in promoting the super power plan.

In California, this organization owns or controls the Sierra and San Francisco Power Company, supplying power to the Market Street Railway Company; Coast Valleys Gas and Electric Company; Western States Gas and Electric Company and the San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric Company. In Oregon the Byllesby group has interests in the Coos Bay Gas and Electric Company and the Mountain States Power Company. All are controlled through the Standard Gas and Electric Company, a holding company.

As a result of this transaction, the Byllesby company looms as a more important contestant in the struggle for control of the utility business on the Pacific Coast. The other large groups are Southern California Edison, Pacific Gas and Electric, and the Western Power Corporation, controlling the Great Western Power Company and the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation.

Checks Mailed to Motor Bus Stockholders

Checks for the regular 2 per cent quarterly dividend payment on Pickwick Corporation preferred stock were mailed yesterday by the corporation to all preferred stockholders of record the 15th inst.

Officials of the corporation state that the Pickwick transportation department, for the first four months of this year, showed net operating profits in excess of $50,000 greater than the corresponding period last year. This, according to the corporation's estimate, indicates an increase in net earnings for the entire year of approximately 25 per cent over 1924, which was the record year for the business, both in volume and net earnings.

New motor coaches to accommodate the heavy summer traffic are being built by the Pickwick manufacturing plant in Los Angeles and placed in operation as rapidly as present capacity permits. During the next ninety days nineteen new coaches, seating from twenty to thirty passengers each, will be completed and placed in operation on the Pickwick lines.

The Clearinghouse

News of Spring Street

The Los Angeles office of A. E. Fitkin & Co., announced yesterday the opening of a school for bond salesmen on July 2, for the purpose of giving a course of training to cover all phases of investment banking from the fundamentals to the present-day methods of underwriting and distributing securities.

Young men who possess the necessary qualifications, will be enrolled without cost and carried through to the stage of actual work and earning power.

The school will be under the direction of Charles Wesley, formerly a New York banker and more recently associated with the New York organization of A. E. Fitkin & Co., underwriters and managers of public utility corporations throughout the East and Middle West.

To Teach Accounting

Planned for the benefit of those who intend to enter the public practice of accounting, as well as those who are interested in accounting from a business standpoint, practical evening courses in accounting are offered during the next five weeks at Metropolitan College, of the University of Southern California.

The following classes meet twice each week as follows: advanced accounting, Monday and Wednesday; elementary accounting, Tuesday and Thursday; C. P. A. problems, Tuesday and Thursday, and auditing, Wednesday and Friday.

Bond Company Pays

The Hollywood Bond and Mortgage Corporation, organized eighteen months ago, has announced the payment of its third semiannual dividend at the rate of 8 per cent on preferred stock and 10 per cent per annum on common stock, payable July 1, to stockholders of record the 20th inst.

During the past year the assets of the corporation have increased $144,457.05.

BUSINESS TODAY

Economist Expects Business to Improve This Fall—Readjustment Should Not Be Very Severe or Prolonged Dr. Haney of New York Declares.

BY PAUL WILLARD GARRETT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—One of our economists who has specialized of late in business analysis and forecasting, Dr. Lewis H. Haney, director of the New York University School of Business Research, has a curve that now and then throws interesting light upon business trends.

He calls it the P-V line in his charts. The name sounds highly technical but any layman can understand what it represents. P. stands for commodity prices and V. for the physical volume of trade. The P-V line means simply the ratio of commodity prices to the physical volume of trade. It is the main forecasting line used by Dr. Haney in an interesting article that appears in the current issue of the Iron Age.

LINE TURNS UPWARD

The peaks and valleys of the so-called P-V line ordinarily have anticipated the trend of ingot production by several months, say from two to six months. The distance by which the line has lead the ingot line has become shorter and shorter in recent years.

The main forecasting line turned downward late in 1924 and continued downward during the early part of 1925, but now has turned slightly upward again.

The conclusion that the compiler makes is that "this forecasts a check to the general business recession and the approaching end of the decline in steel ingot output. It is highly improbable that any declining trend in steel ingot production will continue beyond two months from now. The upturn in the forecasting line, however, is as yet so slight that it would be impossible to predict more than a rather stable condition in steel output, with slight variations possible in either direction."

Another sign of an upturn in the steel industry is that May figures reveal the first slackening in the rate of decline. While unfilled orders decreased, the rate of decline was smaller than in the months before.

LEADERS FEEL FOR BOTTOM

While the process of industrial readjustment that began in February was still going on in May, it has become more and more apparent, Dr. Haney says, that "this readjustment is not to be very severe or prolonged. It was preceded by no boom and production on the average was carried but little above normal. Accordingly no great slump or depression would be expected. The chief danger at present is that producers, in their desire to reduce unit costs by increasing volume may fail to allow the readjustment to become complete.

"The large amount of reliable information which exists regarding stocks and production in connection with the prevalence of hand-to-mouth buying will probably insure a very cautious procedure in business during the next few months. business leaders are feeling for the bottom of markets. This is making the current recession unusually orderly. It insures against severe depression and makes possible a gradual decline to a level which can be maintained. In short, it makes it possible to call the present recession a process of stabilization."

BAD CHECKS

The police forgery detail calls attention to the activities of a forger and bad-check artist, who has been operating quite extensively in this city during the past few days. It is his custom to obtain possession of a set of blank checks from some firm, and forge the name of an officer or employee of the concern, and persuade a merchant to deliver building material or merchandise to a fictitious address, after having obtained a sum of money in cash. Printed checks of J. T. Edwards studios in the 200 series, and blank checks of J. A. Evans, subdivider, in the 200 series, have been stolen and several issued by this man. He uses the names of L. B. Larkin and Cohn, although his true name is thought to be Daniel R. Broker.

Following is a description of the suspect: American, medium build, no beard, 5ft. 11in. tall, medium dark complexion, weight 160 pounds, about 32 years of age. When last seen wore gray trousers, white shirt and no coat.

Protective Forces Assume Control of Prices

Bullish Demonstrations in Motors and Tobaccos

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 26.—Constructive forces assumed control of the price movement in today's market, lifting it out of the narrow trading area in which it has been fluctuating all week by staging a series of bullish demonstrations in the motors, public utilities and selective specialties. Trading was in slightly lighter volume, today's sales aggregating about 1,250,000 shares.

Owing to the relatively small amount obtainable in the purchase of high-grade bonds, there was a good July reinvestment demand for seasoned dividend-paying stocks. Pools resumed activity in the low-priced issues on the belief that the high call money rates were only temporary and due to the heavy demand for funds in connection with midyear settlements.

MOTORS LEAD GROUP

General Motors, which is expected to increase the present $6 annual rate before the end of the year, assumed the leadership of the motor group by advancing from a new high record at 146 to a new high record at 148, a gain of 1 to 2 points also recorded by Nash Motors, Hudson, Stewart-Warner, Mack Truck, Carburetor, Willys-Overland, Packard Motors and Studebaker Motors. Hupp-Maxwell-Chalmers-Arrow issues again featured bands in large volume, the Hupp preferred soaring 3 points to a new high record at 173 and Maxwell gaining a point, while the Chalmers and the preferred showed substantial fractional recessions on the day. American Can led the standard industrials to higher ground in moving up more than 5 points to 104½, closing near the top. United States Steel common and preferred closed fractionally higher at 111¼ and 111½, respectively.

The rails moved steadily upward in response to the publication of additional favorable earnings statements, the heaviest buying of Canadian issues, which moved up over 4 points to 145, was based on the recommendation for the merging of the road with the Canadian National by a special railroad committee of the Canadian Senate.

NEW RECORD PEAKS

More than two dozen issues established new 1925 peak prices during the day. The list included Cigar Stores, Tobacco Products, Phillips Morris, Roberts, Yellow Cab, Lee Rubber, United States Rubber first preferred, Simmons Company, Woolworth, Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies preferred, Cudahy Packing Company, Foundation Company, Armour & Co. preferred duplicated the year's high.

Call money opened at 4½ per cent, the highest renewal rate since April 2, last, and then advanced to 5, closing at the top rate. Time money rates also hardened slightly, sixty to ninety-day funds being quoted at 3 3-4 to 4 per cent and the longer maturities at 3 7-8 to 4. Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Contrasting price movements characterized the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling ruled higher around $4.85 7-8, French francs and Italian lira broke about 10 points to new records for the year at 4.54½ and 3.69 cents, respectively. Belgian exchange also touched a new maximum for the year at 13.90 cents. Norwegian and Swedish exchange each soared over 100 points to new high records for the year at 17.55 and 19.80 cents, respectively.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Buying Retarded

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 26. — Bond prices moved in desultory fashion today, with buying retarded by the current stiffening of money rates and the employment of surplus funds in stock trading and mid-year settlements. Treasury 4s succeeded in reaching a new high level for the year, but other United States government obligations showed little change.

South American bonds continued to attract investment interest both from the standpoint of new offerings and of stock-exchange trading. The entire issue of $20,000,000 Chilean Mortgage Bank 6 1-2 per cent bonds was sold within a few hours, duplicating the earlier success of a $10,000,000 Province of Santa Fe loan.

Prices of corporation bonds moved within extremely narrow limits. Conflicting individual changes were supplied by the firmness of Sinclair, Pan American, United States Rubber and Pacific Gas issues as against fractional losses in Cuba Cane Sugar, Atlantic Refining, Laclede Gas and Illinois Steel obligations.

Fluctuations in the railroad group offered similar contrasts with semispeculative issues making a better showing than high-grade investment liens.

New York Central 5s, Canadian Pacific 4s and Southern Pacific 4s were among the heavy spots, while Frisco adjustment 6s displayed good rallying power.

Following are yesterday's high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange and the total sales of each bond. These quotations are furnished over Associated Press wires, and as impossible transmission the closing is omitted when it is the same as the last sale. Bonds dealt in for the account of the exchange are omitted when they are the same as the last sale.

THE CAT'S-EYE IS AN INTERESTING GEM

The dictionary describes the cat's-eye as a "gem exhibiting opalescent reflections from within, like the eyes of a cat. Specifically, a variety of chrysoberyl, or a variety of quartes or chalcedony, inferior to it in brilliancy. It is cut en cabochon."

The distinguishing feature of the cat's-eye stone is the peculiar milky-white, bluish or greenish-white sheen which crosses and recrosses it with every play of the light as the gem is turned about. The explanation of this peculiarity is that the stone contains, packed in its depths, many closely matted fibers of another strange mineral, familiar to us as asbestos. The thing which makes asbestos remarkable in the mineral world, is that though it is rock, it does not crumble when crusred but comes to pieces in the form of fibers. It is the streak of these fibers in the cat's-eye which causes it to reflect the light in its very lovely way, with every movement of the finger wearing it.

Of course, the beauty of the stone can also be greatly enhanced by the skill of the cutter. To say that the stone is cut "en cabochon" means that in this style of cutting the under part of the stone is shaped like a low dome, and it brings out all the natural luster and color of opaque and translucent stones. Therefore, such stones as the garnet, turquoise, cat's-eye, etc., are usually cut in this way.

The best cat's-eye comes from India and Ceylon. The quartz cat's-eye gives off this same ray of light in the greenish-gray color, but is far less beautiful. Another stone, the tiger's-eye resembles the cat's-eye, and was much in vogue twenty-five years or so ago, but has little demand at present. In color it is yellow, ranging through all the blues, greens and reds.—[Exchange.

RICH WIDOW IN FATAL PLUNGE

Mystery Surrounds Death of Former Opera Singer

Police Uncertain Whether She Fell or Leaped

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June, 26.—Mrs. Charles E. Crouse, a financier's widow, former singer in the opera, socially prominent, of Syracuse, N. Y., where her husband was a banker, fell or leaped—the police are not certain which—from the thirteenth floor of the Belmont Hotel yesterday, to the roof of the Lincoln National Bank, about sixty feet below.

She was found dead, in her night dress, at 7:30 a.m. by an employee of the hotel. A dinner ring worth many thousand dollars aided the identification.

Early investigation by the police disclosed a banquet on a table in the suite occupied by Mrs. Crouse. The card bore the name of a member of the New York Yacht Club. A bottle of medicine was found in the bedroom. These were explained to the satisfaction of the police. No one could be found who saw her plunge or heard the body strike.

John Krause, her chauffeur, told the police Mrs. Crouse was 55 years of age, and that her husband, a retired grocer and banker, died several years ago. In 1906 her husband attracted attention when he filed suit on behalf of thirten other heirs to the $10,000,000 estate of the late Daniel Crouse. The suit was against a sister, Mrs. Dorothea Crouse McVicker, of Englewood New York.

Before her marriage Mrs. Crause sang under the name of Alta Pease with the Boston Opera Company and other organizations. Papers and clothing in her trunks found in the Belmont suite indicated that she had been planning a European tour.

LEAP FAILS AS MEANS OF SUICIDE

Seventy-Foot Drop From New York Church Steeple Not Fatal to Frenchman

NEW YORK, June 26.—Gustave Gleize, 23, a bus boy in a French restaurant who had lodgings at 350 Eighth avenue, shambled down Sixth avenue at 2 o'clock the other afternoon and studied the sign "Always Open for Prayer" beside the door of the Church of the Holy Communion, Protestant Episcopal, at Twentieth street. He entered and sat for a while in a pew. He was the only person in the church except an assistant to the sexton who saw nothing unusual about his behavior.

When he was alone the youth went to the stairs to the choir loft, through the loft to the steeple tower until he came to an opening, which is seventy feet above the street level. A moment later he was in a heap on the Twentieth street sidewalk.

In falling he barely missed a group of women walking from Sixth avenue. Their screams brought Policeman Gallegher of the West Thirtieth-street Station. Gleize was still conscious and shook his head and smiled deprecatingly when the policeman asked if he were hurt.

The youth was taken to Bellevue Hospital by Ambulance Surgeon Hillman. On the way the policeman asked what made him try to kill himself.

Gleize drew from his pocket a letter. It was in French script.

"It is from my sweetheart in France," the injured man said. "It explains everything. Please do not trouble me."

Neither the policeman nor the surgeon could read the letter and the motive for the attempt at suicide was not entered on the record. The surgeons at the hospital said that through apparently miraculous good fortune, Gleize, while severely bruised and strained, had not suffered a mortal injury.

Manila Builds Second Largest Pier in World

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, June 26.—What is said to be the second largest pier in the world, and one which is not surpassed in the modernness of its facilities, has just been completed at Manila, according to advices to the Philippine bureau here. This pier, which was constructed at a cost of $4,000,000, is capable of accommodating eight of the largest steamships at the same time, four on each side, without any inconvenience. The pier, which was partly opened to traffic several months ago, has just been entirely completed and is a sign of the growth of trade between the Philippines and other countries.

Safety First, Chinese Style

We read that in Shanghai professional writers are hired to warn pedestrians against jay walking. An example of their output runs:

"Now the swift motor car and the clanging street car are just like tigers, and if you do not take care to watch the policeman at the corner and obey his signals you will not live to grow up and acquire many sons, but will be killed, and your sons, too, so that your ancestral tablets will be unattended. The road is like a tiger's mouth; from its center keep away."—[Boston Transcript.

Lovee!

The office boy returned from the sanctum. "Gee," he said, "the... has a rose in a vase on his desk. That means the boss is in love!"

EXCHANGE SEATS HIGHER

NEW YORK, June 26.—The soaring value of stock exchange seats today resulted in the transfer of a membership for $130,000, the highest price paid in the history of the exchange.

SHELL OIL WILL ENLARGE PLANT

Six New Cracking Stills to be Installed

Watson Refinery Output to be Doubled

Associated Also is Planning Expansion

Los Angeles' position as the world's leading oil port, received added security yesterday when the Shell Company of California began construction at Watson of six new cracking stills, costing $500,000, for the reduction of crude petroleum to refined products. It is expected that the new stills will almost double the present production of the Shell's present 32,000,000 refinery at Watson, of which the total output is exported from the local port.

William Cameron, general superintendent of the Shell refineries, announced that the expansion program will be pushed through to the earliest date of completion, that the California corporation may do its share to assist in meeting the world-wide demands on the Royal Dutch Shell Company, the parent corporation, for fuel oil and gasoline.

The Shell refinery is in the center of the $40,000,000 refinery district at Watson Station. Other plants also in full operation include those of the Pan American Petroleum Corporation, Union Oil Company, Associated Oil Company and the General Petroleum Corporation.

Announcement was also made by the Associated Oil Company that construction is already underway at Watson on a similar cracking plant, to cost $250,000.

It is estimated that employment for several hundred men will be afforded by both projects, both in their construction and operation.

HAWAII THEATRICAL GROUP DUE ON CALAWAII

Radio advices received by the Los Angeles Steamship Company from Capt. A. A. Sawyer state that the Calawaii will dock at Wilmington at 9:45 o'clock this morning.

The liner will be met at the dock by Lorwin Andrews, president of the Hawaiian Society of Los Angeles; Pauline Steele, secretary of that society, and by a deputation from the Los Angeles and Long Beach chambers of commerce, who will greet the 100 native Hawaiians of the Kamehameha Lodge of Hawaii forming a part for a total passenger list of 262.

The members of the Kamehameha Lodge are under the personal direction of Eben Low. They comprise players, chorus, dancers and orchestra, all natives of the Hawaiian Islands, many of them of royal ancestry. They are bringing with them a large store of native costumes and a historic seventy-five-foot war canoe.

The balance of the record passenger list coming on this steamship is made up of regular travelers who have been enjoying a vacation in the paradise of the Pacific.

MANY PASSENGERS ON LINERS DUE TODAY

Seven hundred passengers will arrive at daylight this morning from New York, Havana, the Panama Canal and Hawaii, aboard the Panama-Pacific liner Mongolia, from the first three ports, and on the Calawaii, from Honolulu, Hilo and Kahului. On Sunday the Japanese liner Canada Maru, Osaka to Seattle via Kaisha around-the-world steamer, will arrive from New Orleans with 350 travelers and at daylight Monday the Dollar around-the-world liner President Monroe is due with 100 passengers.

Congressman John R. Fredericks and Mrs. Fredericks are returning aboard the President Monroe. Others for this port include Bert E. Haney, United States Shipping Board Commissioner; Theodore Noyes, editor of the Washington Evening Star; Mrs. Ward Fenton, New York society leader, and the following Angeleno: Dr. and Mrs. Dudley Fulton, Mrs. C. Fuller and Winston Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Drummond and the Misses Louise and Lillian Drummond.

L. J. Roehling, district general agent at Los Angeles for the General Steamship Corporation and newly appointed district agent for the Clarkson Steamship Line, dropped dead from heart failure early yesterday morning at his home, 1030 West Adams street. Mr. Roehling was one of the best known transportation men on the Pacific Coast and had been connected with the General Steamship Corporation for the past ten years, recently holding an executive position in the corporation's San Francisco offices.

Arrangements have been completed whereby the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company will act as soliciting and booking agent at New York for the just-inaugurated intercoastal passenger service of the Panama Mail Steamship Company, which has taken over the route and fleet of the Panama Mail Steamship Company. The service will be maintained on fortnightly basis with the steamers Colombia, Venezuela and Ecuador. The new arrangements, which affects intercoastal bookings only, are effective July 1.

The temporary appointment by the Harbor Commission of Capt. Harry Miller as municipal port pilot was announced yesterday. Capt. Miller will fill the offices temporarily made vacant through the illness of Capt. T. T. Tallaksen. The appointment receives the pilot personnel to seven.

The new pilot has been following the sea for more than thirty years, putting into this port almost that long ago on the old three topmasted schooner Alfa with lumber from the Northwest many a time. With the dominance of steam vessels Capt. Miller gained command of several, sailing practically every water traversed by big vessels. His last command was the Shipping Board steamer Mohawk.

In addition to pilot's license for the local port, he holds similar papers for many other Pacific Coast ports and river and bay pilot's licenses for the Mississippi river. He has a wife and daughter at San Pedro, where he has made his life home for twenty-two years.

Capt. Tallaksen has been ill more than a month, suffered it is said, when he fell into a turntable pit on the Isthmian dock, after docking a vessel. He has been given another month's leave of absence in the hope he will be able to return to duty in that time. He is second senior pilot in the municipal employ, having been here since shortly after the war. He has been to sea for half a century, starting in Norway when a small boy, later commanding windjammers on the Great Lakes many years.

With concrete piling already driven, Harbor Commissioners this week let contracts for footings and decktops on the new Berths 230 A and B, and plans for the transit shed costing $295,000 will be ready for the new Harbor Commission to call for bids immediately after they take office in July. The shed, the fourth of the series comprising what is known as the Union Pacific Terminals on Terminal Island, will be 800 feet wide and approximately 1000 feet long.

The lumber steamer H. W. Baxter is due tomorrow with lumber for the J. H. Baxter & Co., after being thirty-five days on route from Nanaimo, B. C. Sailing from that port June 23, she hit a York gale the following day off Vancouver Island, limping into Everett, where she underwent a month's repairs.

Conundrum

A young lawyer tried hard to give himself the appearance of being exceedingly busy. During his absence from the office he always left a card on the door marked:

"Will be back in an hour."

DECLARES THAT MEAT IS HARMLESS

LIVE STOCK OFFICIAL TERMS REPORTS TO THE CONTRARY UNWARRANTED

Stories current of the harmful effects of eating meat were entirely unwarranted, R. C. Pollock, Chicago, general manager of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, said recently.

Mr. Pollock was one of the speakers at a dinner given the board by Kansas City live-stock men at the Kansas City Athletic Club.

Mr. Pollock explained that the board did not organize to put on an "eat-more-meat" campaign, but to educate the people as to where meat stands as a diet.

"And we want to educate them further," he continued, "that there is something else in beef besides a porterhouse steak. The most expensive cuts are not necessarily the best. A great deal depends on the cooking.

The meeting was opened by J. H. Mercer, Topeka, director of the national board. Fred H. Olander, president of the Kansas City Live-Stock Exchange, was toastmaster. D. A. Millett, Denver, chairman of the national board, said the object of the meat board was to conduct a scientific research to improve the quality of meat and the production of live stock.

L. A. Tenny, assistant chief of the department of agricultural economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, urged more intelligent production.

"Our slogan is 'Intelligent Production and Economic Distribution,' Mr. Tenny said. "Practically all marketing problems are settled by the consumers' demands. The day of blind production without a thought for the consumer must go."

F. B. Mumford, dean of the College of Agriculture at Columbia, Mo., said that meat was an essential dish on the American table.

Mr. Mumford asserted the government experimental stations were making extensive scientific researches to determine the quality of meat and how it can be measured. He said it has been discovered that feed as well as climate influences the quality of meat.

E. W. Sheets, chief of the division of animal husbandry of the United States Department of Agriculture, urged more co-operation.

Dr. H. J. Waters, editor of the Weekly Kansas City Star, said he had no hesitation in advising people to eat more meat. He said government stations were experimenting with certain breeds of cattle to determine in what locality they thrive best.

"The principle is fundamentally right," he said.—[Kansas City Times.

ARMY FASHION

"I can tell you how to keep from losing your collar buttons," Clevenger volunteered. "Have your wife sew your collar to your shirt."

"Good idea," Brown exclaimed. "I'll just try out your suggestion." A few days later the two met again.

"I didn't like your scheme a bit," complained Brown. "I tried it for two days, but the collar hurt my neck so I couldn't sleep."—[American Legion Weekly.

PEELS RICH WITH 850 WIVES

In Africa's one real republic, Liberia, wives are like wealth and from this fact alone Christian missionaries are finding great trouble in converting the natives properly to conform to Christian standards. A chieftain with 850 wives, all of whom he inherited or received as gifts, with the exception of ten of his choice, is one example of the polygamy that hinders mission work. To ask a Liberian to give up his wives and slaves, is like asking an American to give up his money and become a pauper.

The Italian greyhound, which was evolved by Roman and Greek lovers of beautiful dogs, is considered by many artists of today as without a peer in grace. It is known of Frederick the Great that he was especially attached to the breed and always had them around him. He established a beautiful cemetery for his beloved greyhounds in the park of San Souci and directed that he be buried among his dogs.

Son Cien los Muertos Chinos

TOKIO, Junio 26. — El Barón Shidehara, ministro de Relaciones Exteriores, y jefe del negociado asiático discutió hoy las demandas chinas en favor de la extraterritorialidad; pero no decidió nada definitivo, pues el asunto tiene que ser estudiado por el gabinete en pleno.

Un informe consular de Hongkong, presentado anoche, asienta que fueron muertos más de cien chinos en la batalla de ayer en Cantón. Resultaron heridos tres japoneses, uno de ellos gravemente. Fueron destacados ayer dos contratorpederos del apostadero de Pescadores, uno para Cantón y el otro para Amoy. Sólo queda en tierra el personal consular en Shameen, demarcación extranjera de Cantón, que ha interrumpido toda comunicación directa.

Un ayudante del ministerio de Relaciones dijo hoy que los japoneses se están reservando el derecho a indemnización por la pérdida de vidas y propiedades japonesas, por más que no desean castigar a los chinos.

Dudan de que los Desórdenes Lleguen a Manila

MANILA, Junio 26.—Dicen la policía urbana y rural que es muy poco probable que se extiendan hasta Manila los disturbios chinos, con la posible excepción de las huelgas en los muelles, a pesar de ser muy numerosa la población china aquí. La razón para que esto se mantenga en calma es que los chinos que por acá residen son casi todos comerciantes, y hay muy pocos jornaleros o estudiantes.

Los delegados estudiantiles chinos que están trabajando aquí para arbitrarse fondos destinados a los chinos de Hongkong y de Cantón, están haciendo lo posible por creer el desorden en ésta; pero su tentativa ha tenido poco éxito. Por lo que ve a contribuciones, algunas se han enviado desde esta a Cantón y Amoy.

Los Obreros de Tokio se Amotinan contra los Americanos

TOKIO, Junio 26.—No obstante que se han callado los pormenores, dícese que se produjeron actos de rebelión en los Talleres Libres de Nippon, suburbio de Tokio, contra los mayordomos americanos. Hace poco que fueron empleados en la fábrica dos peritos americanos en eficiencia, a fin de implantar nuevos métodos. Los operarios se amotinaron contra los inspectores extranjeros, amenazando con daños personales y con huelga. Corre válido el rumor en los círculos japoneses de que se ha iniciado una agitación para pedir el regreso a los Estados Unidos de todos los ingenieros, mayordomos y superintendentes americanos que se encuentran empleados actualmente en los talleres y empresas japonesas.

El Presidente de Méjico en Pro de la Educación

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Junio 26. La víspera de la partida del Presidente Calles para el Estado de Durango, donde va a presidir la apertura de una nueva escuela de agricultura, el ministro de Educación publicó hoy una declaración en la que se hace saber que el Presidente ha manifestado que las escuelas son el único medio para "redimir, libertar y emancipar" a las clases bajas y a los indios.

Añade la declaración que la misa del Presidente es establecer un total de 5000 escuelas distribuídas en toda la nación, particularmente en los distritos más aislados. Ya el número de escuelas ha sido aumentado, debido a los esfuerzos del Presidente, de 1800, que había a fines de 1924, a 2390 que hay ahora, según se manifiesta en la citada declaración.

En estas escuelas la asistencia escolar diaria llega a 103,500. Varias poblaciones le han ofrecido ya al gobierno, a título gratuito, más de 1000 edificios, con la condición de que se les transforme en escuelas.

NOTAS LOCALES

Nuestra Ciudad Visitada por una Onda Caliente

Ayer reinó en Los Angeles y sus aledaños un fuerte calor, que se hizo tanto mas sensible, cuanto que subió un poco el grado de humedad. Para hoy no se espera ningún alivio, según las observaciones hechas anoche. En Pasadena quedó batido el record de ocho años, y atribuyen esto en el observatorio del monte Wilson a vientos variables en el desierto de Mojave.

Tierra adentro subió aun más que aquí la temperatura y hubo aguaceros en algunos lugares, en ocasiones acompañados de truenos y de unos cuantos relámpagos. Esto provocaron un incendio de malezas en las montañas, el que pudo extinguirse antes de causar mucho daño.

En Los Angeles, la máxima, hasta las 11:30 del día de ayer, fue de 88 grados, en la estación meteorológica de los Estados Unidos, sita en la esquina de las calles Sexta y Main.

DEPORTES

Tennis

LONDRES, Junio 26.—El poderoso Casey actuó en Wimbledon hoy. El macizo zurdo californio, que lleva el mismo nombre que el descalificado pelotari de Mudville, sucumbió ante los hábiles tiros sesgados de la maravilla juvenil de Francia, el chicho René Lacoste, quien le ganó en series seguidas por 8-6, 6-4 y 6-1. Presenciaron la hucha unos 14,000 aficionados, que conservaron sus asientos a pesar del calabobos que no cesó de caer durante la cuarta tanda de los nones masculinos.

ALUMNI OF HIGH SCHOOL PICK TYLER

Grid Hero and Champion Orator Named at Banquet of Franklin Association

Donald Tyler, winner of the national high school oratorical contest in 1924 and former Franklin High School football player, last night at a banquet of several hundred alumni in the gymnasium of the school was elected president of the Franklin High Alumni Association. The meeting was presided over by Charles B. Moore, principal of the school.

Since winning the oratorical contest in 1924, Tyler has been active in public speaking about Los Angeles and vicinity.

While in school Tyler was active in debating and dramatic circles and in addition to his prowess on the athletic field was also president of the senior class, and member of the student council and self-government boards. He lives at 4557 North Griffin avenue.

WIN LAND BOTH OWN, AGAINST THIRD PARTY

The peculiar situation at the boundary line between Massachusetts and New Hampshire at Salisbury Beach, where Massachusets owns part of New Hampshire and New Hampshire owns part of Massachusetts was brought out recently in the Land Court, before Judge Davis, says the Boston Globe.

The land was purchased in 1891 by a joint commission, which was appointed to fix the boundary. The land, which stretched to the water's edge, was purchased to protect the boundary, and the deed was taken jointly in the name of both States.

Recently the Salisbury Beach Associates attempted to register title to land in the vicinity of this tract, and included some land which the two States said belonged to their joint holdings. In the Land Court the States won out, and that portion was excluded from registration. Atty.-Gen. Jay R. Benton appeared for Massachusetts and Atty.-Gen. Jeremy R. Waldron for New Hampshire.

The States also won certain restrictions on adjoining lands, such as against buildings too close to the boundary, and rights of way over certain proposed streets. These restrictions apply down to the water's edge.

CANADIAN CUSTOMS AID AUTO TOURISTS

PERMIT ONLY FORMALITY NEEDED TO TAKE IN 30 DAYS DUTY FREE

Under a recent ruling, the Canadian customs department now permits American automobilists to tour (for pleasure purposes only) in the Dominion of Canada for a period of thirty days by simply applying to the collector at the frontier port for a permit; it is, therefore, no longer necessary to obtain a customs bond if the stay does not exceed this period.

For a stay of more than thirty days, but not exceeding six months it is necessary, in order to avoid payment of the duty, to secure a bond for double the estimated duties, based on appraisement of the car by the customs officer, said bond to be guaranteed by two Canadian citizens approved by the collector of customs. Also, a deposit of $25, which is returned upon the exportation of the car.

To avoid the tiresome formalities of bonding, etc., automobilists may avail themselves of the special arrangement, which a number of customs bankers have with the Dominion authorities, whereby they are able to furnish bonds and customs touring permit for a fee of $5, no cash deposit being required. This permit can be mailed to the home of the intended tourist, and is good for crossing into Canada at any point on the frontier without formality and also for re-entry into the United States at the same or any other port of exit.—[Philadelphia Ledger.

Too Polite

"Did you get home all right last night, sir?" said the conductor.

"Of course—why not?" asked the passenger.

"Well, when you got up to give your seat to that lady you were the only two people in the car?"—[Stray Stories.

MISINTERPRETED

Some few years ago an English family rented a Scottish castle up in the highlands. It was situated near a loch, and one day, desiring to make an excursion into the nearest town, the visitors arranged for a ferryboat to take them across.

Just before their departure, however, the sky became overcast. Great black clouds hung low over the water and rain seemed imminent.

The father, fearing that his daughter might suffer from the effects of a soaking, turned to the boatman and asked:

"I say, can you tell me where I might get hold of a mackintosh for my daughter?"

The boatman rested on his oars for a moment, and then he replied:

"HELLO" IS WANING

Telephone officials state that usage of the familiar salutation, "hello," is gradually dying out. More and more are telephone users appreciating the fact that an effective telephone personality not only is a valuable business asset, but is equally desirable as a social asset. Accordingly, when Mrs. Smith's telephone rings she tries to identify herself at once by saying "Mrs. Smith speaking," rather than simply "Hello," which must lead to further identification.—[Telephone Press.

"Friendly Voice" Required

"Make your voice friendly."

Each of the 1500 extension telephones in the various offices of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey bears a card, attached to the transmitter, telling the user to make his voice friendly. The officers of the corporation and its subsidiaries realize the value of a friendly personality either when dealing with the public by telephone or otherwise, and with that end in view have instructed their workers in the proper use of the telephone.—[Telephone Press.

British authorities are trying to stop radio howling in districts where Communism is rampant, that interrupts all listeners in that vicinity.

SUFFERED AFTER BIRTH OF BABY

Trouble Caused by Getting Up Too Soon. Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Talcville, New York. — "I thought it would interest you to know what benefit I have derived from taking your medicine. A few days after the birth of my third child I got up too quick. Then just before my fifth child was born I had inflammation of the bladder and displacement. Seeing your advertisement in a Liverpool (England) paper I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and that was the best confinement I had. Whenever I feel run down I always take the Vegetable Compound as a tonic. We have just removed from Brockville (Canada) so I was pleased when the store ordered the medicine for me and I got it today. I would not be without it for any price and I recommend it to ladies around here because I feel so sure it will benefit any woman who takes it."—Mrs. AGNES WIGNALL, Talcville, New York.

Women can depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve them from ills peculiar to their sex. For sale by druggists everywhere.

KISS VALUED AT SIX CENTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 26.—One kiss (stolen)—6 cents.

Such a price tag was affixed today by twelve good men and true in Brooklyn Supreme Court upon the antique symbol of deep affection—much to the dismay of Miss Bella Wiener, 18 years of age, who rated kisses (stolen) at $10,000 each.

Miss Weiner is six feet in height. Jacob Lisinsky, 47 years of age, who manufactures bathing suits, is four feet, ten inches and weighs 100 pounds. Lisinsky gave Miss Wiener her first job, last September and on the following Saturday afternoon, she charged, he liked her work so well that he gave her a kiss. So Miss Weiner sued him for $10,000. Lisinsky denied he kissed his buxom ex-employee, but admitted he had discharged her soon afterward.

"How could I reach up to kiss her?" he asked the court.

Miss Wiener insisted she had never been kissed before the incident she related and declined to tell the court whether she had been kissed since.

COUNCILMEN IN ORATORIC BATTLE

Tempers Thrown Into Uproar as Hostilities Open

Retraction as Apology is Made and Accepted

Councilman Allan yesterday withdrew a statement made by Councilman Criswell a little while before, in which Criswell struck back at Allan for the latter's charge that Criswell had told a lie. This traditional parliamentary amenity was preceded by an exhibition of difference of opinion that took place during a City Council session, and in anticipation of a renewal of hostilities a large crowd probably will be present when the Council reconvenes next Tuesday.

Allan, said yesterday he could feel no effects from the blow. Councilman Criswell is wearing a damaged right eye that was slightly swollen. As it is known, this is the first battle in the history of the city that a Councilman has struck a fellow-Councilmen at a meeting of the City Council.

CRISWELL TELLS STAND

Upon the statement of the Councilman he wished to make clear that he did not call Councilman Criswell a liar. "I never in my life called a man a liar," he said. "I did call the statement made by him a lie, however." Criswell, in opposition to Allan, said he could not see how the taxpayers lost any money. I could not see the method of procedure, because it was not in accordance with the policy of making "one rule for one and another for all alike."

Allan, in the debate which brought about the withdrawal by Councilman Criswell of the attempted

High School Students Put in Emotional Week

BY ALMA WHITAKER

Our young high school intelligentsia have had an emotional week of it.

No starry prima donna exalted by the plaudits of the crowd, no motion-picture actor flushed with the first dazzle of seeing his name emblazoned in the electric signs, no lover in the throes of his first love affair, knows the conflicting emotions and the exaltations, the hopes, fears and erratic palpitations of achievement, better than these, our high school graduates.

This last week — after four ardent years, after the ambitions and despairs of making one's grades, of the expectant anguish of waiting to know whether one has achieved "rec. rating" (the marks that mean recommendation and make the ensuing college days possible,) after the commendable anxiety to win eclat with the family, while snatching a little leisure for athletics and playtime on the side, after weary nights of swatting over homework, after the affectionate friendships or armed neutralities in one's relations with one's teachers, after the joyous comradeships and the exciting enmities with one's fellow-students — is poignant with taut, ardent feeling.

Tears are desperately near the surface, and on commencement night many girls frankly cry and most of the boys are so painfully near it that not to cry is sheer heroism and manly pride.

Laughter is a little forced and hysterical, the whole school is taut with all sorts of mysterious emotions, even the crabbiest of teachers becomes strangely kind; principals become astonishingly human and Mrs. Susan B. Dorsey's carefully prepared remarks about being on the threshold of their careers are listened to with palpitating hearts, poignant little giggles, ecstatic little gurgles and wondrous, gorgeously imaginative hope.

These dear, blessed boys and girls of ours — graduating from high school is indeed, the last lap of their childhood's journey, the beginning of tremendous responsibilities for many of them. Oh, but they are brave, gloriously exuberant. They know they are leaving their childhood behind them, they know that they face the mysterious, tremendous futures, even if they cannot express it all, even to themselves.

But that is why the tears are so near the surface, too . . . not fear, not unhappiness, just poignant, thrilling emotion for all that has been, for all that may be. Their very toes quiver with it.

It takes hard study, tremendous application, desperately sincere ambition, any amount of extraordinary self-discipline to graduate from high school these days. No fool, no moron can do it. No slacker can do it. No waster can do it. Every boy and girl among them must have had a fine conscience, a precious sense of responsibility, keen industry, any amount of self-denial.

And when from family causes, from physical causes, through some unkind handicap of fate, they do not graduate in the prescribed four years, these children suffer as poignantly, quiver as surely under the blow, as any grown-up who has missed his own best. No ardent author whose first book was a failure, no man whose first venture in business went wrong, no lover who has lost his love, suffers any more genuine sense of cruel frustration than these, our dear, ambitious boys and girls when fate is hard. And often they take their blow with far greater gallantry.

Hate school — nonsense! Literally thousands of our boys and girls will attend summer school voluntarily this vacation season. Some to catch up, some to forge ahead, all with a precious, inspiring gallantry.

Ah, but there isn't much the matter with the world while we have boys and girls like this growing up amongst us. And there isn't very much the mat-

EDISON PLANS BIG LIGHT LINE

To Construct Second Power Transmission Project

State Railroad Commission Grants Authority

Expansion Appropriation for This Year Enormous

Plans for the construction of an additional high-tension electric transmission line through Fresno, Tulare, Kern and Los Angeles counties, at a cost of approximately $11,000,000 have been perfected and approved by the Southern California Edison Company, according to an announcement made yesterday.

The new transmission line will operate at 220,000 volts, the same voltage as the line recently constructed, and will be of a capacity to carry a larger amount of power than the present lines. This line will carry the largest amount of any line in the world, according to the statement.

AUTHORITY GRANTED

The Railroad Commission has issued to the company a certificate of public conveyance and necessity covering the construction of the project. In commenting on the project George C. Ward, vice-president in charge of construction, said:

"The new line will embody all the improvements and economics resulting from the years of experience of the company in constructing and operating lines of this character. It will greatly benefit the power service of the company in the San Joaquin Valley and Southern California, in view of the continued growth of the demand. It is probable that actual construction work will commence in the early fall, although the date has not been actually fixed."

In the Sierra Nevada Mountains in the northeastern part of Fresno county, the company is now progressing with the largest water power development project in the world. The work when completed, with its transmission lines, distributing system and substations, will cost $375,000,000, or $15,000,000 more than the cost of the Panama Canal.

POWER SOURCES

With the completion of this project and those on other watersheds, together with the necessary steam reserve plants, 2,250,000 horsepower of electric energy will be developed, principally from the streams which derive their flow from the melting of snow on the Kaiser and Minaret ranges.

The energy from the power houses in the high Sierras is brought to Los Angeles, all of Southern California and part of the San Joaquin Valley by the largest voltage transmission line in the world, which was put into service in the summer of 1923, is 270 miles in length and operates at 220,000 volts.

Edison water power plants, twenty-one in number, are divided into four groups. From north to south the first and most important is the Big Creek-San Joaquin River group, located along the backbone of the high Sierras, just a few miles south of the Yosemite Valley. About seventy-five miles south of these is the Mt. Whitney group of three plants on the Kaweah and Tule rivers. These lie on the western slope of the lower Sierras near Sequoia National Park.

STEAM PLANTS ALSO

Another group of three plants is located on the Kern River, east of Bakersfield. The fourth group, and the first in historical order, consists of ten relatively small plants on the streams which flow southward from the San Bernardino and Sierra Madre Mountains. The supplementary steam plants, four in number, are located at Long Beach, Redondo, Santa Barbara and Visalia.

Since the armistice the Edison Company has spent nearly $143,000,000 for expansion, including auxiliary steam plants and distribution facilities. The appropriation for this year of $25,000,000, is one of the largest single appropriations ever made for any purpose in the State, and is said to be one of the largest ever made in the United States. It includes expenditures for transmission and distribution lines and additional apparatus for meeting the demands of Los Angeles and the 312 cities, towns and intervening rural communities in which the company supplies electricity for light, heat, manufacture, irrigation and transportation.

A HOG OF A HEDGE

It Grows Twenty Feet High and Causes Complaints

Madam, cut that tree,
Spare not a single bough,
Because your neighbors, can't you see,
Can't see your backyard now.

It was inspired by complaints from neighbors against rows of hedges, twenty feet high, that form a fence on each side of the sanatorium. The neighbors, Mrs. Nellie Thompson and H. A. Hucke, asserted the high hedges were a menace, in that they afforded criminals and others a hiding place at night.

With the individual complaints of the neighbors on each side was presented a petition against the hedges signed by other neighbors.

Chief Investigator Poland of the Prosecutor's office visited the seat of the neighborly friction and found the hedges really were twenty feet high. So he recommended that they be cut to six feet high to conform to a city ordinance.

FORCE BIDS CHIEF HOME FAREWELL

Department Head to Retire Monday After Twenty Years in City's Service

More than 200 members of the detective bureau assembled yesterday afternoon at Central Station to bid farewell to Chief of Detectives Home, who will retire to private life Monday after twenty years' service in the police department.

Chief Home in a brief farewell address praised in high terms the detectives with whom he had worked for so many years, and urged the members of the bureau to give his successor the same whole-hearted co-operation which he has received. He said he will not recommend a man to succeed him as head of the detective bureau, stating the selection of his successor was the task of the Civil Service Commission.

Rupert Hughes Quits Goldwyn Picture Studio

In brief statements from Louis B. Mayer, vice-president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and Maj. Rupert Hughes, the public was informed yesterday that Maj. Hughes and the Culver City picture-making organization had parted company.

"By mutual agreement," said the Mayer statement, the contract was terminated but no reason was given.

"Mr. Hughes has certain plans in connection with his future motion-picture activities in which every member of our organization wishes him every success," the statement continued.

Maj. Hughes's statement was even briefer.

"In the termination of my contract with the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Corporation, I leave that organization with the best wishes for its future success and the kindliest feelings toward every executive in that company," it said.

VETERAN RAIL CLERK DIES

Funeral services for Nathan A. Heacock, retired veteran railway mail clerk, were conducted at 3 p.m. yesterday at the Bramble Chapel, 1249 South Flower street. Mr. Heacock, who died Wednesday, was for thirty-nine years a clerk on a fast mail train between Chicago and Omaha. He retired three years ago and came to Los Angeles, living at 4417 Burns avenue. He leaves his widow and one daughter, Miss Florence Heacock, a teacher in the Los Angeles schools.

PICTURE KIDDIES PROMOTED

School Year of Young Actors Closes With Exercises Attended by Superintendent Dorsey

School closed yesterday for ninety-four little toilers who will have no more concern with classes until autumn but who, nevertheless, will continue their labors as actors in the motion-picture industry of Los Angeles. Their school year came to an end yesterday with exercises in the auditorium of the Part-Time High School, with fifty-six children from the Child Welfare centers.

The promotion exercises were in charge of R. D. Dunlap, director of child welfare, with Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, Superintendent of Schools, an interested and honored guest. Mrs. Dorsey, during the ceremonies, took occasion to compliment both the instructors and the pupils on the excellent work they have done during the year.

The proceedings were started with a xylophone series by Dick Winslow, and readings and dances by George Ward, both screen players. Seven colored girls from the Girls' Welfare Center, sang negro spirituals. Then followed the presentation of promotion certificates to the various members of the welfare center classes and the studio schools.

Among those who were congratulated personally by Mrs. Dorsey were the White triplets, Herman, William and Johnny, 12 years of age.

BOY KILLED IN RACE TO BEAT PALS

Truck Crushes Out Life as He Runs into Street; Girl is Injured by Bus

Milton Hulls, 10 years of age, was crushed to death beneath the wheels of an ice truck yesterday as he dashed across the intersection at Avenue Fifty-eight and Monte Vista street ahead of his companions, so he could be the first in the Highland Park Baptist Church, where graduation exercises were to be conducted by the school he attended.

The boy ran in the path of an Associated Ice Company truck, driven by Harry C. Chandler of 6505 Elgin strete. The wheels of the truck passed over the boy before the heavy vehicle could be brought to a halt.

Police did not hold the driver.

A second traffic accident, in which Maria Guterre, 11 years of age, of 254 East Slauson avenue, was the victim, also was reported to police yesterday.

The girl was struck down by a Los Angeles Railway bus near the intersection of Sixty-first and San Pedro streets. The bus, driven by C. W. Brown, was backing out of an alley. She is suffering from a possible skull fracture, a broken hip and severe cuts and bruises. It was stated at the Receiving Hospital. She is expected to recover.

Committee Cuts Huge Sum From Budget Figures

The City Council Budget Committee made rapid progress yesterday, lopping off, with the aid of Efficiency Director Knox, $184,903 from department estimates. The committee will have a special meeting today and hopes to be able to present the completed budget to the retiring City Council for adoption before Tuesday night. About $408,000 is still to be eliminated to bring the budget down to $20,000,000.

The committee will leave for the consideration of the new Council all increases of salaries and increases in personnel asked for and totaling about $3,000,000.

UNDERGROUND LAKE LOCATED

Makes Possible Irrigation of Desert Lands

Body of Water Discovered Just Over Border

Believed Old Bed of Colorado River

The existence of a vast underground deposit of water in the northeastern corner of Lower California has been definitely established, H. H. Clark, general manager of the Colorado River Land Company, made known here yesterday upon his arrival from Calexico.

The discovery, made certain by a well brought in two days ago, is revolutionary for two reasons: First, it upsets the established belief that this territory has no underground water and will result in the alteration of the geological theories about the composition of that portion of the Southwest; second, it is likely to change the entire agricultural situation, making possible irrigation from wells at altitudes unsuited for supply from the surface waters of the Colorado River.

This should make possible the farming of hundreds of thousands of acres of land now desert or cattle range, for the soil of the district is uniformly good.

RICH SOIL

Until recently, efforts to find well water in this region, on either side of the international line, have failed. Some drilling as far down as 900 feet brought no water. The Imperial Valley is composed of silt deposits that make it the richest agricultural land outside of Egypt and the assumption has always been that farming this rich soil depends on river irrigation systems.

Recently, well drilling has been successful along the old bed of the Colorado in Lower California, which runs almost due south from the international line. But it has been assumed that this water came from a subterranean river lying directly under the disused river bed. However, the Colorado River Land Company has drilled two wells at some distance from the old bed of the river and water has been encountered in unexpected quantities. This proves that there is a water deposit at least ten miles square, and it is fairly safe to assume that it extends for many miles into the interior, not so much as an underground river, as an underground lake.

RIVER FORMATION

In drilling these wells it was found that the gravel level contains sand and rocks, some as large as a man's head, which are polished smooth — typical river-bottom formation. The upper surface is made up of silt. It had been believed that the valley was formed by deposits of silt left by sluggish streams similar to the present Colorado and Gila rivers of that section.

But the underground river-bottom formation shows that at one time a mighty river, capable of moving rocks like the mountain streams of the Rockies, flooded the district and that this ancient river bed now forms an underground waterway far beneath the arid surface. These deposits of rock could not have been brought down by a river flowing over an almost level plain as the present Colorado flows, so it is assumed that the entire slant of the country was different in the by-gone ages, and this the farmers of the valley believe will puzzle geologists for a long time to come.

PUMPING AT MINIMUM

The five wells already drilled on the Colorado Land Company property yield an average flow of from 400 to 600 miner's inches, permitting each well to irrigate from 600 to 800 acres of land. Other wells have been brought in in the neighborhood, two on the property of Paul Williams and one over the Sonora State line. The latter well constantly flows. Water is being encountered more than 120 feet down, but in all cases, except the flowing well in Sonora, the water rises to a point from six to fifteen feet from the surface, with a maximum draw of ten feet, reducing the cost of pumping to a minimum.

The last well brought in is located about thirteen miles west of the old river bed at a point four miles below the international line. Still another on the Colorado River Land Company property has been brought in farther to the south and about ten miles from the old river bed. Mr. Clark announces that the company will now drill still farther to the south at several locations, and he is confident that sufficient water can be obtained to irrigate much, if not all, of a tract of some 200,000 acres of unimproved land owned by the company in that region.

These wells also will add to the

WIFE BEATER SENTENCED

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BELL, June 26.—A. D. Whipple, who entered a plea of guilty to beating his wife, has been given a sentence of thirty days in the County Jail by Judge Edward Miller of Huntington Park. This is the second time in eight months Whipple has been arrested on a charge of this nature, the first time having been given a thirty days' suspended jail sentence.

HUGE REALTY DEAL CLOSED

Contracts Signed for Construction of Thirty-one Glendale Residences to Cost $800,000

Thirty-one high class residences, involving a transaction of $800,000, have been ordered built in the exclusive Kenneth Road district of Glendale within the next four months.

The Los Angeles contracting firm of O'Neal & Son yesterday signed contracts and gave guarantee bonds promising to complete construction on the thirty-one homes within 120 days from the start of work next Tuesday, it was announced last night by Birch O'Neal, manager of the firm.

Sites for the homes, located on Kenneth Road, Cumberland Drive, Idlewood, Cleveland and Arden streets, were purchased for $100,000, it was reported by O. A. Aispaugh, of the real estate department of the H. L. Miller Company. Construction loans have been negotiated on the property to the amount of $300,000, it was said.

The deal is considered to be the largest single realty deal transpiring in the Glendale district this year.

The cost of each home will average slightly more than $12,500 and they will be built in the most modern style of Spanish, Italian and English architecture.

The H. L. Miller Company will have exclusive sale of the residences and will establish an office in the heart of the district, which is located north of Kenneth Road and west of Central avenue.

HERE'S something that has ceased to worry me:

Oceanographers have predicted that 1926 will be a year without a summer.

That water will probably freeze every month of next summer.

CRUELTY TO COPS

The Army and the Navy have hot-weather uniforms of white duck. There seems to be no clear reason why traffic cops should not be furnished cork helmets, such as British troops wear in the tropics, and Palm Beach uniforms.

Burning up with the sun, cooking in the reflected heat from the pavements and the radiated heat from the automobile motors, no traffic policeman can retain his efficiency—or his temper.

FOREST FIRES

No business firm would be stupid enough to furnish a stenographer a typewriter without a ribbon; but that's about what our worthy government does in the matter of forest-fire prevention.

It is located in a high tower on the top of a mountain. The government has provided expensive maps, an expensive telephone system and pays the salary of an expert who never leaves the place.

But the field glasses with which he is supplied are about as effective as looking through the bottom of a glass bottle.

It's a great idea—pay a man a salary to look, and then not give him any means whereby to see.

BLOODY SHIRT AGAIN

A very unpleasant row has broken out because the government has issued a special half-dollar to aid in building the Stone Mountain Memorial to the memory of the Confederate soldiers.

The Sons of Veterans have adopted bitter resolutions in which they speak of the Civil War as "murder."

This is one of those tactless situations which never should have been created. Now that it has been, there is nothing to do but go through with it as quietly as possible.

"Most of the trouble in this world is not created by wicked people," remarked Col. Sapt in "The Prisoner of Zenda," "but by well-meaning fools."

Generally speaking, a child who gives signs of developing happy little inspirations should be strangled in the cradle.

THEATER FIRES

As to this theater fire in Kansas City . . .

It is simply amazing that any modern enlightened city should permit a restaurant kitchen to hold forth underneath a theater.

GAMBLING WITH DEATH

Out here in a new country we do not realize the horrible fire conditions in older cities of the East.

I know from personal experience that the boasted fire regulations of New York are simply bunk.

The apartment in which I lived was a fire trap. There were no fire escapes. The only hope of getting out was through a trap door onto the roof, and this trap door was kept battened down and fastened. Only the strength of a strong man could have opened it.

Cooking was theoretically prohibited, but the fire inspector obligingly made a lot of noise as he approached to give the tenants time to shove the gas stove under the bed.

PROGRAM FOR IRISH REUNION ANNOUNCED

The program for the Irish reunion at Rose Hill Park July 4, as announced yesterday will include reading of the Declaration of Independence by Judge Keetch, dancing by William Sullivan, Michael O'Connell and Michael Regan, singing by Margaret Duffy, reading of the Irish Declaration of Independence, dancing by Eileen O'Gorman Joan Fleming, Michael Rohan and William Sullivan, and an oration by Frank J. Barry, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Hill will preside. Dancing in the pavilion begins at 4 p.m. The morning will be devoted to athletic events and games.

BURIED CITY IS RESTORED

Ancient Indian Village of 2000 Years Ago Are Rebuilt Near St. Thomas (Nev.)

Between Pueblo Grande de Nevada, the buried city near St. Thomas, Nev., have been practically completed and the place has been turned into a sort of open-air museum, the opening of which was marked by a pageant a short time ago, according to Maurice J. Sullivan, Lieutenant-Governor of Nevada, who arrived at the Alexander Hotel yesterday.

Between 3000 and 4000 persons, including officials of the State, including officials and many scientists, attended the opening of the ruins, said Mr. Sullivan. One of the features of the program was a pageant depicting the Indian legends, as revealed by archeological researches at the buried city, and also historic events in the early part of the history of Nevada. Descendants of several of the Southern tribes of Indians, believed to be descendants of the former inhabitants of the buried city, were present and performed sundry Indian rites and dances in vogue among the Indians to this day."

"This gives a vivid picture as to what the ancient Indians looked like, the results of which has been exhumed by the archeologists, the prehistoric habitations have been restored, so that one viewing Pueblo Grande de Nevada from now on will see actual dwellings on the ancient foundations, Mr. Sullivan said. In several cases where graves were found beneath the floors, the skeletons, ornaments and artifacts have been left just as they were discovered, being protected by glass cases. The work of restoring the buildings was performed by Indians from Arizona, whose dwellings in many places even at this time are not much different from those of their forefathers of 2000 years ago.

Mr. Sullivan is in Los Angeles in connection with certain mining properties in the Tonopah district in which he is interested. He stated that the mining industry in his State is now more active than for many years.

"The discovery last fall of large bodies of ore carrying gold and silver has stimulated the industry," he said. "One of the big mining companies is now making preparations for a shipment from the new district of 100 tons of ore ranging in value from $500 to $1000 a ton," he said.

THRIFT IN CHARITY AND CHURCH WORK

It is a much-debated question as to how much humanity would be harmed or benefited if competition were eliminated from business. Quite possibly it will remain a real problem for some time to come.

But there are many forms of work in the world which would all the more forceful by working with all the other forces aiming in the same direction than by operating alone. In unity there is strength as well as economy. The idea of the union of churches is coming to be seriously considered and the people in churches everywhere are realizing that the things that matter most are the principles or doctrines on which they are all agreed, not the dogmas which have separated them into different denominations. The latter are really unimportant things.

Statistics show that the annual cost of raising money for worthy and desirable purposes, based upon the amounts obtained from a number of churches, is about 15 per cent of the total amount raised, while in these same churches when the Community Chest plan was adopted the funds the cost has been reduced from 3 per cent to 1 per cent, thus saving to the community 2 per cent to 12 per cent.—Frank J. Kelso in Thrift Magazine.

BY CLAIRE MELLONINO

Living the gospel of service by which they guided their efforts and through which they have secured prosperity, the Western Auto Supply Company is now endeavoring to spread the value of optimism and its inevitable profitable results. Recognizing radio as a means of reaching the greatest number of people to whom they wish to bring a message of good cheer, and to express their thanks for the public confidence which built up an organization embracing 127 stores in the West, the Western Auto Supply Company has been coming to KHJ every two weeks for many months with delightful programs of music.

Last night was the occasion for one of these semimonthly visits, and their representative, J. Howard Johnson, arranged a program consisting of Vera Barstow, violin; the Titian Trio, Edward Novis, baritone and Uncle Remus.

KREISLER INTERPRETED

Responding to the requests of her many newly won friends, Vera Barstow, one of the world's most noted woman violinists, gave a program devoted entirely to works of Kreisler. Her sympathetic understanding and impeccable musicianship made it one of the most popular contributions she has yet made to Radioland.

The youthful and talented Titian Trio, composed of Winifred Schutten, violin; Mona Content, piano, and Marion Mathews, 'cello, though their repertoire is much greater than possibly their performances indicate, they are ever respectful of their admirers' wishes, consequently their selections last night were in lighter vein.

The splendid baritone of Edward Novis and the wit of Uncle Remus rounded out an excellent evening.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

We are pleased to announce that the Western Auto Supply Company, beginning July 24, will present a program every Friday night from KHJ. This is an evening to associate in your mind with fine entertainment.

The matinee musicale given by the Pacific States Electric Company presented Grace Curry, harp; the Titian Trio and "Shorty" Karl Brandenburg, tenor.

The "Children's Hour" comprised Prof. Walter Sylvester Hertzog, radio historian; Lillian Crowell, 11-year-old reader; Edna Fornerook, reader; Vyola Von, the "Wild Rose of KHJ;" Catherine Cotter, known as "Sweetheart of Radioland" and pupil of Marshall Stedman; Beatrice Rainen, 7-year-old reader, and Mary Will Riley, reader.

From 7:30 to 8 p.m. representatives of the Hollywood Bowl Association entertained with piano solos by Harry Blanchard; soprano selections by Sara Carlin and dialect readings by Georgia Simmons. We hope all our friends will embrace the rare opportunity of hearing the wonderful Bowl concerts in God's auditorium.

Don't fail to attend the debut this Sunday night of Walker's Fifth Street Store, who will come to KHJ with an exceptional concert.

HIGH SCHOOL "GRADS" HAPPY

Any other kind of a boy and girl, any other kind of a home is the sad exception—and the percentage is buoyantly small, as any high school principal can proudly testify.

A famous brain specialist and neurologist has said that where the feeling, the emotion, the affections, the sense of human relations is generous and wholesome, morals are safe. It is without these that the finest intellect must disintegrate and fail.

There is nothing the matter with the feeling, the emotions, the affections of our dear high school graduates—not if the ones I have been meeting lately are any criterion.

Demonstration School Will be Used in Course

A demonstration junior high school, to serve as a laboratory for first-hand study of the technique of instruction, will form part of the program at the summer session of the University of California, Southern Branch. The demonstration school will be conducted at the John Muir Junior High School here.

A series of ten lectures on child psychology during the preschool years also will be given during the summer session by Dr. Arnold Gesell of the department of child hygiene at Yale University. The first lecture of the series will be given next Monday.

In addition, two courses in landscape gardening will be given by Prof. John W. Gregg of the University of California at Berkeley during the summer session here. The first course will be for elementary students, and the second for advanced students.

Accountants Hosts to New Head of Order

H. Ivor Thomas, C.P.A., newly elected president of the State Society of Certified Public Accountants was guest of honor at a dinner last night at the City Club given by the Los Angeles chapter. Mr. Thomas is the first State president from the southern part of the State. Herbert A. Wheeler, president of the local society, was toastmaster. A watch was presented to W. C. Kettemann, retiring president, by George M. Thompson on behalf of the chapter.

Ralph W. E. Cole, chairman of the legislative committee, gave an extensive report of the defeat at the last Legislature of the attempt to abolish the law creating a State board of accountancy.

A program for a campaign of advertising and publicity was submitted by Reymond E. Blight.

The next dinner of the Los Angeles Chapter of Certified Public Accountants will occur on July 8 at which time the Federal Board of Tax Appeals will be the guests.

COUNCILMEN IN FISTIC BATTLE

cilman's face. Councilman Allan turned white with anger but did not strike back and in the meantime Patrolman George Daniels, sergeant-at-arms of the Council, rushed between the two men.

POUNDS FOR ORDER

Councilman Allan then said:

"I have more manhood than to sink so low that I would engage in a fight with a fellow-Councilman at a public session of this Council."

To this Councilman Criswell replied:

"I won't allow any one to call me a liar without defending myself."

Meanwhile President Workman was pounding the gavel, saying, "This has gone far enough." The other Councilmen had risen from their seats as had the spectators. Others in the City Hall hearing of the trouble, came rushing into the room to get ringside seats.

Order finally having been restored, Sergeant-at-Arms Daniels still sat between the two men to prevent a renewal of the trouble. Councilman Criswell arose and said:

"Mr. President, I want to apologize to the Council for my action. Under the stress of the situation, I lost control of myself and did something which I should not have done."

Councilman Allan said:

"I want to move that Councilman Criswell's apology be accepted. I realize that anything affecting the public service department is felt deeply by Mr. Criswell, and I am going to forget the incident and hope that Mr. Criswell and I can work in harmony as we have done in the past."

The Council then by vote, accepted Councilman Criswell's apology, Councilman Allan and Criswell stood and shook hands and the Council adjourned.

BID IS WITHDRAWN

While underlying the trouble between the two Councilmen was Councilman Allan's efforts to be elected president of the next Council, the immediate cause of the trouble was the attempted sale of $11,350,000 municipal bonds in a manner which recalled the secret sale of the $13,500,000 power bonds in 1921 and which was yesterday termed by Assistant City Attorney Whitehead from the floor of the Council a private sale of the bonds. Councilman Criswell found so much opposition from Councilmen Mushet and Allan to the private sale yesterday that finally the decks were cleared by the rejection of all bids and the withdrawal of the private sale offer by Harold B. Reed of Blair & Co., of the syndicate which made it. The Council then advertised for new sealed bids to be received and opened by the City Council next Monday at 10:15 a.m.

Councilman Criswell was anxious to sell the bonds at once and to this the other Councilmen agreed, as the suit attacking the legality of the re-election of Mayor Cryer at the May 5 primaries is pending. If the delivery of the bonds is delayed the water department will be deprived of money it needs now for extensions to the system. Of the $11,350,000 bonds, $8,000,000 are water bonds. If the bonds are sold Monday, interim certificates can be issued by the city at once and the successful bidder can pay for the bonds and receive the certificates.

DECLARED UNJUST

The low bidder when the bids were opened last Wednesday was the syndicate headed by Blair & Co., and the First National Bank of New York. This bid placed a rate of 4 1-2 per cent on the water bonds and as low as 3 1-2 per cent on some of the other issues. Councilman Criswell and the water department officials contended this was an injustice to the water users of the city, as the interest and sinking fund charges on the bonds must be paid from water revenues, under the provisions of the new charter.

So in the face of a probable rejection of their bid this morning, Blair & Co., yesterday, through Councilmar Criswell, presented a new bid, under which the $8,000,000 water bonds would bear 4 1-4 per cent interest, and the Colorado River aqueduct, bridge, pedestrian tunnel and branch libraries bonds would bear 4 1-2 per cent interest. Councilman Criswell moved that the new offer of the syndicate be accepted, which was opposed by Chairman Mushet of the Council's Finance Committee and Councilman Allan. The latter made a few remarks in opposition. Then the trouble appeared.

Dentists Arrive for Convention Opening Monday

Out-of-town members of the Southern California Dental Association are arriving in Los Angeles for the twenty-eighth annual convention, starting Monday evening, and are being housed at the Ritz Hotel, convention headquarters, according to Dr. Bert Boyd, president of the association.

The association will open Monday at what is said to be the largest dental clinic in the world. The clinic will occupy nearly an entire floor of the Chamber of Commerce Building, and will boast every modern device and equipment used in the United States, officials stated. During the business sessions of the convention actual demonstrations in dental services will be made in the clinic rooms.

Monday night, in addition to the initial meeting of the convention, the association will sponsor a two-hour program over KHJ. The Times radio. A feature of the program will be an address by Dr. Guy S. Milberry, dean of the dental department of the University of California, and president of the American Dental Association.

LECTURE ON CHINA

Masonic Club Will Hear Present Uprising Explanation

"Twisting the Tail of the Chinese Dragon," a lecture by Garner Curran concerning the present situation in the old Celestial Empire, will feature the program at the Masonic Club at the Alexandria next Wednesday at noon.

At the meeting yesterday Irving J. Mitchell, president of the club, announced that construction of the new Masonic Clubhouse on Grand avenue, between Sixth and Seventh streets, is proceeding rapidly and that the roof will be on by the middle of July.

The musical program given by KHJ artists included vocal selections by Miss Gladys Blackwell Pickering and instrumental numbers by the Arian Trio, composed of Misses Neva Chilberg, violinist, Mary May Novis, 'cellist, and Lily an Ariel, pianist.

BEACH OUSTER TRIAL CONTINUED TO JULY 6

Trial of ouster proceedings against Frederick Piner, Frank Bravender, Morris Woodland and Louis H. Heath, City Trustees of Hermosa Beach, was continued yesterday by Superior Judge Hahn to July 6 on an agreement of counsel for both sides. The quartet are accused in a complaint by James H. Magoon, a citizen of Hermosa Beach, of failing to discharge their duties as required by law in that they are asserted to have failed to honor a petition calling for a recall election.

FAITH IS FAREWELL TOPIC

Last Services Will Be Held Tomorrow in Old Broadway Christian Church

Farewell services at the old Broadway Christian Church, upon which the light of the Cross has streamed for the last thirty years, will be conducted tomorrow, according to announcement yesterday by Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan, the pastor. On the following Sunday, and every Sunday thereafter until a new church shall have been built, the congregation will worship in a building at Pico street and Arlington avenue.

The old landmark is to be demolished, the building having been sold recently, but the church and its association will remain sacred in the memory of thousands of Christian pilgrims who have passed many milestones within its walls upon their progress toward the Promised Land. For in this old-fashioned temple thousands of weddings have been solemnized, thousands of children christened and a vast host of men and women brought to a realization of the soul's new birth into the realm of light and peace.

When the old church was dedicated by its founder, B. F. Coulter, thirty years ago, Mr. Coulter spoke on the subject, "Have Faith in God." On the first Sunday of each year, since that time, this subject has been used by the minister in charge, and the topic will be used tomorrow morning by Rev. John C. Hay, one of the co-laborers with the founder. The evening sermon will be by Rev. Aldis Webb, pastor of the University Christian Church. Under the direction of Mrs. Alma K. Moss, special musical programs have been arranged for both services.

"FRANCE AND AMERICA"

Dr. Arthur Pryor Watts will speak on "French and American International Relationships" tomorrow evening at the Immanuel Presbyterian Church. Dr. Watts served in the World War and for the last four years has been engaged in research work in England and France. At the morning hour Dr. Herbert Booth Smith will preach on "Can the Dead Talk to the Living?" According to Dr. Smith's opinion, there is another life determined by the present life and departed spirits are interested in men, but men need not expect messages from the dead. Dr. Smith recently received a call to become pastor of a large church in the Southwest, but, acting on the request of the Immanuel Church Board, rejected the invitation.

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL

"Are men as conceited as women? What is the most important book for young married people? Do you agree with Hamilton Gibbs on what he says concerning the sex complex? Is the Episcopal Church attempting to rewrite the Ten Commandments? Should the word obey be stricken from the marriage service? What about the decision of the Supreme Court on the Oregon school law?" These are among the questions to be discussed by Dr. William MacCormack in his sermon tomorrow evening at St. Paul's Cathedral. The topic for the morning discourse is "The Peril of Ostentatious Display."

"A FINISHED LIFE"

"Shall we, on July 4, prepare for war?" That question will be discussed by Dr. J. A. Eby at the Wilshire Presbyterian Church tomorrow evening, following the showing of the motion picture "Abraham Lincoln." The subject for morning is "A Finished Life."

TEMPLE BAPTIST

Dr. Birney S. Hudson, associate pastor of the Temple Baptist Church, will observe the second anniversary of his pastorate at the church tomorrow. At the morning service Leonard Merrill will bring greetings to Dr. Hudson in behalf of the deacons and the members of the congregation. Dr. Hudson will preach on "Suffering and the Reasons For It." The sermon topic for evening is "Must We Settle Great Scientific Questions Before We Can Know the Great Realities of the Christian Life?" The evening program will be featured by a program by the Whitney Boys' Chorus.

FIRST BAPTIST

"Pioneer of Life and Master of Death" is the subject of a sermon to be preached by Dr. J. A. Francis tomorrow morning in the First Baptist Church. In the evening Dr. Robert W. Van Kirk of Rhode Island will preach on "We Would See Jesus." Mrs. George W. Coleman, prominent member of the administrative committee of the Northern Baptist convention, will be the principal speaker on the evening of July 12. For several years Mrs. Coleman was president of the Women's Baptist Home Missionary Society. Delegates from the First Baptist Church to the northern Baptist convention sessions, now being conducted at Seattle, left, Los Angeles yesterday. The delegates include Mrs. C. H. Curtice, Rev. and Mrs. George Campbell, Weymouth Crowell, Mrs. Emma Gardner, E. H. Hunt and Mrs. C. E. Harrell.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Christian Science" is the subject of the lesson-sermon at 11 a.m. tomorrow at each of the eighteen Christian Science churches of Los Angeles. First, Second, Third, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Ninth, Tenth and Thirteenth churches will repeat this service at 8 p.m. All churches hold Wednesday evening meetings which include testimonies of Christian Science healing. These churches are branches of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

DIVINE POWER CHURCH

"Depression—Its Cause and Cure" is the subject of a sermon to be preached by Mrs. Leila Simon Castberg, pastor of the Church of Divine Power, tomorrow morning at the Morosco Theater. A song service will precede the sermon. Sunday-school will be conducted at 9:45 a.m. at the church headquarters, 833 South Spring street.

FIRST METHODIST

Dr. John A. Ferguson, platform lecturer of New York City, will speak at the First Methodist Church tomorrow morning on "The Sabbath, A National Asset." In the evening Mrs. Ferguson, national president of the Women's Societies of America, will discuss "Personal Observances and Experiences at Ellis Island."

"A UNITED AMERICA"

All members of the Grand Army of the Republic are invited to the service at the Trinity Methodist Church tomorrow morning. Dinner will be served to the aged veterans following the service. Rev. Bob Shuler, the pastor, will preach on "A United America." The sermon topic for evening is "Our Proven... pastor. Morning topic, "Love's Sacrifice;" evening, "Why We Believe the Bible."

Pico Heights Congregational Church, Rev. J. M. Edwards, pastor. Morning topic, "The Puritan Spirit;" evening discourse by Rev. J. K. Higginbotham.

Pico Heights Christian Church, Rev. Claire L. Waite, pastor. Morning topic, "The Power of Personal Influence;" evening, "The Great Drama of Pilgrim's Progress."

Figueroa Boulevard Christian Church, Rev. F. E. Hagin, pastor. Subject for 10:30 a.m., "Be Wise;" topic for 11 a.m., "The Apologetic of Christian Pastor;" evening topic, "Notable Prophecies Fulfilled."

North Wilshire Community Congregational Church, Dr. T. C. Macfarlane, pastor. Morning topic, "Forward With Christ." No evening service.

E. P. Taliaferro, a speaker for the International Bible Students' Association, will give a free lecture at the Gamut Club Auditorium at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

First United Presbyterian Church, Dr. W. R. McCulloch, pastor. Morning topic, "Leading Ahead." In the evening the choir will render the oratorio "The Holy City."

First Unitarian Church, Rev. H. Burdette Backus, pastor. Morning topic, "Personality and Psychology." The church will be closed during July and August.

Rev. W. S. Tilroe, D.D., will be the preacher at the University Methodist Church tomorrow morning.

Immanuel Baptist Church, Rev. Frank Dunham, pastor. Morning theme, "Wholly Pledged to a Holy Purpose;" evening, "The Man Who Knows and Knows That He Knows."

Church of the Messiah, Congregational, Rev. E. D. Oxford, pastor. Morning topic, "Overcomers;" evening, "Abolish Loyalties." The evening program will include the motion picture story "Long Live the King."

Temple Christian Church, Thirtieth and Main streets, Rev. Leonard G. Thompson, pastor. Morning topic, "The Vine and the Branches;" evening, "The Word of God."

Go To Church Sunday

Why You Should Go To Church

By Manly P. Hall, Church of the People.

Manly P. Hall, Pastor Church of the People

The world is full of false values. The average person makes gods out of his servants and servants out of his gods. He worships temporal and impermanent things and absolutely overlooks eternal and permanent things. Religion is primarily intended to instruct man in the development of his value sense. A person should go to church in order to receive a liberal education in the proper use and the proper understanding of the things which surround him. Spiritual culture alone can combat the material commercialism and economic knavery which mark the material dealings of one person with another. The removal of religion results in the stunting of the moral faculties. Religion serves this great purpose only when it is free from dogma, prejudice, theological politics and commercialism. You should go to church in order to learn how to live as Nature and Nature's God intended you to live. You should go to a church that teaches, as religious sciences, physiology, anatomy, eugenics, biology, chemistry, anthropology, geology and mathematics for all of these instruct man concerning the will of God as it works out in the normal functioning of things.

HOME RULES

GROUND ARMS

If Dame Europa had her arms cut off she would look better than the short-handed Venus of Milo.

ETERNAL HOPE

There is a great deal of philosophy in what Amundsen said: "I have always found, when it is darkest, light is not far off."

ANY FORM BUT THAT

Some of the doctors say that cabbage is good in any form, but lots of us despise it when it comes in the form of a cigar.

DOUBLE-HEADERS

To the child mind Washington was the greatest man who ever lived because he gave his country two holidays—his birthday and the Fourth of July.

PEPPERY STUFF

A Georgia bulldog is reported as nursing two baby tigers. There may be trouble in maintaining discipline in the family later on. Does anybody want a young tiger with a bulldog training?

IN THE MOVIES

HAS NO FRIENDS

A Brazilian naturalist says that ants do not like castor oil. This make it practically unanimous. Nobody loves it. Even grown men will pass it with scorn. Its only popular application is to grease rolling stock.

LOST OPPORTUNITY

The other day a woman who had $700 in her pocket killed herself because she could get no man to marry her. If she had stood on a bench in Pershing Square and waved her roll there would have been a free-for-all fight for her hand.

THE CURTAIN

Talk about the ups and downs of life! When Tom Lawson died he left neither will nor estate—although he had plenty of each in his day. His will was law and his property ran into millions at various periods of his sensational career. At one time he had Wall street eating out of his hand, but the wolves bit off the hand in the end. There isn't even anything left to fight over.

NEW WORLDS TO CONQUER

Alexander wept because he could find no new worlds to conquer, when beyond the waters lay three undiscovered continents—North America, South America and Australia. Even now we talk about man's conquest of the land being complete. Yet across a large area in the interior of tropical South America map-makers must still write the word "Unknown." Man has learned a good deal about the little orb he inhabits, but he still has to guess about the possible existence of undiscovered continents and as well about the whole interior of the earth. Our ignorance looms larger when we recall that no one knows where in the heavens the sun is whirling us.

THE OLD ORDER CHANGES

A massive bronze statue of Kemal Pasha may shortly be unveiled in Constantinople. The new leader has been posing for a famous sculptor and the work will be given to his people when complete. The idea itself is revolutionary. Ever since the days of Mahomet—some 1300 years ago—the church he founded has had little use for art as expressed by painting or sculpture. To have commerce with the artist or sculptor was unthought of. The statuary of the Greeks was unfit for Mohammedan eyes. But now that Kemal is himself being molded in enduring bronze the young Turks may give frank admiration for the chiseling of Phidias.

THE LEAN POLICEMAN

In connection with the recent heroic work of a Chicago policeman in chasing and shooting bandits that had slain a couple of fellow-officers the Mayor of the Illinois metropolis emphatically announced that the hero was the perfect physical type for such police work. He was less than five feet eight inches in height, lean and wiry and only weighed about 140 pounds. Mayor Dever said that most of the policemen of Chicago were massive men who furnished broad marks for the guns of bandits and who are too fat to be fleet in the chase. This particular hero could run like a deer and the thugs who shot as they ran could not hit the smaller target he made. As a result he was able to run down his man and plug him at his leisure. Big policemen are properly impressive and effective in keeping order and checking the crowd, but there are a lot of other jobs in the service in which the skinny ones are of superior use. The real value of a police force is not to be measured on the hay scales.

THE LONG, STRONG PULL

Such speed and spirit as have already been evinced in the new Southern California Forward campaign are going to give it an irresistible momentum. Of the $1,000,000 to be gathered to forward the interests of the Southland $425,000 will be spent in trebling what is called "vacation advertising." The plan is to set forth the lure of this great all-year playground in a way that will bring in hundreds of thousands of new and desirable tourists and residents. In the past few months the All-Year Club published more than 160,000,000 separate advertisements of Los Angeles and Southern California in national magazines and metropolitan newspapers throughout the country. In the fiscal year beginning July 1 it hopes to publish 250,000,000 more separate advertisements of the same territory in similar publications. Its aim is to bring in 1,750,000 tourists to this region in that period and the prospects of its doing so are very bright. All will depend upon the manner in which its appeal to our citizens for aid in the great publicity drive is met, and everybody who knows Los Angeles and the rest of the Southland knows that the response will be a hearty one.

Vacations have come to be looked upon by the American business man as a vital necessity. Every year he must rest awhile amid new scenes to refresh himself for the year's work. Just now thousands of such men are sitting at their desks wondering where they will go and take their families when vacation time comes. Each turns over the possibilities in his mind. Where shall he go? Naturally the attractions that have been presented to him most recently and in the strongest manner are the ones that are chiefly to be considered. He is urged by the steamship companies to go to Europe, to Cuba or the Bermudas. The Canadian woods, the fascinations of which are set forth by the advertiser's art, seem attractive. The Pacific Northwest beckons him to its green, silent forests, to Puget Sound and to its great new cities. But somehow Southern California, with its charms of mountain and seashore, of lake and hotel, of theater, golf course and long, smooth highways winding through orange groves, makes the strongest appeal.

Our prospective vacation-goer may have had no real opportunity to weigh these various attractions against one another. Aside from the superiority of Southern California as a region for rest and recreation, there was no compelling factor save the charm of the advertisements setting forth the claims of this delectable garden spot to focus his attention, which had wavered from one vacation ground to another. That attention had been centered upon Southern California because it had made the longest and strongest pull. Day by day, in newspaper and magazine, he had read about this country. Repetition had made reputation, as it always does, and the long, strong pull had won him over.

To continue to make that long, strong pull—to make it the most powerful of all the vacation appeals—is why the $425,000 will be gathered and expended, and it is the best investment that the people of the Southland possibly can make. As C. G. Milham, executive secretary of the All-Year Club, says:

> How important the tourist business is to Los Angeles and Southern California may, perhaps, be realized from the fact that it brings here each year anywhere from $125,000,000 to $150,000,000 in actual cash. . . . It is not too much to expect that Southern California's tourist business in a year can be increased by more than 250,000, which would mean added revenue of at least $25,000,000 over the present tourist expenditures in this region.

Not only do these tourists bring new money here, but they bring new ideas, thus helping to keep Los Angeles the most progressive city in the world. And after seeing Los Angeles they come here to live. They have helped to make our population grow from a half-million to more than a million in five years, and there is more ahead of us than behind us if we remain alive to our opportunities.

LEGISLATION MANIA

Frederick Roy Martin of New York, taking "Our Mania for Legislation" as his text for a commencement dissertation at Rhode Island, bemoans our tendency toward over-time work in law-making. He quoted a figure of this year's crop of new statutes placed on our codes in thirty-eight States as 11,000 against 13,000 in 1924. California, with its quota of plus-minus 500, is fairly well represented. Mr. Martin says:

> Our mania for new laws can be checked if that potent arbiter of our democratic destinies, public opinion, be swerved by its currents, cross-currents and counter-currents on the side of conservatism; if we spread the doctrine that the body politic may suffer from legal indigestion and be killed, not cured, by excessive legislature dosing and urge that framers of laws bear in mind that, while ignorance of the law excuses nobody, we can sincerely respect that only with which we are reasonably well acquainted.

Mr. Martin overlooks the psychological effect of emancipation and suffrage. Human nature is so constituted that it asserts rights once they are granted. Democracy carries with it the inexperience of youth. It can only be expected to assert its complete efficiency at the age of maturity. National life is merely the complex of aggregate thinking of individuals.

When the destinies of government were invested in the aristocrats and autocrats the rulers of that system had generations and centuries of political evolution back of their regime. They had political science inculcated in their mental fabric. They were fed on it from the mother milk to the last repast of their human lives. They thought government from the cradle to the grave.

In this country there are 110,000,000 people and more. Of that population the vast majority of voters are not swayed by reason as much as by emotionalism in their choice of representatives. Representatives themselves, vice versa, appeal to the voters not so much through their own convictions as in a careful analysis of what their supporters at the election desire.

In every State of the Union, in every county and in every municipality and precinct voters are motivated by their own needs. They see to it that their voice is heard in the Legislature, in the national House of Representatives and in the Senate. Their representatives are pledged from the beginning to carry out the policies of the platforms on which they are elected. Consequently a great variety of measures are proposed and it is a wonder that the figure of 11,000 is not multiplied. For every voter is the central pivot of his own little individual world.

Until political science becomes the guardian angel at the polls there will be multiplication of laws. Perfection of legislation consists, like all perfect things, in simplicity. That millennium Mr. Martin will not live to see.

ORGANIZED WOMEN VOTERS

A laudable attempt was launched here this week to organize women in the direction of patriotism, Republicanism and active citizenship of all in a representative government. The conclave, called by the Republican Women's Federation of California, sets an example which gives a promise of a fruitful auxiliary to the Republican party. Now that suffrage is an active national institution, the movement to rally women forces and lead them from an emotional toward an organized factor of reason at the polls tends to add a new impulse to secure improved government.

President Coolidge led the encouragement of the movement with a telegram of appreciation of the well-deserving effort. Ralph Arnold, chairman of the Los Angeles County Republican Central Committee, praised the "pioneer movement" as a foundation of steadiness, stability and protection of our ideals, intelligent citizenship and accurate enlightenment in the use of the ballot.

At a time when so little interest is taken in elections, which, after all, are the only means of securing practical and wise government of city, county, State and Union, this innovation comes as a herald announcing the birth of a new and brighter day. Controlling the destinies of future citizenry in their homes, taking an active interest in the purity of the political life of the country as they do in the physical and moral welfare of the rising generation, women form an element in the national life of America which holds its future in their molding.

To arouse a live interest in civic and national thought among women voters will react for clean government like a course of hygienic preparation in the home. The nation is an aggregate of little worlds which concentrate individual interest around the family hearth. Clean national thought in the homes filters into a clean combination of national government.

A COLLEGE AT SEA

A Brush College and the University of Hard Knocks are both highly renowned. A skyscraper university is being built in Pittsburgh. But the very latest is a college at sea.

A college on an 18,000-ton ship will sail from New York in September with 450 college boys duly accredited by their universities for a 240-day term around the world. It will have a cruising radius of five continents, thirty-five countries and fifty foreign ports. The decks will be campus; the cabins, dormitories; the lounges, classrooms.

Prof. James E. Lough, dean of the extramural division of New York University, will keep the curriculum in normal and robust condition. The question which agitates some is, will a university at sea and another one up in the air tend to the stability of truth?

The engineering course will have superior advantages down in the hold. The boys can get it from the bottom up. The language department will have remarkable facilities; the ship can put into any port and take on cargoes of nouns and verbs.

Students who may have had their geography omitted or multiplied in grammar school can brush up as they round capes and glide through straits. College pants, widespread at the base, will feel perfectly at home among the sailors.

There will be plenty of decks for as many games as may be desired. In rough weather the football squad can slide around on noses and break as many bones as the rules require. There will also be unusual possibilities for developing a sea serpentine of frightful qualities and dimensions.

Half-seas-over with all the trimmings over the side of the vessel may be obtained by any of the frats with none of the customary expense of land functions.

Freshmen may matriculate steerage and thus preserve the traditions. The sophomores can fling the freshies down the funnels and there will be abundance of damp to duck the more recalcitrant.

There will be little opportunity to paint the town red; but there will be plenty of painting about the ship to wear down the superspirited.

THE SEATLESS SHOW

One of the new playhouses in London is operated along novel lines. There are no seats. There is a large room with stages on three sides. Shows, variety acts and playlets are offered on these stages in serial and the spectators gather about each show in turn. It is as informal as the old-fashioned museum and the crowd comes and goes at will. The idea may be all right for a London hall, but it wouldn't satisfy an American audience. The tired business man wants parking space for his frame. He insists upon having a seat.

Unless from all my business cares
I sunder every tether,
Arrange to settle my affairs—
And rest for years together.

I fain would follow his advice;
Ten years of inanition
He says he thinks would quite suffice
To better my condition—
Provided that the time I spent
In some spot warm and sunny,
Where I might live in calm content—
Nor think of making money.

But science has not yet progressed
So far as to enable
A man to take a perfect rest
And keep his bank roll stable.
And though to loll beneath the trees
Would be extremely pleasant,
I do not think I'll take my ease
Or idle for the present.

But it's a comfort to my mind,
In this grave situation,
To think that presently they'll find
A serum for starvation.
And then from every form of work
I'll sever every fetter—
In some secluded spot I'll lurk
And rest till I am better!

SOUL-VICTORY

Within the valley groped a soul
Through mists and fog-banks swirling;
Where portent cloud-forms fill the air
From upper cliff-peaks whirling.

It groped amid the gloom to find
A hand in love outreaching.
It knelt in supplication to
The Christ—His light beseeching.

Upon the cloud-heights stood a soul
And touched with master fingers
The mystic penetralia where Supernal brightness lingers.

It raised the purple folds which swept
Before the radiant portal.
At last it touched the secret springs
Of life and love immortal!

LETTERS TO The Times

A Misnomer

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] An editorial in a June issue of Liberty Magazine severely rebuked [illegible] sors of the national oratorical contest which proved so great a [illegible] in the schools of the country during the last three years. The arguments against the movement consisted in the contention that too greatly increased the exalted ego of the youthful orators and it foisted upon the public "mere oratory"—talk of no value and the thought expressed—and which "is likely to become a [illegible]

Shades of Daniel Webster, Patrick Henry, Henry Clay, Abraham Lincoln and hundreds of others who stand out in our nation's history. Great would have been their wrath and counter-argument and just would be their resentment could they but read these lines.

Can the citizens of this nation be led into believing that the immortal words "liberty and union, now and forever, one and inseparable" or "give me liberty or give me death" could live with such force today or could so have impressed those fortunate enough to have heard them had they not had the mighty power of oratory behind them? God grant the time will never come when the impassioned spoken word will fail to stir an audience.

As for exaggerating the youthful ego of these constitutional orators and other like arguments, the writer of this article answers that he has taken a special interest in the contests under dispute. He has been a contestant in each of them and expects to enter again next year, and if they are carried on into the colleges he will, without doubt, compete for the fifth consecutive time. In his three years as a competitor he has met many contestants—in preliminaries, in semifinals and in final contests—and he can truthfully say that not one contestant gave the least intimation that he thought himself above his schoolmates or anything of the sort, simply because he happened to win some distinctive place in the contests. No, editor of Liberty, you're all wrong. Your publication should be called Bondage.

HARRY SMITH.

The Honest Watch Dog

SAN DIEGO, June 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] One hears and reads a great deal these times about "universal peace," but thus far nothing seems to have been accomplished toward bringing about this much-desired end. In my opinion, these people who cry for "peace universal" are in the majority, foreigners and traitors, who have in mind to disarm our country; after having accomplished their end, to have the enemies come in and control everything as they like.

All of our cities have their police forces, who go about armored and equipped with various kinds of improved weapons. Now, if we must take these means of defense against those of our own country, why should we not be protected against our foreign enemies? As the police are the protection of the people as a whole, so also must we have an Army and Navy upon which to depend in times of danger. The pessimist of today is forever harping upon the disarming of our country, but one never hears him suggest disarming his city.

Among our churches we hear a lot of talk concerning the disarming of our country; however, when any trouble arises, either here or among their missionaries in other countries, they are the first to call to the Army and Navy for protection.

In closing I wish to say that when the time is at hand when we can abolish our police forces, then will be time enough to abolish our Army and Navy.

Majorgraphs

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It was very kind of you to send me the original of Mr. Major's caricature of myself, which I really wanted very much, but hated to ask for it. Now I can have it framed and hung in the front hall to frighten burglars away.

E. R. BURROUGHS.

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I desire to acknowledge receipt of the original of Mr. Major's caricature of myself and to thank you for thus remembering me. It will be a very interesting souvenir. The picture is a very remarkable likeness and the only criticism I can make is that it is a little too flattering.

JESS E. STEPHENS.

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Thank you for yours of June 18 inclosing the caricature of myself by Henry Major. I haven't quite decided which of the art collections of the city to will it to.

I'VE BEEN THINKIN'

By The Foothill Philosopher

Recently we heard a learned preacher tell an audience of business men that there is no excuse for a man of today being ignorant and that any man may become educated in three years by reading for one hour every evening after his wife goes to bed. He said that every man should know something about history and that no man is cultured who is not acquainted with the events of the past which are largely responsible for humanity's progress.

No doubt the scholarly minister is right in a sense and to a certain degree, but I've been thinking that it is possible for a person to know a great deal about history and a lot of other things and still be neither truly educated nor refined—if refinement may be taken as a synonym for culture. The culture or education that does not include the unfoldment of man's knowledge of himself and the cultivation of kindness toward his fellow beings is about ninety-nine and nine-tenths per cent failure.

An interesting discovery, relating to Gaylord Wilshire's new invention — the Iona Life Belt has just come to light. The Iona Life Belt is wondrously effective in the treatment of rheumatism, arthritis, goitre, nervous derangements and other troubles. And so, the discovery? — It's this. — A well known judge taking the treatments found that his hair, which was grey, had turned dark. It is now uniformly dark all over. Also he has recovered from the ailment for which he took the treatments. By the way, Gaylord Wilshire invites any one in pain or suffering to call at his office, 16 Busch Building, corner Wilshire and Vermont and get a free trial of this miraculous belt. The Iona Life Belt is also on sale at The Owl Drug Co., Fifth and Broadway.

Never soak soiled clothes in hot water overnight. Soak them in cold water in which a handful of borax has been dissolved. Then in the morning when you are ready to wash use the hot water and suds. This method will remove all dirt and make the clothes beautifully white.

"It's just like this," speaking of Bobrick's Genuine Cloudy Ammonia, "put a couple of spoonfuls of it to the water and greasy dishes, dirty paintwork and soiled linoleum are washed clean in half the time." For sale at drug and grocery stores.

See here! If you wish for a luncheon or a dinner, which only an artist can prepare, go to Mora's Grill, 107 W. Market St. It is right on the rim of our Latin Quarter, near the Postoffice, y'understand?

The new ironing board covers have eyelets and lacers and one can remove them easily to launder and return them to the board and no more trouble. Be sure to ask for this sort when purchasing a new one. The material is a durable unbleached muslin.

Ants, ants, ants, myriads of 'em. You've done everything imaginable to arrest them, and still they come. A veritable nightmare, isn't it? Oh, well, worry no longer! Telephone the Calpro Ant Co., BEacon 1360, to put in their system and your house and grounds will be permanently freed from these d———well, miserable pests. Address 1342 W. Washington.

No part or parcel of the household equipment should be given so much forethought as the kind of washing machine to be installed. There are many kinds of washers —some good, some indifferent. Happily—in Los Angeles—no one need go wrong on this subject, because there is one machine which by every test is pronounced by thousands of owners as incomparable. It's the Maytag. The Maytag Washing Machine has undoubtedly all the good points of other leading washers and none of the poor features. It has an aluminum tub which can never warp, rot, swell, split or corrode. It washes clothes much faster and without the usual wear and tear. It saves time, there is practically no work, no labor. It has no corners for dirt to collect there. It is economical in first and last cost and you can buy it on easy terms. Write or telephone Schleuter's to send a Maytag to your own home and see it work. You will, surely, believe your own eyesight and use your own good judgment after you see a free demonstration under your own roof. Address Schleuter's, 745 S. Figueroa street. Telephone TRinity 4361.

For indoor flowers: Few amateur florists know how to properly care for palms and indoor plants. Here is a helpful suggestion: Sponge the leaves with milk and water. Milk gives the leaves a glossy appearance and prevents the ugly brown patches that are likely to appear when only water is used.

Pshaw! Might just as well let your furniture remain sick, sorry and shabby as to have it reupholstered or repaired by a novice, a beginner. Call VAndike 0767 and have Simank Bros., 725-727 W. Ninth street, the skilled upholsterers. They will make your furniture like new. Their prices are most reasonable, you'll hear.

A delicious savory: A fresh mushroom is grilled, placed upside down on a round of toast and stuffed all around the stem with chicken forced meat that has been soaked in butter and Worcesterahire sauce. Place in the oven a moment and serve hot.

You'll get a thrill, actually a pleasant surprise as soon as you try the new toilet soap, made by the Los Angeles Soap Company. You see, for years their chemists have experimented with different soaps for use in hard water. Finally they have discovered the proper ingredients, the right proportions, and the company is now making a soap that is a real joy. It is unexcelled in hot or cold, soft or hard water and the name of it —so dear to all Californians—Mission Bell. On sale at your druggist's or your grocer's. Be sure to ask for Mission Bell Soap.

There are many things that can be served with a cup of tea, but the correct assortment may be classed under three heads: a hot dish, a cold dish and a sweet dish. The cold dish is usually sandwiches; the sweet dish cake, and the hot dish a variety of dainty concoctions, never too heavy.

Delicious! Yes, it's all of that and in addition it is pure and nourishing. Lily Brand Brick Ice Cream. You can eat all you want of this appetizing brick cream and it won't harm you a bit. Each week, you should know, different flavors are made and you will like each and every one of them. Oh, yes, Lily Brand Brick is made by the L. A. Creamery and is on sale at all neighborhood dealers.

A culinary hint: Never serve roasts without first removing any skewers or strings that may be attached.

Purchase a bottle of White Rose Cleaner and you'll have the best cleaner on the market. Because it is noninflammable, does not burn and is positively deodorized (no odor, you know) Besides it won't injure the texture or color of the sheerest fabrics and it completely removes grease and paint stains from fabrics, woodwork, tile bathrooms and fixtures. Only 35 cents at all drug stores.

When making a dish calling for egg whites, plan another dish that will use up the left-over yolks, for instance, if making a pudding with a meringue calling for a number of whites, have a salad at the same meal with mayonnaise dressing, then the yolks will be used, too. However, egg whites will keep for several days in the refrigerator, and if you cover egg yolks with cold water and keep them in a cup in the refrigerator, the same thing applies.

Don't know what Sanitas is? Why, it's a beautiful wall covering —a finished product—made on cloth—machine-painted with durable oil colors. It's made in numerous styles and patterns, giving the home individuality, harmony, elegance. A damp cloth keeps it clean and fresh at all times. You must see Sanitas to appreciate it; so superior it is to other wall coverings. Besides there's a different style for every room in the house. See the latest patterns at Albert A. Walter's, 816 S. Main street, and be prepared for a treat.

A nice Tuna fish salad: To two cupfuls flaked tuna fish add half a cupful chopped stuffed olives, a cupful minced celery and marinate with French dressing for half an hour.

Hot days are cruel days if one has to cook a big meal. Don't do it at home. Use Travaglini's system of serving ready-cooked food! You can order a simple collation or a complete menu. Take it home with you or have it delivered at any hour. Also special lunch boxes are arranged for auto trips and picnics. You'll enjoy everything from Travaglini's Roma Rotisserie, 1803 W. 7th St. Telephone 52092 today for a ready-to-serve dinner. Something extra good, you know.

Rugs and carpets should be swept with the grain. Did you know that?

NECESSITY OF DEFENSE TOLD

Test Shows Resources for National Emergency

Response Will Give Measure of Man Power

No Obligation Attaches to Those Volunteering

BY MAJ. LESLIE G. BRYANT.

National defense and preparedness are problems as old as history itself. Since the first men banded themselves together into tribes, and these tribes formed nations, concerned with the defense of their women, their homes and their property against enemies. America's interest in defense began with the formation of the colonies, and crystallized in the provisions of the Constitution of 1776 for "common defense."

Every citizen of the United States is obligated to the common defense of the nation. The selective service system inaugurated in the World War was based upon this obligation.

PERSONAL OBLIGATION

The successful application of the principles of common defense can only be assured when the people, local communities and political as well as military authorities, are acquainted with and realize their obligations under the adopted national defense policy. Every citizen, local community, county and State as well as the various military establishments have definite tasks essential to the success of the whole. It is one of the main purposes of the national defense test to set before and explain to the people this system and their part therein.

Defense test is for the dual purpose of acquainting the citizens with their obligations and testing out the plans that the War Department has made for defense of the nation in an emergency.

A citizen who enrolls for the day as a one-day volunteer is simply representing for the day of the test only, or the part of the day, or perhaps only on paper, the man who would enroll, enlist, or be selected for service in case of national emergency. There are no obligations in this enrollment, for the real test is a test of the plans of the War Department experts and will determine whether or not there are in the United States the number of patriotic able-bodied citizens that these experts have estimated.

MUST BE VOLUNTARY

This enrollment has no bearing or effect in so far as the individual is concerned with any future emergency. The War Department had enough records and changing plans to care for without undertaking each year to maintain lists of volunteers. There isn't any appropriation for such a thing, and in fact the whole defense test must be voluntary and conducted without additional cost to the War Department.

These lists of enrollments however are actual concrete lists by which the unit commanders in the Organized Reserves can faithfully report to higher commands the number of volunteers, and the higher commanders report to corps areas, the gross figures of their commands, and the corps areas report to Washington and compare figures of enrollment with the estimates of War Department experts.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF CITY INDORSE TEST

Indorsement of the national defense test on July Fourth by 195,000 school children and 8000 teachers of the public schools of Los Angeles was announced here by Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, superintendent of schools, it was reported by Col. George F. Hamilton, liaison officer in charge of the defense test in Southern California.

Superintendent Dorsey reported that in all of the schools of the city a statement was read before assembled student bodies by principals, outlining the purposes and plans of the national defense test. Following the reading the student bodies swore allegiance to the flag, in announcing their indorsement of the defense test plan.

All of the students were urged to bring their parents to the muster ceremony at the University of California, southern branch, on the morning of July Fourth.

Col. Hamilton also announced that an aerial demonstration will be held in connection with the muster ceremonies at the university. Pursuant to instructions from President Coolidge that all air service units of the Army join in the observance, all military airplanes from Clover Field, Santa Monica, will co-operate with the Nation Guard air unit of Griffith Park airdrome in the flying formation.

Enrollment of patriotic veterans between the ages of 62 and 97 years was announced by Col. Hamilton, in making public a letter from Capt. John H. Brandt, commanding the Gen. George Croo Camp, No. 9, of the National Indian War Veterans.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

REDUCING MEDICINES

Mrs. C.: You are in good health, but you are overweight and you want to try reducing medicine which your leading drug store is advertising. Do I advise it?

No, indeed, I DO NOT advise your taking any medicine for reducing, except under very skillful supervision of a physician. Excuse me for being so emphatic but all patent medicines for reduction are dangerous.

You do not need medicine to reduce unless you are pathologically fat—that is, unless your glands are not functioning properly—and that is a rare condition. Usually those glanduiar cases have very great disproportion in the distribution of their fat. They will, perhaps, be thin in the upper part of the body and enormously fat in the hips and legs and abdomen. When you see a person who is symmetrically fat, you will know that that person is fat because of overeating and lack of exercise, and the only thing necessary to reduce is to change these habits. Even in the glandular cases there is practically always a history of overeating for the needs. That may have been the cause of the glandular trouble.

If you want to reduce, follow our instructions. If you missed these instructions in the column, send for a resume of them, including a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in stamps, to partially cover cost of printing and handling.

CESSATION OF MENSTRUATION

Mrs. Y.: Menstruation may stop during an acute infectious disease, like influenza or any chronic disease like tuberculosis and anemia. Occasionally changes of climate, shock, overweight, underweight will also cause the menses to become scanty or to cease.

The fact that your lower teeth and the tonsils are in such bad condition might be the cause of your anemia, and so indirectly your lessened menstrual flow. You should have these conditions attended to. I am sorry I cannot give you names of physicians. Ring up your County Medical Society and they will give you a list of reliable physicians in general practice. If you cannot afford to go to a private physician, ask for the names and address of some clinics.

THE TIME OF THE CHANGE

Mrs. G.: Stop worrying about yourself so much, girl!

Is there any history of an early change of life (menopause) in your family? The time of the change seems to be more or less of an inherited characteristic. It is possible that you are going through the change now.

You are about twenty pounds overweight, Mrs. G. Reduce! Send for our instructions. See answer to Mrs. C. above for directions for obtaining it.

Possibly your urine is too concentrated. Drink more water—at least eight or nine glasses of it each day, and you can probably add more vegetables and fruits to your diet, with benefit. Perhaps you had better eat less of the acid group of foods. Breads, cereals and flesh foods.

Of course, you should have a thorough physical examination by a competent physician.

J.: Yes, we have articles on balanced diet and acne. You may have these by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you need inclose 10 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—you will not see it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose by you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible. If they are of general interest. Don't forget the stamped, self-addressed envelope if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

GUN-POINTING BRINGS KICK

Workmen on a new house being erected on West Sixty-second street object to haveing a shotgun pointed at them even if it is not loaded and Frances Cardman of 1316 West Sixty-second street does not like being called a "big bologna."

City Prosecutor Friedlander learned this yesterday and then issued a complaint charging Miss Cardman with disturbing the peace.

The new house is close to Miss Cardman's line and workmen trod on her grass till she could stand it no longer and put up a temporary fence within eighteen inches of the building under construction, the City Prosecutor was told. The fence was rather frail and the workmen leaned on it, threatening to push it over.

When Miss Cardman objected verbally nothing came of it but sarcastic rejoiners, so on Thursday, according to J. J. Reed, who signed the complaint, she appeared at an open window frame of her home with a shotgun and pointed it at every workman who approached the fence. She told the City Prosecutor the gun was empty.

The drilling thus far proves that a large territory, at least, is made up of a layer of silt from 122 to 140 feet thick, and beneath it a layer of river-bed rock and gravel from sixty-five to eighty-seven feet thick. It is in this gravel layer that the abundance of water is being encountered at widely scattered points. The water, analysis shows, is uniformly soft and practically pure.

"We are only guessing, of course, how this gravel was deposited," Mr. Clark says, "but it is fair to assume that in ancient times it was brought down from the mountains and deposited over this large area by the Colorado, which we know frequently altered its course, just as in more recent times the river deposited the thick layer of silt and sand over the wide plain. We can assume that this newly discovered supply of water is coming down from the mountains through the valleys of the Colorado and Gila rivers in the form of a subterranean flow through the bed of an ancient river."

Uncle Cut Him Out

"So you asked Geraldine to marry you?" asked a man of the other.

"Yes, but I didn't have any luck," replied his friend. "She asked me if I had any prospects."

Bowl Concert Ticket Sales Will Continue

Inspired by the generosity of the people of Los Angeles in supporting the campaign for the Hollywood Bowl summer concerts, workers have decided to continue the drive another week.

Col. Walter P. Story, William Clark, Jr., and John J. Fraunfelder, architect, have been most instrumental in stimulating the enthusiasm of the workers.

Mr. Clark donated $10,000. Mr. Fraunfelder offered a silver cup to the winning team in the drive and Col. Story donated the One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry band Thursday night in Pershing Square.

STUDENTS TO DISPLAY ART WORK

Pupils of Otis Institute Will Exhibit Products in Gallery of Museum

Beginning today and continuing for two weeks the work of students of Otis Art Institute will occupy the main gallery of the Los Angeles Museum at Exposition Park. This students' exhibition is the largest and most varied ever assembled in the museum. It includes figure paintings, portraits, landscapes and sculptures, life class drawings and cast drawings, costume, interior decoration and stagecraft designs, posters, advertising designs and illustrations, metal work and wood carving craft objects.

With the opening of the exhibition announcement was made of the prize awards for the season 1924-25. Eighteen prizes or yearly scholarships have been awarded by Director William A. Bryan on the recommendation of the faculty of the Otis Art Institute. Miss Lillian Dayton was awarded the Huntington assistance prize of $100. Yearly scholarships were awarded Miss Dorothy Dowitt, Oscar Medlock, Miss Betty Renick and George Stanley.

Eight $25 prizes, contributed by the Bivouac Art Club, were awarded A. G. Aldrin, Miss Ruth Bennett, Miss Esther King, Miss Anna Levin, Albert Mow, Sam Patrick, George Stanley and Kitaro Uetsusi. The Julia Bracken Wendt sculpture prize of $50 was awarded Mrs. Melba Wilson and the Donna Schuster children's prize was awarded Dick Irvine. The three yearly scholarships for high-school students were awarded Miss Frances Beemer of Manual Arts; Richmond Kelsey of San Diego, and Miss Ruth Newton of Atascadero.

The Otis Art Institute is maintained by the county of Los Angeles to afford students of the graphic and plastic arts opportunities to train their art abilities to the best possible advantage. Day and evening classes for both beginning and advanced students are in session, either outdoors or indoors, twelve months in the year.

Commenting upon the reception given the Duke and Duchess of York and London cricketers arriving on the same train recently, a London paper said the crowd was "the largest since the arrival of Mary Pickford on her first visit."

TRAFFIC CHANGES URGED

Revision of the traffic ordinances relative to loading zones in the downtown district was recommended to the City Council by the board of directors of the Downtown Business Men's Association yesterday at a meeting at the Alexandria. This action was based on a survey conducted by Capt. J. L. Butler, traffic expert of the organization.

The survey shows, it is said, that approximately an average of only 26 per cent of the loading zones indicated by yellow paint lines are used. Release of the 74 per cent of zone spaces now set aside on Main, Spring, Hill and Broadway, allowing an average change of vehicles every thirty minutes, would supply temporary parking privileges to more than 1,500,000 motorists annually, the report stated.

MYSTERY OF PARENTAGE CLEARING UP

Woman Claims Child Who Was Found Abandoned in Vacant Lot as Own

The mystery surrounding the life of Leola Louise Kretschman, 5 years of age, whose parentage has been a puzzle to the juvenile authorities since she came to their attention last summer, promised to be cleared up yesterday when a woman claiming to be the mother of the child appeared with her attorney in Judge Archbald's Juvenile Court.

The girl was placed with the Children's Home Society for adoption following a hearing before Referee Van Waters of Juvenile Court, at which it was brought out that the girl had been in the custody of a woman who gave her name as Miss Emma Kretschman of Long Beach. Miss Kretschman, according to the testimony, said she found the child abandoned in a vacant lot.

The woman who appeared in Juvenile Court yesterday gave her name as Mrs. Myrtle Diesness, 24 years of age, of 22 Fairview avenue, Park Ridge, Ill. She was said to have stated she was the mother of Leola Louise and that when the child was still an infant she left her in the care of Mrs. H. E. Hall, at that time residing at 1329 West Jefferson street. Mrs. Diesness was said to have been called east because of the illness of her father, and as Leola Louise was ill at the time she felt she could not take the child with her.

Mrs. Hall, according to the story told by Mrs. Diesness, had the girl in her possession for about three years when the child was taken over by a welfare worker of Long Beach, July 31, 1924.

The addresses accredited to Mrs. Hall by Mrs. Diesness correspond with those given by Miss Kretschman. Juvenile authorities yesterday launched an investigation to determine if Mrs. Hall and Miss Kretschman are one and the same person.

Sister Believes Missing Woman to be Kidnaped

Missing since Saturday and feared to be the victim of a kidnaping, Mrs. Charles Windsor of Fresno was being sought yesterday by Los Angeles and Glendale police.

Her disappearance was reported by her sister, Miss Alice W. Walters of Glendale, who stated Mrs. Windsor has not been seen or heard from since she left Glendale Saturday to do some shopping in Los Angeles. Later in the day Miss Walters received a mysterious telephone message saying Mrs. Windsor would not be home to dinner, but would return later in the day. The person who telephoned refused to give a name.

Mrs. Windsor is 20 years of age, weighs about 130 pounds and is said to be attractive. When last seen she was wearing a tan coat, black hat and black satin dress.

NEW SEWER LINES AT BURBANK READY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK, June 26.—The sewer lines in the alleys running between Olive avenue and Angeleno avenue, and between Angeleno avenue and Tujunga avenue are now practically completed and will be ready for service in a few days. The lines are separate units in themselves extending from Third street to the foothills and all the residents of these three thoroughfares may now connect with the sewer. Immediate connection with the lines, however, is not compulsory for those who have satisfactory cesspool systems.

Mrs. Lewis is Restrained in Property Sale

An order restraining Mrs. E. G. Lewis, wife of E. G. Lewis, Atascadero promoter whose $10,000,000 bankrupt estate is now in the course of adjudication, from disposing of her property, was issued yesterday by Federal Judge James, who has been hearing the petition of Elsie King to remove A. R. Rutheford as trustee of the bankrupt estate.

The order recites that this action was taken following the appearance in testimony that much of property of Mrs. Lewis, which her husband estimated as being worth between $75,000 and $100,000, was community property.

CONFESSES PLOT TO KILL MOTHER

Long Beach Man Arrested in Poison Conspiracy

Plan to Get $50,000 Estate Disclosed by Youth

Lad Sent to Obtain Veronal Reports to Officers

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, June 26.—What police declare to have been a matricide plot was frustrated by Nick Harris agents and Captain of Detectives Worley here late this afternoon with the arrest of Wallace C. Watson, 30 years of age, and his detention on a temporary charge of criminal conspiracy. The charge may be dropped, it was said, and an insanity complaint obtained.

Watson, according to a statement police say he made to them, following his arrest, admitted having planned to kill his mother, Mrs. Bessie Watson, wealthy Chicago police officer's widow, who lives at the Park View Hotel on Pacific avenue here. His plans went awry, however, when C. E. Shirey, a Los Angeles youth, told police Watson had hired him to obtain a quantity of veronal from a local drug store. It was this drug that Watson said he planned to use to kill his mother and thus fall heir to her fortune, estimated at $50,000.

Investigation of American Legion and Red Cross records, after Watson had been arrested, revealed, police say, that Watson, who served in the American Army in Siberia, was released a few months ago from the Edward Hines Military Hospital at Chicago where he had been an inmate of the psychopathic ward. Government aid will be sought by local police in having him committed again to some psychopathic institution for treatment.

REVEALED BY BOY

The man's asserted plot to kill his mother was revealed today when C. E. Shirey, who lives at 4426 Sunset Drive, Los Angeles, reported to Norman L. Mosely, head of the Nick Harris agency here, that Watson had enlisted his aid.

Shirey told police that Watson accosted him on a P. E. car yesterday and after engaging him in conversation [illegible] that when his (Watson's) mother died, he would fall heir to $50,000. He told Shirey of his desire to cause his mother's death and proposed to Shirey that if the latter would obtain the poison, he would administer it and, when the estate was settled, would pay Shirey well for his work. Upon the arrival of the car in Long Beach Shirey went directly to the local officer of the Nick Harris Detective agency and disclosed the plot to manager Mosely.

Mosely reported to Captain of Detectives Worley, who instructed Shirey to proceed with his part of the plan. Shirey purchased a quantity of harmless cough tablets and, according to the agreement, met Watson this afternoon on the street near the Parkview Hotel. Captain Worley and Manager Mosely arrested Watson with the tablets on his person, they say.

MOTHER SUSPICIOUS

Mrs. Watson, intended victim of the asserted murder plot, is 75 years of age, and is the widow of a high-ranking police officer, who died in Chicago several years ago. She told police, following the arrest of her son, that she had been suspicious of his actions for more than a week, ever since he had demanded to read the provisions of a will she had made some time ago. She told police he had brought a stranger to her room at the hotel and told her the latter was an expert in the execution of wills and that it would be well to permit him to read it. Watson is the sole beneficiary under the terms of the document, it is said.

Mrs. Watson and her son had roomed in the same apartment up to this time, but soon thereafter she insisted, she told police, that her son take a room in another part of the hotel.

Damage Suit of Maid Appealed by Miss Minter

Mary Miles Minter Thursday appealed to the Appellate Court in an attempt to recover $1000 damages which a judgment of Superior Judge York required her to pay to Katherine Herlihy for an asserted malicious arrest.

MARY MILES MINTER

The film actress, who gives her name as Juliet Reilley and also as Juliet Shelby in the appeal, contests the award on the ground of insufficient evidence.

A warrant for Miss Herlihy was taken out in Pasadena Justice Court, the appeal states, after she refused to be discharged from the domestic employ of Miss Minter. The film star signed the complaint on April 27, 1924, charging Miss Herlihy with disturbing the peace. When the case came to trial Miss Minter failed to appear and the charge was dismissed. Miss Herlihy then started action in Superior Court to recover damages for this alleged malicious arrest and secured a $1000 judgment.

FUNERL OF F. L. CARTER ON MONDAY

Rites to be Observed for Massachusetts Business Man Who Died Here

Funeral services will be held at the Little Church of the Flowers next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Fred L. Carter, wealthy retired Massachusetts business man who died suddenly in this city last Tuesday. Carter, who was formerly president of the Carter, Carter, Meigs Company of Boston, one of the largest wholesale drug houses in New England, had been an annual visitor to Los Angeles for many years and only recently purchased a beautiful home at 442 South Kenmore avenue.

Carter leaves his widow, Mrs. Clara Woods Carter; a son, Fred L. Carter, Jr., and a brother living in Boston. The brother will arrive here today, according to Le Roy Bagley, to whose funeral parlors the body was taken.

The funeral services Monday will be followed by cremation at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Many Children to Compete in Annual Parade

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

OCEAN PARK, June 26. — All entries in the sixth annual kiddies' parade to be staged on the Ocean Front walk here Sunday, have been received, according to an announcement of Mrs. Earl Fraser this morning, who is the originator of the pageant. More than 1000 children on miniature floats will line at Fraser avenue and pass in review in front of the Municipal Auditorium to Rose avenue, Venice.

Santa Monica and Ocean Park merchants have assisted materially in staging the parade, having donated liberally to the cash prize list of more than $1000, which will be given winners. Judges picked from the ranks of Bay District society folk will award the prizes in the different divisions.

Truck Driver is Held for Having Altered Bonds

James C. Harper, a truck driver, was arrested yesterday by Secret Service Agent-in-Charge Ashe on a charge of having three altered Liberty Bonds in his possession. He was placed in jail after his arraignment before United States Commissioner Turney, who set his bail at $1500.

Ashe stated he found three bonds, each for $100, in the suspect's possession. The bonds, he stated, had been stolen from a bank at Graham, Tex., and some of the numbers on them rubbed out. Harper declared he received the bonds from a man in Mexicali.

RASPBERRY JAM

Clean one pound of currants and place in a preserving kettle with four pounds of sugar, heat and mash the currants and cook twenty minutes, add four pounds of cleaned raspberries and simmer for thirty mintes. Pour into hot, clean glass jars, seal and store in a cool, dry, dark place.

CHICKEN, MARYLAND

To serve six, cut three spring chickens in neat joints, dust with flour, dip in beaten egg, and roll in fine bread crumbs. Heat three-quarters of a cupful of butter in a large iron frying pan, add the chicken and fry a golden brown on all sides, be careful not to burn. Place the chicken on a hot platter covered with cream sauce and garnish with strips of cooked bacon and corn fritters.

CORN FRITTERS

Chop the contents of one can of corn and mix with one cupful of flour sifted with one teaspoonful of baking powder, half a teaspoonful of salt and one-quarter of a teaspoonful of paprika; add one tablespoonful of melted butter and four tablespoonfuls of milk beaten with one egg; mix well, drop from a tablespoon onto a hot, well-greased griddle and cook a nice brown on both sides.

ZUCCHINI, ITALIAN

Cut six zucchini (Italian squash) into thin slices; heat half a cupful of olive oil in a frying pan and cook the zucchini in it until tender; drain out the zucchini, place in a shallow earthenware or glass baking dish, season with salt and pepper, sprinkle well with grated cheese and brown in a moderate oven. Serve from the dish.

STRAWBERRY SAUCE

Place in a saucepan three-quarters of a cupful of water and three cupfuls of cleaned strawberries, bring to a boil and simmer slowly for five minutes, add one and a half cupfuls of sugar and stir and cook until thick. Cool and serve over ice cream.

TIP TOP SANDWICH

Place in a frying pan six slices of finely chopped bacon, two seeded green peppers finely chopped, one large onion, finely chopped and a seasoning of salt and pepper; stir and cook until the bacon is tender, add two well beaten eggs, cook one minute and spread between thin slices of lightly buttered toast. Garnish with radishes and ripe olives.

FRUIT CUP

Place in a tall glass pitcher one large can of shredded pineapple, six sprays of mint crushed, three cupfuls of fine ice, two cupfuls of cider, and two cupfuls of grape juice, stir until well mixed; add one cupful of firm cleaned strawberries and half a cupful of pitted cherries. Serve in tall glasses, place a large spoonful of the fruit in each glass and serve with long-handled iced teaspoons.

GRAVE OF QUEEN YIELDS FORTUNE

Father of Local Woman May Get Gems in Norway

Letter from Him There Tells of Finding Treasure

Jewels Are Believed Those of Ninth-Century Ruler

Centuries ago when the European world struggled with the savage onslaught of barbarian tribes, a Norwegian Queen, famed for her beauty and justice, was supposed to have been buried on a lonely island in the northern part of Norway. As was the custom at that time her throne and personal jewels were buried with her.

Soon afterward, according to tradition in that country, the island, rocked by some subterranean upheaval, sank into the sea.

Yesterday Mrs. John C. Calhoun, 1402 North Van Ness avenue, a Norwegian by birth, received a letter from her father, Edward Rudd, for thirty-two years a member of the Storthing, the Norwegian Parliament, relating a strange tale of the discovery of buried treasure involving a fortune estimated at more than $700,000. Her father, according to Mrs. Calhoun, is now postmaster of the town of Elgnes on the Island of Huido, where he has had his estate for the last fifty years.

In the letter, Mrs. Calhoun said, her father described the finding of a skeleton, that of a woman, buried deep in the corner of one of his large fields. Beneath the skeleton a heavily bound, highly ornamented iron box was found which contained 249 pearls in addition to an abundance of other jewelry.

Officials from Oslo, the capital, who were called to view the discovery, believed the body to be that of the lost Norwegian Queen, it was said. The pearls, Mrs. Calhoun declared, are said to be worth about $3000 each. The skeleton and jewelry have been removed to the museum at Oslo, the letter stated, for examination by government authorities.

As the Norwegian Queen died in 839 A.D., and the discovery was made on Rudd's estate, it is believed he will be permitted to retain the jewelry by the Norwegian government. Yesterday Mrs. Calhoun dispatched a letter to her father asking for more extensive details.

ATTORNEY HAHN WILL MOVE OFFICES TODAY

After nine years of occupancy of a suite of offices in the International Bank Building, Attorney S. S. Hahn will move into his new quarters in the Law Building, 143 North Broadway, this morning. Attorney Hahn is the first tenant to move into Los Angeles' newest office building, a height-limit structure built exclusively for the legal profession and which is situated opposite the Hall of Records. The transfer was made necessary by the recent purchase by the city of the International Bank Building, which is in the path of the proposed civic center and which, for many years, has been occupied almost exclusively by criminal attorneys. Attorney Hahn's new offices will be in suite 603, Law Building.

GIVES HIM UP TO OTHER GIRLS

Wife of Film Director Says Husband Wanted Both to be Happy—With Another—So She Gets Decree, "Loving Him too Much to Stand in Way"

William Alfred Selter, film director, wanted his wife to be happy—but with someone else. He so assured her in his farewell remarks, Mrs. Verness Jeanette Selter told Judge Summerfield yesterday.

"And there I was, my heart breaking, and he was telling me to be happy and not to cry," she continued. "For I loved Bill and I love him yet, and I wish I could have him back, but there are so many other girls who feel the same way about him. I hear there are four or five in Hollywood who are infatuated with him.

"We parted a year ago last spring. I had heard about these other girls and I asked him as reasonably as I could if he did not think he could forget them and live right, as a husband should. But he didn't think he could.

"'I'm simply not made that way,' he said. 'You are good-looking and men will simply flock about you if we separate. So be a good sport, don't cry, and let's be happy.'

"Well, I couldn't smile and be happy, but I love him too much to want to stand in his way, and that is why I am asking for a divorce."

She was granted a decree. With the decree there went on record a property settlement whereby Selter contracted to pay her $150 a week, one of the most substantial alimony arrangements approved in divorce court in months.

FAITH FAILS TO RESTORE $100 IN BAIL

Healer by Prayer Wins Her Case But Cannot Get Refund of Cash

Hope for the $100 which she gave as bail in Police Judge Pope's court some weeks ago was publicly given up by Ida May Hayden, faith healer of Long Beach, in Judge Craig's department of the Superior Court.

"Faith may cure a sick person," she muttered, "but apparently it will never return my $100."

Mrs. Hayden got into the toils of the law some time ago on charges of advertising herself as a healer by prayer in violation of the medical law. She deposited $100 bail and was cleared of the charge.

Then she sought the return of the bail. She charged the clerk of the court with stealing the money. He retaliated by filing a complaint against the faith healer in which he declared she had stolen the money herself and was therefore guilty of petty larceny, even though it was her own $100. A jury in Police Court held the clerk was right and found Mrs. Hayden guilty of the charge.

She then appealed to the Superior Court. Judge Craig overturned the verdict of the Police Court jury and then upon motion of S. S. Hahn, attorney for Mrs. Hayden, ordered the case dismissed. But the question as to what has become of the $100 still remains a mystery.

LEADER FOR CONCERTS AT BOWL LATE

Fritz Reiner, Expected to Arrive Here Yesterday, Fails to Make Appearance

Fritz Reiner, celebrated conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, failed to put in an appearance as scheduled yesterday and anxiety was expressed by officials of the Hollywood Bowl Association last night. Reiner wired upon leaving Cincinnati that he would be here yesterday at the latest.

His services were obtained by Mrs. J. J. Carter for the Hollywood Bowl concert season this summer.

Opening the concert season July 7, Reiner is scheduled to wield the baton at each of the four concerts of the first week. Sir Henry Wood of London, leading English conductor, and now in New York, will lead the second week. Reiner will then return to the platform the third and fourth weeks, giving up the baton later to such celebrities as Nikolai Sokoloff, Leopold Stokowski, Rudolph Ganz, Emil Oberhoffer, Walter Henry Rothwell, Ethel Leginska, Howard Hanson, Ernest Bloch and Edgar Stillman Kelley.

Continued progress of the drive was reported yesterday. Books of forty season tickets are being sold for $10 during the campaign.

PRIZES FOR DESIGNS TO BE AWARDED

Peggy Hamilton Fashion Contest Winners Will be Announced Today

Prizes in the dress-designing contest conducted in junior and senior high schools during March, April and May by Peggy Hamilton, Times fashion expert, will be awarded today at 10 a.m. at the Philharmonic Auditorium.

More than 200 designs were received and nine prizes are to be awarded by the Sassy Jane Company. In addition, the company will manufacture dresses from the winning designs and will name them after the designers.

Ruth Roland, film star, will make a personal appearance, wearing the dress which has been awarded the grand prize of $25 and material for a silk gown. It was won by Gertrude Darling. Other prize-winning dresses will be worn by Julanne Johnston and Joan Meredith. Costumes will be shown depicting styles of 100 years ago and today. Original creations from Ethel Chafin and Erte of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and Claire West of the Cecil B. De Mille studios will be shown.

SCOUTS WILL ENTERTAIN

Boy Scouts of Troop No. 13, attached to Temple B'Nai B'Rith, this evening, will hold their annual reception for parents at the temple. Rabbi Edgar G. Magnin will be one of the speakers, following a formal meeting of the troop. This troop of Jewish lads was awarded a silver trophy cup by the civic committee in charge of Memorial Day services at the Coliseum for their appearance in the parade.

FIREWORKS ON DISPLAY ARE IGNITED

Customers Delighted and Refuse to Leave Store as Unintentional Show Starts

A brief but spectacular fire in the fireworks department of a Broadway store caused more amusement than alarm yesterday, though the lower part of the store was filled for a time with acrid powder fumes and several clerks suffered from the smoke. But to the customers in the store at the time, the fire was an exciting and entertaining spectacle and it was with some difficulty that they were induced to vacate. The automatic sprinkler system and fire extinguishers in the hands of employees confined the blaze to the fireworks counter and the damage, according to the management, did not exceed a few hundred dollars.

To the demonstration of a toy pistol by one of the clerks at the counter was attributed the origin of the blaze. Sparks from the pistol set off other fireworks, and these still others, it was said, and in a moment the whole department was a popping and banging mass of pyrotechnic display. Two girl clerks leaped over the counters to safety, while clerks from the soda fountain adjacent put their experience of directing streams of fizz to good advantage by plying hand extinguishers on the blaze. Then the sprinkler system set off and it was about all over.

E. H. Pickett, 24 years of age, of Huntington Park, a clerk in the store, was treated at Receiving Hospital for smoke inhalation. Several other clerks, it was said, were treated at the store clinic for the same thing.

JAIL SON OF MILLIONAIRE AS BURGLAR

Foster Child of Wealthy Chicagoan Arrested at Beach Amusement Pier

While Jack Durand, adopted son of a Chicago millionaire, from a cell in the City Jail yesterday protested innocence of connection with a burglary gang in Chicago, word was received from Lake Forest, Ill., a suburb of the Windy City, that officers are on the way to take back the youthful suspect. Young Durand was arrested Thursday night at a Venice amusement pier where he was employed as the blackface in a duck-the-baby game.

The youth's arrest was made at the request of authorities in Chicago, who stated that three youths arrested there recently had confessed that Durand was involved in the gang.

Young Durand admitted he ran around with a gang of boys in Chicago, but that he did nothing worse than shoot craps with them. He said he left Chicago to get away from the gang and because he wanted to see the world. Since coming to the Pacific Coast, he declared, he had worked at many diffent jobs, including that of a day laborer.

He explained his relationship to the millionaire family in Chicago, by saying that Mrs. Durand is his aunt. She adopted him several years ago when his mother died, he said.

Woman Takes Poison After Trip to Beach

Maggie Ballin, 26 years of age, attempted to end her life yesterday morning by swallowing a quantity of poison at her home, 1249 South Grand avenue, shortly after her return from the beach with her husband, J. L. Ballin.

Three Are Freed on Disturbance of Peace Charge

Failure of either of the three defendants or the plaintiff to appear in court caused Police Judge Pope yesterday to order the case against Morris Brunner, Harry Shawl and Morris Brown stricken from the court calendar.

The three men were charged with disturbing the peace in a complaint sworn against them by P. G. Cantrell, who himself was found guilty several weeks ago on charges of assault and battery, with the three men as his victims. The battle between Cantrell and the three men, it is understood, developed over a woman.

POISONING SUSPECT IS CONVICTED

Martin Volk Found Guilty of Throwing Deadly Food Into Yard With Dog

Martin Volk was found guilty by a jury in Superior Judge Hahn's court yesterday of a charge of putting poison out with intent to kill an animal. The verdict was returned after two hours' deliberation.

Shortly after the jury came in, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fee was informed by the foreman that one of the jurymen, Nathan P. Calhoun, had been approached by Volk during recess Thursday in what the juryman believed to be an attempt to influence him. Calhoun declared he promptly informed Volk he could not talk with him and that the warning caused Volk to desist from saying anything.

Deputy Fee stated he will investigate the asserted attempt to approach Calhoun and will report his recommendations at the time Volk comes up for sentence Tuesday. Under the law, Volk may be sentenced to a maximum of three years in prison on the poison charge.

The charge against Volk was made by Mrs. Lillian Gutting, 1846 Merrill avenue, Miramonte, a neighbor of Volk. She declared that she caught Volk throwing a piece of meat into the yard in which her pet bulldog was tied. She said she picked up the piece of meat and had it analyzed and found it contained enough poison to kill many dogs.

Mrs. Gutting asserted that her dog was not vicious and that she kept it chained up in the yard all the time. She said Volk had an unjustified dislike for the dog.

FURNITURE SALESMEN TO GATHER

Representatives of Many Western Dealers to Meet Here August 3

Salesmen representing 2200 furniture dealers in twelve Western States will gather in Los Angeles for the annual furniture market convention of the Furniture Manufactrdres' Association of Los Angeles August 3 to 8, in the new building of the Mack International Motor Truck Company at Twenty-first and Alameda streets.

Plans for the gathering were discussed by 150 members of the newly organized Furniture Salesmen's Club at a dinner at the Marie Louise Cafe.

Walter Taliant of the University of Southern California spoke on salesmanship as a factor in the development of Los Angeles, and A. E. Gottschalk outlined the aims of the club.

S. J. Kling, president of the association, gave a brief sketch of the conditions in the furniture industry.

S. M. Green, chairman of the annual market committee, in explaining new features said, "This year, we propose to entertain the dealers as well as give them information. During the noonday luncheons throughout the week, free to the dealers, buyers and exhibitors there will be something interesting going on every minute. Talks by men who have something worth while to say on the furniture industry and various other industrial and commercial lines will be given, interspered with musical programs and professional entertainers."

Owen Moore is Court Witness in Damage Suit

Owen Moore, motion-picture actor and former husband of Mary Pickford, was a witness in Judge Monroe's court yesterday, where the suit for $51,350 damages he brought against Alfred H. Whitworth and other property owners of Beverly Hills is on trial.

The suit is an outgrowth of an accident January 20, 1924, when Moore's automobile was said to have collided with a cement culvert on Preuss Road and overturned into a gutter. As a result of the accident, Moore said, he suffered injuries which kept him confined to his bed for six weeks.

Moore asserted the property owners had dedicated a strip of land along the road for street purposes and that when the street was widened no provisions were taken to guard against the accident he said he suffered. The accident occurred at night, according to Moore, and there was no light or guard posted at the culvert. The defendants entered a general denial of the charge of negligence and were in court prepared to fight the case. Testimony will be resumed Monday morning.

Progress Made by Schools Here Amazes Teacher

Miss Allene Seaton, special superintendent of kindergarten schools of Louisville, Ky., and second vice-president of the International Kindergarten Union, is registered at the Lake View Hotel. She is here to attend the convention of kindergartners which meets July 8 to 12.

Miss Seaton expressed the belief that viewing the progressive methods used in the Los Angeles city schools will be great benefit to the delegates.

"The splendid reputation of your school system is known to educators throughout the country, but we gasp with surprise at the evidences of progressiveness when we see it for the first time," declared Miss Seaton. "Just to be here is an inspiration."

CHAPLIN STAR OF PREMIERE

"Gold Rush" Draws Most Brilliant Throng

Comedian's Humor Shines Through Ten Reels

Picture Novelty Among Season's Offerings

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Charlie Chaplin has had his hour of sovereign triumph in the picture realm. There has never been a premiere to equal that of "The Gold Rush," and whether his victory becomes absolutely complete or not through the weeks and months to come, he has emerged the conqueror in respect to that audience of audiences which he can call his own.

"The Gold Rush" — a "dramatic comedy. "The Gold Rush"—a super comedy, one may well call it. In size and elaborateness, at least, this huge feature will go down as epoch-making in that it is as daring and spectacular an experiment as has ever been attempted on the screen.

It is amazing, when all is said and done, that comedy in the films shall have reached such a point in its development where a picture rivaling in length a "Birth of a Nation," a "Robin Hood," or a "Thief of Bagdad," should have been undertaken, and from the trial Chaplin has at least, come forth with the laurels of a pioneer. It is the biggest personal tour de force for him.

Hollywood made clear their admiration for his accomplishment in the manner in which they received both Chaplin himself and his picture. It was an evening made gay with laughter from beginning to end. It was a night of enjoyment both intimate and extraordinary of the king of comedy himself. Every trick, every subtlety, every clever point of mirth, was greeted with a kindling joy, and frequently with lively and spontaneous bursts of applause that proved the delight that Chaplin's cleverness, his own inimitable cleverness, can bring.

In all the annals of the cinema there has never been an audience of such glowing brilliance to do honor to an idol and a star—to someone, in fact, who has represented more than idolatry and stardom, whose achievements have been reckoned perhaps the most far-reaching influence for the independence and advancement of the films. They had come to see his great work, and they included a group of famous personalities that have never on any occasion heretofore graced a premiere at the Egyptian, celebrated for its premieres.

Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Gloria Swanson, John Barrymore, Lillian Gish—it would be impossible to recite the names, or to tell in any adequate degree the nature of the furore and excitement that their presence meant both within the theater, and outside the doors.

Such a throng of sightseers as lined the boulevard in the vicinity of the Egyptian has never gathered there before. It was a surging crowd that moved like a tide backward and forward at the approach of each new limousine, all striving, struggling and fighting for a glimpse of yet another famous personage.

I could devote much time and space to this phase of the premiere of "The Gold Rush," did the time and space permit. Still it is a phase of the theatrical life here that has been told of before. The difference only is that a climax was reached on this particular occasion, which will probably not be attained again for a long time to come. There is only one Chaplin, and he has always, and for varying reasons, been the center of all eyes.

It is hardly necessary to mention that his picture, "The Gold Rush" is regarded—not only in the picture domain itself, but widely elsewhere—as one of the big tests of his career as a creative artist. Creative artist is a distinction that he—frequently in pictures, perhaps—deserves fully to merit.

"The Gold Rush" has been all of a year in the making. It is the first feature in which Chaplin has personally played during several seasons, "The Woman of Paris" intervened, and the last film in which he was seen was "The Pilgrim."

There is no precedent, of course, for judging this production. No traditions have yet been framed in the films, or one might say even elsewhere, for entertainment dependent almost wholly upon the efforts of a single person with the aim of evoking laughter that lasts such a period of time—without a single intermission—as "The Gold Rush."

Of course, one has the word "dramatic" in the title sheet as a guide to a deeper underlying theme in "The Gold Rush." I am afraid, though, that if this had really been intended the picture has fallen short of its purpose. Audiences will be pleased by this film exactly in so far as they do not take it seriously. I cannot believe that anyone will, who sees it.

The setting is different from other Chaplin comedies. I do not recall any that so consistently transpires in the out-of-doors. The great snowy wastes, whether they be those of location or studio, provide a novel background, but it is a background that is most effective only when it is used for the more familiar Chaplin comedy effect.

Chaplin's personal performance is in no wise materially altered from that which we have known before. There is in fact, a certain sense at times of getting back toward the pristine mood of mirth that he has always brought to the screen. I cannot exactly say either that it is actually accomplished, at times, without a certain slight effort.

There are also moments of pathos that are fascinating in their revelation of more serious Chaplin feeling. The episode where he prepares the New Year's Eve dinner for the dance-hall girls who find their diversion elsewhere is typical.

A very interesting departure from the Chaplin routine in comedy are the final scenes where he appears as a millionaire, made rich finally by the gold rush, and dons dressy clothes, including two overcoats for good measure. One here caught a glimpse, if only for a moment, of a possible new character that he might devise, but the amusement that was conjured by the baggy trousers, oversize shoes and cane was, without doubt, definite proof that that get-up is still popularly regarded as the best.

Considering the comedy, as a whole, I cannot but feel a certain disappointment in its merits from an artistic standpoint. The greatest mistake that I can visualize would be to refer to it as a tragi-comic epic, or in some such way to make it a more subtly pretentious creation than it is. I do not see it personally in this light at all.

"The Gold Rush" is in essence a Chaplin comedy of the genus and the species. Humor is at all times supreme in the matter of its entertainment. The tragic note—if it be there—does not really strike deep.

The picture is a heroic achievement. Whether it will actually start a vogue for ten-reelers in comedy, I doubt very much. It is probably the first and the last.

It is chiefly and above all, a triumph for Chaplin's personality, and the main and striking thing, after all, is that he can hold the attention by his own presence over a space of ten or twelve reels. This is all the more remarkable when it is considered that "brevity is" and always will remain — "the soul of wit."

To see the picture is to view one of the great novelties of this or any other season, and it is to be recommended as an attraction for that reason. Moreover, it has the most bautiful setting yet devised for any production at the Egyptian. Sid Grauman has brought to life a veritable poem in his prologue, especially the first and last parts thereof. The applause for this was tremendous, and proved once again his superior showmanship.

A film reel introducing the various stars who attended the opening was by far one of the cleverest entertainments of this kind yet provided for an opening showing. Fred Niblo was the introducer both from the screen and stage, and Rudolph Valentino also took part in the climax.

As regards the supporting cast of Chaplin, special commendation should go to Georgia Hale, who appears as the girl, and to Mack Swain as the mad prospector of the story. Tom Murray is also good, and Malcolm Waite and Henry Bergman are others in the cast.

BEAUTY PLAYS EXTRA IN 'CHICKIE' ALHAMBRA

Next year—a star, perhaps.

That is the probable history of Gladys Erskine, daughter of one of Costa Rica's wealthiest and most influential business men, and famed as a beauty in San Jose.

Her beauty and charm impelled the President of Costa Rica last year to select her to reign as "Queen of the Bullfights" at the fiestas in San Jose. As queen she officially started all the bullfights of the holidays.

INDEPENDENT HEADS WILL LEAVE FOR EAST

Morris Schlank, president of Anchor Film Distributing Corporation, accompanied by E. O. Van Pelt, newly appointed general manager of distribution, will leave tomorrow on an extended tour east, where they will confer with independent exchange men regarding this year's productions.

Mr. Schlank and Mr. Van Pelt will distribute four series of specials, which includes eight Helen Holmes railroad melodramas, eight Al Hoxie western features, eight Bob Reeves cyclonic dramas, and twelve Radiant Comedies, starring Bobbie Ray.

The film executives expect to be back east about two months.

Vivacious Vivian Will Head Cast

Vivian Martin,

That irrepressible director, Marshall Neilan, turns back from the tragedy of "Tess" to the field of comedy, in his latest picture, "The Sporting Venus," which comes to Loew's State Theater today. Also turning back from the somberness of a D'Urberville is Blanche Sweet, who has, in "The Sporting Venus," her first light role for a long, long time. Miss Sweet, bobbed and saucy, reveals a new phase of her personality, because it is the first story in which she has appeared where the heroine has been of the flapper type.

Featured in the cast are Ronald Colman and Lew Cody. Mr. Colman has achieved considerable popularity lately in such pictures as "The White Sister," "Romola," "Tarnish" and "Her Night of Romance," in "The Sporting Venus," he has the role of a Scotch hero, which makes everything just right, since Colman is a Scotsman himself. Mr. Cody, whose villainous but pleasant, manners on the screen have graced many a picture, is less villainous and more pleasant than usual in "The Sporting Venus."

Eddie Cline Will Direct Jackie in Newest Picture

Eddie Cline, one of the best-known comedy directors in the industry, has been selected by Jack Coogan, Sr., to direct "Old Clothes," Jackie's first picture on his new Metro-Goldwyn contract. This will be Cline's fourth consecutive picture with the juvenile star. He previously directed Jackie in "Circus Days," Little Robinson Crusoe" and "The Rag Man," the latter considered one of the little star's greatest box office attractions.

The selection of Cline was influenced also because "Old Clothes" is to be a sequel to Jackie's last film. While this new production is a continuation of the last, it will be in itself a complete and individual story. Both stories were written by Willard Mack, and the scenario for "Old Clothes" is nearing completion in the hands of Kenneth Clark, who was loaned to the Coogan company by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

ACTRESS GOES NORTH

Kathryn McGuire, best remembered for her work opposite Buster Keaton in "The Navigator" and "Sherlock, Junior," has gone to San Francisco to play opposite Richard Holt. The picture is being made by the Berger Productions at the Gerson studios for independent release. It marks Miss McGuire's first screen work since her recent accident in connection with the filming of "Thundering Speed," when the automobile in which she was riding at the time overturned and gave her a slight concussion of the brain.

THALBERG RECOVERS

Irving Thalberg, associate executive at the M. G. M. Studios, who for the past week has been convalescing following an attack of the flu, will soon be back at his desk.

ALL-STAR CAST

An all-star cast will support Dorothy Hope, English stage and screen star, in her second American screen vehicle, to be made by the A. M. Foot productions. Director John P. McCarthy, preparing the next story, titled "The Conquering Woman," made this announcement yesterday.

"Jocko," Fred Thomson's prize bull, has become a veritable veteran of the silver sheet. "Jocko" has just completed an important role in still another Fred Thomson production for F.B.O. "The Wild Bull's Lair." Although "Jocko" has the title role, so to speak, "Silver King," Thomson's big white charger, again plays an important part and shares chief honors with his popular master.

FLASHES

HELEN AND WARREN

NOTABLE FICTION CHARACTERS TO REACH SCREEN

By Grace Kingsley

Of course, you know who Helen and Warren are. Nearly every family in the world has been brought up on their domestic adventures; wives have pointed to Warren; husbands have pointed to Helen. In short, Mabel Herbert Urner's heroine and hero are household words.

Now you are to have a chance to see Helen and Warren on the screen. Fox Corporation is to picturize them and Al Ray will direct. The stories will be done in a series.

Naturally, you just can't wait to hear who will play the title roles, and I am pleased to tell you that the roles have been assigned, respectively, to Hallam Cooley, whom you know very well, and to Katherine Perry, whom you don't know so well, but who, I can assure you, will give a nice performance.

Hallam Cooley started his career as a Sennett comedian; afterward he played leads in dramas, and of late he has been a member of various all-star casts, including recently that of "The Monster," which made a hit at Loew's this week.

EXODUS TREAKS FROM LASKY STUDIO TODAY

A mighty exodus of motion-picture stars takes place from the Lasky studios today. Two trainloads, comprising 285 persons, will leave Los Angeles to make on location those two famous stories, "The Pony Express," with James Cruze directing, and "The Vanishing American," from Zane Grey's novel.

Richard Dix is to have the role of the Navajo Indian in "The Vanishing American" and, together with Lois Wilson and Noah Beery, heads the cast of said picture, with others players, technicians, property men and others, to the number of about 120, comprise the party.

Another important player in the cast, just signed yesterday, is Shannon Day. Miss Day will play for the first time the role of an Indian girl. She says that she will introduce a new hair dress for the Indian girl, however, by winding her braids about her head instead of having two pigtails swinging down her back.

"The Vanishing American" is going on location in the heart of the Navajo Indian Reservation, 165 miles north of Flagstaff, Arizona. There are more than 30,000 Indians on the reservation, 10,000 of whom will appear in some of the scenes of the picture.

A special train of eight coaches, three baggage cars and two diners will take 160 members of James Cruze's unit to Sacramento for the filming of the opening scenes of "The Pony Express," the first western historical picture Cruze has made since "The Covered Wagon."

A portion of the old city of Sacramento, including the dock as it existed in 1860, has been rebuilt near the site of the present city. Sacramento was the terminal of the Pony Express during the two years of its operation.

Featured members in the cast are Betty Compson, who is playing for the first time in some months under the direction of her husband; Ricardo Cortez, Ernest Torrence and Wallace Beery.

Mayer Picks New Director

Having demonstrated his ability to pick successful directors in days gone by by selecting John Stahl, Fred Niblo, Josef Von Sternberg and others, Louis B. Mayer now feels quite sure of himself, thank you, when he makes up his mind that any particular picture man will be good behind the megaphone.

So when he announces that he has engaged Al Raboch to direct pictures for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, you may be quite sure he knows what he is talking about. Raboch was formerly a successful artist, actor and writer. He was born in New York City, where he attended the National Academy of Design and the Art League. For some years he maintained a studio in Carnegie Hall, and was a successful painter and magazine illustrator. He was the art director for "The Girl Philippe," and played in the picture as well. Later he became associated with Charles Brabin and wrote the scenario for "Driven."

Lionel Barrymore In It

A most fascinating announcement is forthcoming from the Ralph W. Ince studios. It is to the effect that "The Sea Wolf" will be the first production of Ralph W. Ince Productions, Inc.

Lionel Barrymore has been secured to play the leading role. He has been loaned by I. E. Chadwick for the purpose.

It does seem odd, doesn't it? For while John Barrymore is making "The Sea Beast" for the Warners, Lionel will be filming "The Sea Wolf" for Ince.

The Jack London story will be personally directed by Mr. Ince, possibly with the co-operation on the set of Charmian K. London, widow of the noted writer.

Pola Negri's Next

Paul Bern returned yesterday from Mexico City, where he has been seeking atmosphere for the new Pola Negri Paramount starring picture, "Flower of Night." Mr. Bern in Mexico went over the ground of the story thoroughly, including a visit to the Pachuca silver mining district, richest in the world, and dating back to 1620.

While in Mexico City, Mr. Bern attended the farewell appearance of Esperanza Iris, favorite Latin-America musical comedy actress, during the past twenty-eight years.

"The theater was crowded with notables," said the director, "including the Spanish Ambassador, members of Mexican officialdom and society. The floral tributes were astonishing, hundreds of bouquets being hurled on the stage. Fifty live white doves were released from the audience. The piece was 'The Merry Widow.'"

Miss Negri is delighted at the prospect of the new story.

"Mr. Hergesheimer, I feel, understands my story requirements as does no other writer," she said yesterday. "I feel sure this will be the best story I have ever had. I have unbounded confidence in Paul Bern as director, too."

"Why should I go out when I have everything at home to make me happy?" she said. "I play tennis, and swim every day, and there are my books, my library, my comfortable house."

MEXICO PLANS HUGE PROJECT

Pacific Coast Irrigation Scheme Disclosed

Seventy Thousand Acres in Reclamation Site

Construction Work Will be Started in Winter

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICALI, June 26.—Plans for the reclamation and colonization of 70,000 acres of land on the Pacific Coast near San Quintin Bay, 200 miles south of Ensenda, were disclosed by Gov. Abelardo Rodrigues of Lower California on his return this week from Mexico City, where the project was given the indorsement of the Federal government. Territory engineers who have been making primary surveys of the project under Gov. Rodriguez's direction propose to furnish water for this land by erecting a dam in the Santo Domingo River.

According to their estimates, the reservoir created will not only supply adequate water for irrigation of the land, but will develop considerable electric power.

"Construction work is to be started on the project next winter," said the Governor, "and during 1926 the land will be allotted in forty-acre tracts to Mexican families brought from the mainland.

"The total cost of the project when completed will be approximately 3,000,000 pesos. The territorial government of Lower California is to finance the dam and irrigation system, and the Federal government has agreed to furnish funds for the individual farmers to improve and equip their allotments. All of this money is to be repaid under a system similar to that operated by the United States Reclamation Service.

DISTRICT PROVEN

"The fertility of the soil in this district has already been proved by squatters, who have been operating there on a small scale for several years. Early vegetables, citrus fruits and beans will be the principal products."

Gov. Rodrigues returned from his three weeks' visit to Mexico City, where he held personal conferences with President Calles, with optimistic reports regarding general conditions in the republic.

"Both trade and political conditions have improved wonderfully since my last previous visit to the Federal capital nine months ago," said the Governor. "The administration has full confidence that the minor issues which prompted the note recently made public by Secretary of State Kellogg, will be ironed out quickly and the way opened for Americans to invest their capital in Mexico without fear.

"Talk of revolution is not regarded seriously by those close to President Calles. The President's economy program has already accomplished many favorable results and the administration is steadily gaining in the confidence of the masses."

GAMBLING TO CONTINUE

Referring to purely local issues, Gov. Rodrigues stated that the Federal authorities are not likely to revoke the licenses under which gambling is now operated in Mexicali and Tia Juana. "I am opposed to these gambling concessions," he said, "but they are permitted under the Mexican laws, the licenses are issued by the Federal government and I have no authority to interfere."

Both public officials and private business interests in the Mexican capital are taking keen interest in the development of the Colorado River delta lands in Mexico.

With the completion within the next two years of the railroad line from Mexicali to the Gulf of California, and the Southern Pacific line over the mountains at Tepic connecting Mexico City with the West Coast, a direct line of transportation between the peninsula and Mexico City will be opened. It is felt that trade relations with this isolated section of the republic will be greatly stimulated.

Cotton-mill owners in Mexico City are looking forward to the time when the Imperial Valley of Mexico will be one of their main sources of raw material. They expect during the present year to use the greater part of the 85,000 bales that will be grown in the delta adjacent to Mexicali, in spite of existing transportation handicaps.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION ADVOCATED

Kienholz Urges Certificates of Practical Knowledge Accompany Diplomas

The need for properly programmed and well-defined courses in vocational education in our public schools and the remarkable development of this type of education in the schools of Los Angeles are set forth in a lengthy article in the Masonic Digest by William Simms Kienholz, director of vocational education in the Los Angeles public schools.

Mr. Kienholz stresses in his article the belief of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce that every boy and girl graduating from a high school should, upon graduation, be presented not only with a diploma for general educational training, but also with a certificate of accomplishment in some line of endeavor that will make for a means of livelihood in the workaday world.

He makes a plea for a more liberal attitude on the part of institutions of higher learning toward vocational education. In order to develop such training to its highest, he says, the schools must have the co-operation not only of the parents, but various organizations, particularly industrial and business organizations.

Learned!

"There, you've missed him! I certainly am surprised, how come you didn't hit that rabbit, Uncle Bill?"

"It was this way, boy. You see, that rabbit was runnin' zigzag. I aimed at him when he was in zig, and before I could shut my shootin' eye, he had shifted into zag! These critters is gittin' more eddicated every day."

BREWER BEWAILS DRY LAND

German Visitor From Munchen Says New Outlet For City's Product is Needed

German beer brewers bewail prohibition in America which has materially cut down the market for their product, according to Walter Pschorr, representing one of the largest breweries at Munchen, who is now a Los Angeles visitor and a guest at the Biltmore.

"Large quantities of Munchener beer were exported to the United States in the good old days," quoth the brewer sadly, "but that's all over now. We are still making beer, of course, but we have had to find other foreign markets. Fortunately our own people consume large quantities of the beverage and so our breweries have been able to stay in business."

Pschorr is making a tour of this country to learn what he can about American methods of manufacturing the somewhat vapid liquid known as near beer.

"I was much interested in the way they have converted their large brewing plants in St. Louis into other uses," he said. "They are still making near-beer there, but only a fraction of the former brewery works is necessary to supply the demand for this commodity. I found what once had been flourishing beer factories now used for every conceivable line of business, from the printing of religious tracts to the manufacture of street cars."

SICK VETERAN IN RUM NET

Patient at Sawtelle Soldiers' Home Found Guilty of Possession and Sale of Liquor

Joseph D. Canell, a tuberculosis patient at the Sawtelle Soldiers' Home, who was asserted to have been the inside man for a bootleg ring specializing in selling low-grade moonshine to disabled veterans at the home, was found guilty by a jury in Federal Judge Sheppard's court yesterday of charges of possession and sale of liquor. He will be sentenced Monday.

The jury disagreed in the case of R. C. Delay and H. J. Lowery, civilians, who were declared to have been members of the ring. They were charged with possession and sale of liquor.

Mrs. Grace Collins, whose home near the Soldiers' Home was said by Federal agents to have been the headquarters for the ring, was sentenced to three months in the Los Angeles County Jail on charges of possession and sale. She pleaded guilty Thursday.

According to Federal agents, the liquor said to have been sold by the ring caused serious illness among numerous patients.

Mrs. Rosario Norde was held to answer yesterday by United States Commissioner Turney on a charge of illegal possession of liquor and shortage of wine at her bonded winery. The winery was awarded to Mrs. Norde as a property settlement in divorce action against her husband, John E. Joseph. Bail was set at $5000.

August Maturilich, proprietor of the Concordia Cafe, 304 South Main street, was held to answer yesterday by United States Commissioner Turney on a charge of possession and sale of liquor. Federal agents testified they had made several purchases of liquor at the cafe, and that when they raided it yesterday they found six pints and some marked money. His bail was set at $2500.

HART FIGHTS TRUST-FUND SETTLEMENT

Actor Files Transcript in Move to Prevent Wife Appearing in Films

William S. (Bill) Hart yesterday made the first move toward an appeal to the State Supreme Court for a final decision in his battle with his wife, Winifred Westover Hart, who is seeking to break the trust-fund agreement which she entered into with Hart at the time of their separation. He filed a transcript of the case in Superior Court with the Supreme Court, which is a preliminary to the filing of the actual appeal.

The transcript includes the decision of Judge Stephens of the Superior Court last April, in which he ruled that Mrs. Hart could return to the screen despite the clause in the trust-fund contract against this, but that she could not use her husband's name in the films.

The decision satisfied neither Hart nor his wife. Both announced through their attorneys that they would take the case to the Supreme Court.

Mrs. Hart's attorneys announced at the time of the Superior Court decision that they would seek a new hearing in the Supreme Court in order to obtain for their client the right to use her husband's name in pictures, and Hart declared he would seek to have the decision overruled and Mrs. Hart prevented from appearing in pictures, in accordance with their agreement at the time of the separation.

Branch to Open Course in Work of Junior High

Recognizing the increasing importance of the junior high-school movement, the University of California, Southern Branch, has arranged for a series of courses covering the junior high-school field. These will be offered at the summer session by Mrs. Helen Watson-Pierce, assistant superintendent of schools.

"We will use the John Muir Junior High School as a laboratory," Mrs. Watson-Pierce explained yesterday, "and students taking these courses will have one hour a day on theory and practice, and one hour a day spent at the John Muir.

"With the exception of Rochester, N. Y., we are the first to introduce such a course of study. We feel that the junior high-school period is one of the most important in the lives of our school children, and it is essential that teachers be given some preparation for entering upon this work."

These summer session classes will open on Monday, next. The subjects specifically considered will be English, mathematics, social studies, science, foreign languages, commercial subjects, music, drawing, sewing, cooking, shop work and mechanical drawing.

PASADENA'S WATER PLAN IS OPPOSED

Proposal to Take Supply from San Gabriel Canyon Attacked at Meeting

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WHITTIER, June 26.—Strenuous opposition to the proposal of Pasadena or any other city to take water out of the San Gabriel Canyon was expressed at a mass meeting of about 600 persons representing all sections of the valley held at the high-school auditorium here tonight.

Speakers reiterated sentiments expressed at various meetings previously that the Board of Supervisors should not permit any change in the plans to construct the $25,000,000 dam for flood control purposes solely at the forks in the river. It was pointed out that a giant petition being circulated among valley residents expressing these sentiments will be presented to the Supervisors. All persons were asked to sign the petition and aid in its circulation. Opinions were expressed by lawyers who spoke at the meeting that Pasadena could not legally take water out of the river already appropriated by the water-users of the valley.

The meeting tonight was conducted under the auspices of the San Gabriel Valley Water-Users' Protective Association. It was presided over by Capt. Orsum Early of Whittier. Among those who spoke were Robert George, Whittier banker; Walter Haas, J. B. Anderson; George Rinehart, Covina newspaper publisher and leader of the fight against Pasadena in the Covina section, and F. C. Finkel, Long Beach engineer, who said he spoke for a number of organizations in the harbor district. A committee of three, consisting of Capt. Early, Roy Cole and E. R. Canterbury, was appointed to co-operate with other organizations in the valley to fight the Pasadena proposal.

POLICE FIND NOTHING IN HOTEL RAID

Officers Apologize After Searching Room Occupied by "Bert the Barber"

A raid followed by apologies was made yesterday by officers of the police narcotic squad on a hotel room occupied, according to officers, by Albert Busterna, better known as "Bert the Barber." Officers Murphy, Moran, Chitwood and Williams roused Busterna from bed at 6 a.m. and searched his room thoroughly, without discovering anything out of the way.

"I never handled narcotics in my life and the police know it," Busterna is said to have told the officers indignantly.

Judge Praises Pair in Dispute Over Children

"The very fact that you two people are here contending over the privilege of living in the same house with five children commends you," remarked Judge Summerfield yesterday after hearing proceedings over the custody of the children of Archie and Anna Epifonos, prominent members of the local Greek colony.

Attorney Ernest M. Turchia, counsel for Mrs. Epifonos, explained that when the couple were divorced several months ago, provision for custody had been omitted from the decree.

Mrs. Epifonos was granted the right to care for the children, at the expense of their father, in the sum of $75 a month.

ECONOMIC GEOGRAPHY COURSE BEING GIVEN

The fundamentals of manufacture, use of the major agricultural commodities, the major trade routes of the world and the significance of the trade center are some of the outstanding topics of study and discussion in the six-weeks' intensive course in economic geography which is being given at Metropolitan College, University of Southern California Tuesday and Thursday evenings. The course is in charge of Clayton D. Carus, professor of foreign trade at University of Southern California. Registrations will be taken at 7 p.m. on Tuesday night, the 30th inst., at Metropolitan College, University of Southern California, in the Transportation Building, Seventh and Los Angeles streets, or further information may be obtained by calling TRinity 1701 at any time between 8 a.m. and 9:30 p.m.

Snee is Charged With Posing as Federal Officer

An additional charge of impersonating a Federal officer was made yesterday by the United States grand jury against Al Snee. In February, it is asserted, Snee told Attorney Guy Eddie he was a prohibition agent and induced him to indorse his note for $200. The previous indictments declare that in January Snee extorted money from bootleggers, posing as a prohibition agent.

The grand jury returned four indictments for asserted violation of the passport laws and six for asserted violation of Federal narcotic laws. Jowalla Singh, Deiel Singh, Luigi Baldi and Gregorio Apa were named in the passport indictments; Hum Tin, Joe Aristo, Leon Cleveland, Joaquin Mendoza, Lambert Lopez and Joe Wah in the narcotic indictments. William Wilds was charged with forging a government pay check and C. E. Davis with smuggling.

Street Railway Gets Permit to Put on Bus Line

Permission to establish motor-bus service between Los Angeles and Inglewood was given the Los Angeles Railway yesterday by the State Railroad Commission. The company will operate on a twenty-minute schedule and proposes to charge a 5-cent one-way fare. The route is as follows:

From Fifth-fourth street and Mesa Drive west on Fifth-fourth to Rimpau Boulevard, south to Sixtieth street, west to Gay street, south to Hyde Park Boulevard, west to Market street, south to Hawthorne street, west to Commercial street, south to Regent street, east to Market street, south to Queen street, west to Commercial street and north to Regent street.

Tax Determined for Mother of Gloria Swanson

The State has fixed an inheritance tax of $321.63 on the $43,774 estate of Mathew P. Burns. By the terms of the assessment, Mrs. Adeline L. Burns, the widow, who is the mother of Gloria Swanson, is exempted from tax because the $20,000 compromise settlement allowed her recently by the Probate Court from her husband's estate is less than the minimum amount allowed by the State for taxation.

Burns, a shoe manufacturer, died August 17, 1921, leaving a will in which he named his widow sole legatee. Probate Court declared the will invalid and awarded the remainer of the estate above the $20,000 to two brothers and a sister.

STAR HAS ONLY PITTANCE

(Illustration on Picture Page)

Clara Kimball Young, present actress and former film star, owns only $8 and her clothing, consisting mainly of stockings and underwear. The $100,000 jewels stolen from her recently in New York were paste, worth a small fraction of the advertised sum, it was brought out, and the diamond bracelet, pearl necklace and rings she wears in her vaudeville act at a local theater are worth collectively, less than $100.

These facts and others as interesting were testified to yesterday before Judge Hollzer, where Miss Young appeared for questioning as to her assets. She was brought to court by Attorney Robert M. Browning, who got a judgment against her, when he sued for legal services, of $69,000, which has not been paid.

Miss Young testified her salary is $1500 a week, but $1400 a week is assigned to New York creditors to whom she owes $47,000, leaving her $100 a week on which to live.

"How about those jewels stolen in New York?" she was asked.

"They were paste," she said. "I fostered the idea they were valuable for publicity purposes."

Miss Young had to make two trips to court, the second time to show the necklace, bracelet and rings. An appraiser valued the necklace at $28, the bracelet at $48 and the rings at $18 and $10, respectively. Attorney Browning decided he did not want them.

"I think they are exempt as tools of her craft, anyway," commented Judge Hollzer.

After Harry Hollingsworth, Miss Young's manager, had corroborated her testimony as to the amount and liens on her salary, Judge Hollzer directed that her salary be paid into court as long as she is in California. Clerk Bragg will give her $100 a week for living expenses and the remainder will be held for thirty days to permit the New York parties to intervene. If they cannot establish bona fide prior claims, Attorney Browning will get the money.

CONTRACTORS CELEBRATE

Hundreds in Allied Building Trades and City and County Officials Attend Chapter Banquet

Contracts awarded to members of the Southern California chapter of Associated General Contractors of America carry with them reasonable assurance that skill, integrity and responsibility will be back of the jobs, speakers declared last night at the sixth annual banquet of the chapter in the Biltmore Hotel.

More than 475 persons attended the event and among them were men of the building materials and allied businesses and a number of city and county officials having to do with construction contracts, who were guests of the chapter.

"The great majority of contractors," E. M. Scofield said, "take their work seriously and recognize that they have a service to sell that is worth real money to the owner, and today they are providing the same quality of service as an owner may expect from a banker, doctor or engineer."

He advocated the fee system of construction by contractors, saying that it "eliminates opposition of interest between owner and contractor and so promotes sound investment."

"When you see a man working under our banner," J. C. Edwards said, "you can be assured that he has the correct moral responsibility, that responsibility that comes from ability and experience and financial responsibility for the operation at hand."

C. L. Peck said membership in the chapter is an assurance of skill which he described as painstaking application of special talent.

City Electrician Manahan in a Chinese impersonation said that in China they cut off the heads of engineers, who advocate the day labor contract system, that they do not change their zoning plan every new moon and otherwise amused the audience. A mock court haled before it many members and guests and "soaked" them for various offenses. There was music and dancing and other acts by professional entertainers.

Plan to Return Peard Remains East for Burial

Plans are almost completed for taking the remains of Frank Furnival Peard, who passed away at his home in Alexandria avenue last Friday to his old home in Baltimore where the interment will take place.

His Widow, Mrs. Edith Bonestell Peard, and two sons by a former marriage, Frank Furnival Peard, Jr., and Richard Price Peard, will leave with the body next Wednesday morning.

Mr. Peard, who, for many years, was closely associated with newspaper enterprises, came to Los Angeles in 1911 to assume management of the Herald, converting it from a morning into an afternoon paper. He was prior to that managing editor of the Baltimore News.

For some years he has been interested in real estate but assumed the management of the Canada Life Assurance Company in its Los Angeles office several years ago, holding that office at the time of his death.

Mr. Peard was a member of the Athletic Club of Southern California, also of the El Caballero Country Club, the Beach Club at Casa Del Mar, and the Writers' Club. He was also manager of the Underwriters' Club.

FIREWORKS SET OFF

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, June 26.—An unintentional Fourth of July celebration on South Chester avenue, near Second street, last evening occurred when the stand of a Chinese vender was destroyed by fire which was accompanied by the exploding of approximately $300 worth of fireworks. A small boy playing near the stand with a piece of lighted punk is said by neighborhood residents to be the cause of the blaze.

PEPPAL ON WAY BACK TO CANADA

Andrew Peppal, former fiscal agent of the Province of Toronto, who has been fighting extradition to Canada, where he is wanted on a charge of the embezzlement of $368,000 in the redemption of war bond issues in 1919, 1920 and 1921, was removed from the County Jail yesterday afternoon by Deputy United States Marshal Rice and last night presumably left San Pedro on board a Canadian steamer bound for the north.

The sudden withdrawal of Peppal, who recently lost his extradition appeal to Secretary of State Kellogg, from the County Jail, it was said, apparently was made to frustrate a possible chance in the stay of his extradition. Ben Hunter, attorney for Peppal, it was learned yesterday, was in San Francisco before the United States District Court of Appeals seeking a stay in the extradition.

At the office of H. A. Massey, attorney for the Canadian government in Los Angeles, it was admitted yesterday Peppal's papers for extradition had been prepared and that he would be taken to Canada if "arrangements could be made on the boat."

For several days two Toronto police officials have been in the city to take charge of Peppal. They are Police Inspector John Miller and Detective Sergeant J. L. Nursey.

Peppal, who says the charges are political, lost two attempts to obtain release in habeas corpus proceedings before his fruitless appeal to the Secretary of State. When taken into custody Peppal was president of the Long Beach Glass Company.

Army Aviators Are Guests at Local Banquet

More than seventy-five air-service officers attended a banquet last night at Marchetti's, given in appreciation of the splendid co-operation existing between the reserve and Regular Army Aviation Services.

Col. F. P. Lahm, air-service commander, Ninth Corps Area, guest of honor, foretold a great future for the reserve air service. J. H. Wetzel, representing the D. W. Douglas plant, designers of the globe-circling planes that carried the "round-the-world flyers," explained some novel designs for future airplane construction. Both speakers stressed the point that reserve air officers should receive flying pay while in active duty which is 50 per cent higher than regular army officer pay.

The commanding officers of Ross and Clover fields were also guests of honor and Dr. Ford A. Carpenter, weather authority of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke.

Four Are Jailed in Raid on Dope and Rum Party

Reports reaching police to the effect that liquor and dope parties were being held in an apartment at 503 Union Drive resulted in an early-morning raid yesterday with the result that three men and one woman were arrested on liquor and dope charges.

Those arrested were: Arthur Martell, 24 years of age; Fred Mandl, 26, his wife, Mrs. U. Mandl, 28, and Mike Murphy, 37. A quantity of opium and yenshee and one and one-half dozen bottles of liquor were found in the apartment, the police reported. Martell and Murphy are held on charges of violating the State poison act and the Wright Act and the Mandls are held on a charge of violation of the State poison act.

Six men and two women were detained in the apartment by the raiding party, headed by Acting Police Captain Littlejohn, but were later released.

MANUAL ARTS GRADUATES 320

Class Receiving Diplomas is Record One

Instrumental and Vocal Numbers Rendered

Three hundred and twenty students at Manual Arts High School were awarded diplomas Thursday night at the graduating exercises in the school's auditorium. This sets the high mark for graduates in the history of the school.

Four of the graduates were members of the debating teams which won the city championship last year, and the school also lost a number of its best athletes.

Dr. Charles F. Aked delivered the chief address, and the diplomas were conferred by Miss Jessie A. Tritt, assistant superintendent of schools. Members of the class presented a program of instrumental and vocal numbers assisted by the Manual Arts High School orchestra.

Defendant in Damage Suit Given Verdict

A jury in Judge Monroe's court yesterday returned a verdict for Miss Virginia Huntley of Glendale, defendant in a $51,000 damage suit brought by Claude Minter of Ontario. Minter was injured when his automobile was struck by a car driven by Miss Huntley.

Seven Pomona College girls, three of whom were in Miss Huntley's car at the time of the accident, and the others who were in a car following, testified that Miss Huntley was not speeding and that Minter was. The girls who testified were Dorothy Fisk of Hollywood; Marjorie Hall of La Mesa; Kathleen Campbell of Glendale; Nell Emerson, Reba Braley, Helen Parker and Wilma Bruce. The accident occurred in November, 1923.

The highest average speed of any existing ship for the whole passage is credited to the Mauretania, which after her recent overhauling, crossed the sea at an average speed of 26 1-4 knots.
